PHILADELPHIA, WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 2, 1901.

Architect Notes.

Jekel & Co., architects, 1001 Chestnut street, have made plans for a four-story flat house to be erected in the vicinity of Thirty-fourth and Baring streets, to be of brick, stone and iron construction with all the latest and best comforts and conveniences.

Wilson Brothers & Co., Drexel Building, are working on a large brick and stone railroad station to be built at Noyle, Pa., for the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company. It is to be two stories, but the architects decline to give any details at this time.

Architect A. B. Taylor has awarded a contract to Lewis Ahlers for a three-story and basement face brick and stone trimmed residence, which will be built for A. H. Boyer, at 1284 Bridge street. It will measure 16x30 feet, have the usual conveniences, and is to cost $4000.

Plans have been completed for the new barracks, the hospital and crematory buildings which are to be provided at Marcus Hook for the State Quarantine Board. Details are under way by Architect J. M. McMichael. This work has been noted in previous issues of this paper.

The Atlantic County Board of Chosen Freeholders will open estimates the current week for a highway drawbridge 335 feet long, to be constructed from plans by J. J. Albertson. Separate bids will be considered for the substructure and superstructure and details are in the hands of M. L. Jackson, at Hammonton, N. J.

The necessary permit for extensive alterations and additions at 127 South Twelfth street, for W. H. Frazier, owner, was granted to Contractor W. R. Dougherty last week. This will include a new front and rear additions, 20x48 and 16x11 feet. The estimated cost of the work is $11,000. Architects Furness, Evans & Co., Provident Life Building, made the plans.

Architect Harold F. Adams, Law Building, Atlantic City, N. J., has closed contracts with Builder Wilbur F. Beaumont, of the same place, to erect the new five-story and basement stone, brick and iron framed apartment house which will be built at Delaware and Atlantic avenues for the Reed Apartment House and Investment Company. The latest appointments will be provided, and all subcontracts are in the hands of the general contractor.

Architect Louis C. Hickman, 828 Chestnut street, will ask bids for the improvements to the old Merchants' Exchange building, which the Stock Exchange is to occupy, in about a month. He is also making plans for fitting up several old buildings on Cherry street above Thirteenth, as a temporary office and warehouse for William F. Potts, Son & Co. In time it is proposed to build an eight-story structure on the site, which measures 80 by 148 feet.

Contractors J. E. & A. L. Pennock have secured a permit to build the $60,000 storage warehouse on the east side of Sophia street, between Edward and Lydia streets, for C. Schmidt & Sons. The new building will be three stories high, with a basement, and it will measure 49.5 x 123.11 feet. It will have a brick front and be constructed of steel with fireproof floors. Architect Otto C. Wolf, 1345 Arch street, made the plans.

Detailed plans and specifications have been completed by Architects Hales & Ballinger, 1200 Chestnut street, for interior alterations of an extensive character which will be made to the Dwight Fuller Building, at 10 South Eighteenth street. Bids are wanted by Builders Machin & Brown, 147 North Seventh street, on brick, stone and concrete work, plastering, painting, plumbing, lighting, heating, hardware and other lines of materials and all estimates must be in by January 10.

The contract for alterations to Joseph S. Vetterlin's residence at Wayne, was last week awarded to M. P. Wells & Co., Crozer Building, by Architect and Engineer George Plowman. The addition will be two stories high with an attic, and it will measure 45 x 23 feet. It will be constructed of stone and brick. The first floor will contain a dining-room, servants' pantry, hall and kitchen; second, billiard room and bedrooms and bedrooms on the third floor; cost of the work is about $10,000.

F. H. Drake & Co., Drexel Building, have drawn extensive plans for a new electric railway which will be constructed from Elkton to Chesapeake City, Md., for the Elkton, Cherry Hill and Chesapeake City Railroad Company, of which John M. Kennedy, of this city, is president. This work will embrace the erection of large car barns and a big power house which are to be located at Chesapeake City. They will have all up-to-date power equipment, and estimates on this will be wanted in a very short time.

Mr. Dechert, President of the Commonwealth Trust Company, states that no architect has been selected for the new building, but that the company has decided to have five or six first-class men to submit designs of a competitive nature which will be carefully gone over and from which an architect will be selected. Prizes of various sums will be offered to those competing, thereby offering remuneration to those who might otherwise spend time and money and yet prove unsuccessful. In all probability no decision will be made until early spring.

Architect J. J. Doery, Betz Building, is working on plans for a large double-tracked railroad bridge which is to be constructed over the Schuylkill river at Reading, Pa., for the Reading Warehouse and Bridge Company. The structure is to be of steel and will be more than 2000 feet long. In the same architect's office plans are under way for the erection of a large six-story brick and iron frame warehouse to be erected at Reading for the same company. The measurement will be about 350 to 80 feet. The foundations will be stone and concrete, and the building will be fireproof.

An effort is being made to influence the New Jersey Legislature to pass an act providing for the licensing of architects. The New Jersey Society of Architects is at the head of the movement. If the bill becomes a law it will be followed by another prohibiting construction work unless done under the supervision of a licensed architect and the probabilities are that licenses will be issued only to those who have passed a rigid examination. There is no doubt but that a similar effort will be made in Pennsylvania during the present session of its Legislature. It is time enough, however, to cross a bridge when we get to it.

Competitive plans are to be examined the present week by the Building Commission for the new State building which is to be constructed at Annapolis, Md., at an estimated cost of $250,000. The design will be classic and the main structure will be of marble and Indiana limestone, and indirect system of heating will be provided, also electric wiring, decorative work and other improvements. Provision will be made for a handsomely finished room for the Court of Appeals, libraries, treasurers' rooms, Comptroller's offices, tax and other offices. George R. Gaither, Equitable Building, Baltimore, Md., is secretary of the Building Commission.

Architects Baker & Dallett, Crozer Building, 1420 Chestnut street, sent out plans and specifications for a five-story building, to be erected at the southeast corner of Seventeenth street and Fairmount avenue for Messrs. A. F. Bornot & Bro. The old structures now on the site will be torn down and a building with a basement under some portions of it will be built. The new structure will be constructed of steel frame, with brick walls carried at each floor. Heating and ventilating, plumbing and drainage, electric light wiring and elevators and elevator inclosures are reserved. The materials provided for in the specifications include brick work, concrete, cement and mortar floors, brownstone and granite, carpenter work and lumber, excavating, fireproof floors, hardware, iron stairs, cast and ornamental iron work, masonry, millwork, plastering, painting and glazing, slag roofing and sheet metal work, and structural steel work. The following builders are receiving sub-bids for the work: George L. Sipps, 212 South Seventh street; Porter Thompson & Sons, Betz Building; Doyle & Doak, 1509 Sansom street; Benjamin Ketcham's Sons, 1029 Brown street; Philip Haimbach, 2530 Thompson street, and A. Raymond Raff, 1235 Thomson street.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JAN. 2, 1901.

Our Sixteenth Year.

With the new century the Philadelphia Real Estate Record enters its sixteenth year of publication.

It has honestly endeavored to be useful as well as reliable. With a natural detestation for shams and subterfuges its aim has been to justly merit the respect and confidence of its patrons and readers. Its scope of usefulness, confined as it is through its character as a business journal, it has refrained from giving full vent to its feelings and sentiments on political and other matters affecting the common weal.

The Real Estate Record is justly proud of its identification with a business interest second in importance to none.

The home builders of Philadelphia, while compelled to measure their vocation through the cold analysis of the profit and loss account in which there is little room for sentiment or sophistry, have solved the problems of sociology in a manner so thoroughly practical that demonstrations in most exemplary form is visible in everyone of the 258,000 dwelling houses in this city, the most of which are inviting, clean and healthful homes of a thrifty and contented people, who know more of the true meaning of home and home comforts than the people of any other city on the globe.

The work of the future will be no child's play, for all there is in the best of us will be necessary to keep pace with the progress of the times, for no man is capable of prophesying the strides of development and evolution which will surely come.

America is at the head of the procession of nations. Its natural resources are only becoming known, and the American, for the first time, is getting acquainted with himself in the sense of his ability to make conditions for the rest of the world.

N. & G. Taylor Co.'s New Tin Plate Mill

Cumberland, Maryland, is joyous over the new iron mill for the manufacture of black plates which the N. & G. Taylor Company of this city, is to have erected at that place. This black plate mill plant when completed will insure the N. & G. Taylor Company a full supply of black plates, the tinning of which will be done at its tin plate works in Philadelphia.

N. & G. Taylor Company, it will be remembered, was the first concern to commence the manufacture of American roofing plates under the McKinley bill, and from a small beginning its plant has been extended until now the tinning process alone requires twenty-five tinning stacks. And this work is all done right here in Philadelphia.

Taylor's old style roofing tin is, of course, the essential factor in the necessity for the new black plate plant at Cumberland, Md.

Its popularity among roofers and owners of property has reached such a point as to require almost an unlimited supply of the proper quality of black plates when needed.

"Taylor's Old Style" has been a favorite since 1830, and it is only through the greatest care and attention in the manufacture of its black plate as well as in the tinning that its high standard of excellence can be maintained. The firm of N. & G. Taylor was established in 1810—it will soon be a hundred years old.

The Etna Insurance Company.

We are indebted to Messrs. Durban & Co., 408 Walnut street, Philadelphia agents for the old Etna Insurance Company of Hartford, Conn., for several of the company's calendars.

In connection with the Etna we clip the following from the United States Review, which will be of interest to the local patrons of that company:

"We know it will be good news to the street to learn that George Y. Shermer and Thomas E. Stenger, two of the popular men connected with the office of Edward J. Durban, have been given a partnership interest in the agency which will hereafter be continued as Durban & Co. We do not doubt for a moment that there are some who will think it was but luck that Dame Fortune smiled on these men, but we have noticed for years that the Etna office was one where the oil burned the latest—long after many other offices were dark. These men did the work, and their promotion was but the reward of merit."

The Fire Association.

This old Philadelphia company, whose stock is quoted among the faucies, has a calendar this year entirely free from other embellishments than a strong self-assertive announcement of the company's name and ownership at its head so bold and striking, indeed, that they who run may read Fire Association of Philadelphia, office 407 and 409 Walnut street, and not forget it, either.

"The Cooking Class"—A New Calendar for 1901.

Seven little tots, white-aproned, with heads bent over cookbooks, or bright eyes intent upon their pretty teacher's demonstration of gas cooking—this is The United Gas Improvement Company's calendar for the twentieth century. It is quite different from the calendars of other years, though, like them, designed to show the advantages of cooking with gas.

Teacher and pupils, dainty and neat, suggest convincingly the cleanliness and convenience of this modern fuel. A pan of croquettes, "done to a turn," and a turkey browning in the oven show the efficiency.

The calendar, while clear and distinct, is not large enough to interfere with the picture, but forms an appropriate finish to the oddly-shaped outline. The whole is lithographed in eleven colors and gold, producing the rich effect of a painting.

Copies will be distributed free, at all the company's offices, after the first of the year, and it is safe to say that the immense edition will be none too many for the admirers of this unusually attractive calendar.

City's Fire Loss in 1900.

During the first six months of the present year the property destruction by fire was greater than for any corresponding period in the city's history. The total amount paid to the companies in premiums was $4,250,000, which is slightly in excess of the amounts paid out in adjustments, but the expenses of conducting the companies when deducted from the premiums received leaves a balance on the wrong side of the ledger.

The total losses for the present year with the figures for this month estimated, are $3,413,265, an increase of about $100,000 over 1899. In February, March and April the greatest losses were sustained, the amount being $2,214,187. These fires occurred in the dry goods district.

The Liverpool and London and Globe.

With an over-weening modesty Mr. Atwood Smith, 333-337 Walnut street, the Philadelphia agent for the Liverpool and London and Globe Insurance Company, of England, presents a calendar for 1901 from which no one could possibly form a proper idea of the real strength of the company nor its importance in fire insurance circles.

While the calendar is in every way practical and useful, it says nothing of the company's immense capital or resources.

It is a business man's calendar in every sense and just the thing for the office or counting room.

The necessary figures to complete our report of building operations and transfers of real estate for 1900 in its entirety could not be procured for this issue. The report will appear in our issue of the 9th instant.

Architect Note.

Architects Field & Lawton, of Brooklyn, N.Y., have completed plans which are on the boards in the office of Phillip Anne Company, at 1001 Chestnut street, for estimates on a new and handsome hotel, to be erected at Lake-wood for private parties. It will be four stories and basement, of fancy brick with electrical fixtures, call bells, speaking tubes, steam heating and ventilating, tile baths, pantry, laundry, and other conveniences, and is figured to cost nearly $50,000. Anns & Co. have received the general contract for building the residence of John Hawkins, to be erected at Allenhurst, N.J., plans for which were made by Brouse & Arend, of this city and Trenton.

The Norristown, Pa., Opera House was badly damaged by fire on the 29th of December, the whole of the interior of the building being destroyed and the walls badly cracked and warped. The damage is estimated at about $15,000.

Lewis Ahlers has the contract to build a three-story brick and frame dwelling with a side addition, 16x60 feet, at 1234 Bridge street, Bridesburg, for A. H. Boyer. Architect A. B. Taylor made the plans. The work will cost $4000.

Henderson & Co., of the Heed Building, 1215 Filbert street, have closed contracts with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to erect their new freight station at Ambler, which will be of brick and frame, and which will measure 20 by 100 feet.

The contract for furnishing the barracks, hospital, crematory and plumbing for the new State Quarantine Station to be erected at Marcus Hook was awarded to Joel Lane, of Chester, by the State Quarantine Board, which met in the Bullitt Building.

Owner John Wolf will at once build six two-story brick dwellings, each 16x47 feet, on the northeast corner of Manayunk avenue, north of Kinsley street, in the Twenty-first ward. The work will cost $10,800.

League Island is to be known officially hereafter as the Philadelphia Navy Yard.

Secretary Long has so ordained and all of our local sentiments and traditions must yield to the mandates of our Government officials.

On the 27th inst. fire badly damaged the Ninth and Market streets entrance and front of Gimbel Bros. Stores. The windows and doors broken and interior up to second story gutted. Damage estimated at about $5,000. Doyle & Doak have the contract to repair the same.

The contract price submitted by Henderson & Co., 1215 Filbert street, for the new workshop and storage house structure at the Philadelphia Navy Yard has been accepted by the government authorities at Washington and the contract fully awarded. The price was $84,100.

Guy King, of 431 Walnut street, has planned an operation of forty houses in the Kensington section for John Buchanan, who will take all bids and have entire control of the work. They will be face brick, with stone trimmings, two stories high. Previously noted.

A. N. Brindle, contractor at Carlisle, Pa., has just started excavation for the new school building at Dickinson College, at that place. It will be 78x185 feet, four stories high, pressed brick, stone trimmings and all the latest improvements and conveniences for school purposes.

The members of the Master Builders' Exchange have been invited by the supervising architect of the Treasury Department to submit proposals for the construction, excepting heating apparatus, electric wiring and conduits of the new postoffice building at Carrollton, Ky.

City Councils have provided $80,000 at the last session of that body for erecting a new infirmary at the Children's Hospital, Blockley. Dr. John N. Shoemaker, president of the Board of Charities, urged this matter, and can furnish general information as to possible time of starting active operations.

George C. Boyd, of the Provident Building, Fourth and Chestnut streets, is asking for bids on an operation of ninety-two modern finished dwellings, which will be built in the northern section of the city, at an estimated cost of $400,000 or more. The trimmings will be stone, and the usual operation conveniences will be provided.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company will build a one-story brick coal office, 19.5x28.9 feet, and two shelter sheds, each 18x22 feet, at Eleventh and Willow streets. The same company will start work about January 15 to build a one-story brick office, 13.2x 13.6 feet, at Tioga Station. This work will cost $2150.

Allen Wickersham, of the Provident Building, Fourth and Chestnut streets, is also in the market for bids on material and labor necessary in the completion of seventy-four face brick and stone-trimmed dwellings, which will be mostly two stories high. They will be located in Gray's Ferry road, and bids are wanted immediately.

The damaged the pickling works of the Schiltz & Werner Company, at 1046 Callov-hill street, last week, to the extent of $5000. The blaze, which threatened to spread to the closely clustered produce houses forming the greater part of the block, was confined to the building in which it originated, after a hard struggle upon the part of the firemen.

The Maryland Tin Plate Company will begin at once the erection for the use of the N. & G. Taylor Company, of Philadelphia, lessees, an additional black plate plant. It is also doing the preliminary work for a third black plate mill, which may be completed later on. Foundations for a modern bar mill, with a capacity of 5000 tons monthly, are also being put down.

The Twentieth Century

has commenced under the most happy auspices for our American commercial and manufacturing interests.

Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Architect Notes.

Revised bids are being taken from plans by McComb & Calvert, of this city, on two new residences to be built for Thomas Nelson and J. R. Wilson at Seaside Park, N. J.

Architect Frank T. Mercer, 717 Walnut street, has placed the contract for alterations and additions to the F. S. Groves residence at Riverton, N. J., with George W. Ash, of this city.

In the same office plans are under way for a new two-story brick and stone-trimmed stable for P. G. Simons. This work is approximated at $4000, and details will be given at an early date.

Thomas Little & Son, 1226 Clover street, are asking for bids on alterations and additions to the building at 1110 Chestnut street for Elias Goldsky, and from plans by Hewitt Brothers, Bullitt Building.

Builder John Stafford has started to build a twelve-story apartment house at the southeast corner of Thirteenth and Walnut streets, to cost $250,000. This work was described in this column some time ago. Architect Horace Traumbauer made the plans.

The contract for the new $6500 steam heating plant at the new addition to St. Mary's Hospital, Frankford avenue and Palmer street, has been awarded to Contractor John P. Smith. Architect E. F. Durang, 1200 Chestnut street, made the plans.

W. P. Lockington, architect, 1037 Walnut street, has on boards plans for very extensive alterations and additions to a residence in Norristown, Pa. Estimates are to be made soon on the work which will embrace a large field of material and general comforts.

The two-story brick factory building at Woodbine, N. J., for the Woodbine Land Improvement Company, has been awarded by S. Hall Day, of this city, to Eisenberg & Silberman, of Woodbine. It will be 140x50 feet, and will have special interior equipment.

Architect Carl P. Berger says that he will be ready to receive sub-bids this week for a new market house and eight stores and dwellings at Seventeenth and Federal streets, which have been fully described in the architectural column of this journal in a previous issue.

Architect Herman A. Schweiser announces that he is still in the market for sub-bids on the lodge hall and business building at 2743-45 North Sixth street, for Harry T. Frank. The building will be 137x254 feet, and has been very fully noticed previously in this journal.

Architect Herman Miller, Crozer Building, is at work on drawings for a three-story brick residence to be built in Roxborough for H. Lefort. The house will contain all modern improvements. Mr. Miller will be ready for bids in about two weeks. The work will cost about $4500.

Architects Heacock and Hokanson, 931 Chestnut street, have prepared plans for a Summer cottage to be erected at Longport, N. J., this Spring. It will be of frame, brick and shingle work, two stories high with an attic and basement, will measure 35x32 feet and will contain ten rooms.

Harris & Damon, of Darby, are working on plans for a large brick boiler house, to be erected at Dover, Del., for the Diamond State Construction Company, of which L. Belmont, 1420 Chestnut street, is president. All details are in the hands of the engineers at this time. The building is to be one story high.

Mr. Frank H. Scattergood, architect, of Toga, will erect a handsome two-story stone dwelling at Washington lane, Germantown, at an estimated cost of $20,000. The lot upon which the improvement will be made is 200x125 feet, and it is understood that the latest improvements will be contained throughout.

Architect Peter Kuhn, 2023 North Eighth street, is working on plans for several operations which are expected to be started at an early date for local parties. One of the most important of these is a brick and iron addition to a building which is to be three stories in height, having elevators and usual factory appointments.

Plans have been submitted to Engineer Clark, of the Bureau of Building Inspection, for a large one story hard brick carriage manufacturing establishment, which is to be erected for a private concern from drawings by Summers & Fuller, of this city. The details and exact location are withheld for the present.

Architect Philip H. Johnson, Betz Building, has completed plans for alterations and extensive improvements to the residence at 211 Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City, N. J., for a Philadelphia party. Charles P. Nesbitt, 425 Locust street, is figuring on this work, specifications for which embrace new furnishings, bathrooms, fixtures, etc.

John T. Windrim, architect, 1107 Walnut street, has about completed the plans for rebuilding and altering 435 Chestnut street, for office purposes for the City Trusts. The work will be chiefly on interior, new heat, elevators, electric work, plumbing, painting, glazing, partitions, and all general improvements. Estimates are soon to be asked.

H. W. Jury, architect of Shamokin, Pa., announces that he has plans under way for the construction of a new five-story and basement, face brick and iron-framed hotel building, which will be erected on Independent street, Shamokin, for a syndicate of that place. The structure will measure 97x110 feet, and is to cost $75,000, excluding cost of interior furnishings and equipment.

A revised set of drawings has been completed by Architect F. H. Friedlander, of New York city, and can be seen in Philip Anns' office, 1001 Chestnut street, for the residence and stable building which will be erected at Elberon, N. J., for Samuel Saches, at an estimated cost of $80,000. The house will be three stories and basement, of stone and stucco, with Spanish tile roof.

Mantle Fielding, architect, 110 S. Fourth street, has made plans for alterations and additions to residence of J. Rulon Miller, at Haverford, Pa. Specifications call for stone mason work, windows, doors, etc., plastering, roofing, painting, hardware, plumbing, hot-air heating, electric work, and general conveniences. Estimates being made in office of William R. Dougherty, contractor, 1604 Sansom street, and other contractors.

Theophilus P. Chandler, architect, 328 Chestnut street, has on boards plans for a fine office building to be erected for the Pennsylvania Fire Insurance Company, at 510 Walnut street. It will be five stories high, of stone, brick and terra cotta work, large plate glass windows; the interior will contain all up-to-date arrangements, elevator work, steam heat, bells, plumbing of the best. Estimates are to be asked on the work at an early day.

Architect Charles L. Hillman, Provident Life Building, Fourth and Chestnut streets, is preparing plans for a five-story factory, 48x71 feet, and a two-story stable and carriage house, 30x50 feet, to be built at Huntingdon, Pa., for the J. C. Blair Manufacturing Company. Each will be of brick, and will be of what is known as slow burning construction. In addition, Mr. Hillman has completed plans for a two-story masonry and frame straw shed, 19x90 feet, for George Wood, of Wawa, Pa.

Arthur H. Brockie, architect, 1020 Chestnut street, has made plans for addition to warehouse for Thomas Roberts Co., 116 South Front street, and specifications call for tearing down, excavation, filling in, concrete work, masonry, cut stone, flag stone, brick work, sills, fire proofing, cement work, sheet metal window frames, hardware, iron work, tin roof work, painting, gas-fitting and drainage pipes, etc. Estimates being made in office of W. R. Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street.

Milligan & Weber, architects, 520 Walnut street, have awarded the contract to erect the seven-story apartment house, at northeast corner of Tenth and Clinton streets, to Frank S. Riggs, contractor, 1580 Chestnut street. It will be owned by Alexander G. Rea, of this city, and be 100x116 feet, built of fancy brick, stone trimmings and iron frame. JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JAN. 9, 1901.

MESSRS. HENRY G. SCHULTZ & SON, carpenters, builders and contractors, have kindly sent to our office the firm's calendar for 1901.

The Equitable Trust Company has declared its usual semi-annual dividend of $2 per share (at the rate of 8 per cent. per annum, payable on February 1. The annual statement of the company shows a paid-in capital of $500,000, with a surplus and undivided profits amounting to $836,707.82.

Northern Trust & Saving Fund Co.'s Statement.

The annual statement of the Northern Saving Fund and Trust Company, Sixth and Spring Garden streets, is presented in this issue. The company in its detailed statement of its assets consisting of railroad and other bonds, real estate mortgage loans, time loans, collateral demand loans, deposits, etc., shows that these amount to $5,596,600.14, while its deposits amount to $4,559,960.23. Surplus, $500,000.00. Undivided profits and dividends,
$36,639.91.

W. Frederick Snyder is the president and Horace B. Pearson, secretary and treasurer.

The Mechanics' Insurance Co.'s Cal- endar.

With the self same superior business judgement which guides and directs the affairs of the Mechanic's Insurance Company, Fifth and Walnut streets, Mr. Simon Martin, its president, makes his selection of a yearly calendar for his company which is a standard in color, design and usefulness.

The Sundays and holidays are in red ink, and each red ink figure is properly designated,
and if a holiday its name is given.

This is certainly carrying the degree of practical usefulness to a point which represents all that there is in a calendar for 1901.

The American Fire Insurance Co.'s Calendar.

For 1901 this old and reliable Philadelphia insurance company remains loyal to the style for its yearly calendar it adopted years ago with the motto "An American Flag for American Insurers." And while the flag with its graceful folds and field of gold stars, and stripes of red and white, is the bright catchy, pleasing feature of the calendar, the company's title and address are not in the least eclipsed, for the flag has been associated with the American Fire so many years that it would seem strange if it was omitted.

Mr. Thomas H. Montgomery is the president of the American Fire, and Mr. Richard Marls, secretary and treasurer.

"Seen and Heard"

Is a new weekly booklet publication issued by Mr. Louis Megargee, formerly one of the editors of the Philadelphia Times.

Megargee's column of "Seen and Heard" was an important feature of the Times for years, and his present adventure should easily become a paying one.

There is only one Megargee as there was only one John Russell Young, and while Young has gone to his fathers Megargee still holds the Fort as a master of English, as well as one of the most versatile and interesting writers in Philadelphia journalism.
"Seen and Heard" costs only $2 per year or $1 for six months, and it would be cheap at double the price. Address P. O. box 1862, Philadelphia.

(COMPLETE)

Building Construction for the Entire Year Includes

THREE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED AND NINETY-NINE New Buildings of all kinds. Representing an Investment of $15,299,886, Exclusive of the Cost of the Land, a Falling off from 1899 of 478 New Buildings and $673,960 in the Amount Invested.

2201 Alterations and Additions, Costing $3,301,500—688 less of these in 1900 than in 1899, While the Amount Expended was $1,- 032,000 Less than in 1899.

Total Expenditures for Buildings and Alterations and Additions $18,601,- 386 Against $20,307,346
in 1899.

It will be gratifying to those who have constantly complained of the superabundance of dwellings, to learn that the shrinkage in construction work last year, while only about a third of what it was in 1899, is of sufficient importance even if it becomes no greater to soon create a scarcity of dwellings in this rapidly growing city.

There was a record of building construction, showing that there were 478 less new buildings erected last year than in 1899, and that the investment was also $673,960 less.

In our report of construction work for 1899, we showed that when compared with 1898, that there had been a falling off of 1476 in the number of new buildings and that the investment was $2,207,664 less than in 1898.

The shrinkage last year, while a trifle over a third of what it was in 1899, will go a great ways toward solving the "catching up" process which many persons seriously think will prove the panacea for our present real estate difficulties.

The records of former years are always interesting, particularly in operation work, consisting of two and three-story dwellings.

From the following table it will be an easy matter to compute the yearly changes in this branch of work since 1887, and we give it for that purpose.

	Two-story Dwellings	Three-story Dwellings	Four story Dwellings	Total
1887	4569	1629	3	6201
1888	5287	1426	14	6727
1889	7450	1922	34	9406
1890	7301	1958	22	9281
1891	4659	1343	12	6014
1892	5110	1744	12	6866
1893	3881	1737	14	5632
1894	3905	2001	16	5922
1895	4491	2612	31	7134
1896	5049	1760	33	6843
1897	5490	1951	23	7464
1898	3888	1371	16	5275
1899	2772	798	19	3589
1900	2302	775	18	3095
	66,615	22,719	267	89,601

Indeed, it would seem that after having b^olt 89,601 houses in 14 years for people to live in, that the superabundance would be even more apparent, than it is, for on the basis of five to a family and with but a single family to a dwelling, the ample provision for 548,- 000 people, all of whom would be able to live in the decant Philadelphia way of living.

Of course, at the first glance it would seem that the erection of dwellings has been altogether out of reasⁿ, but if one keeps in mind that the ratio of increase in population has been about 25 per cent. for each of the census taken in 20 years, there is nothing unreasonable or alarming in the proposition.

In 1900 there were over 11,400 marriages in Philadelphia, or over 11,400 couples who should commence housekeeping.

This influence together with that arising from the present rate of immigration to the country, of which so long as our mills and factories keep going, we are bound to obtain a liberal share, will, we think, soon settle the empty house question so far as two and three-story dwellings are concerned.

Small store properties and large and expensive dwellings are controlled by different influences, for the former must continue to suffer so long as the department stores control the situation, while the latter will continue to pay the penalty of the present suburban fad as well as the preference housekeepers have for small compact modern homes.

It will be noticed that alterations and additions and our tables only embrace those requiring a building permit and which amount to $200 and over, numbered 2201 last year against 2889 for 1899, here is a falling off in these of 688, and the expenditure for these improvements is $1,032,000 less than in 1899.

This item in the building record for 1900 cannot be accounted for unless through the influence of the strike and the increased cost of contract work of this nature, and yet one would suppose that a revival of business and a consequent increased demand for dwellings and business places would have at least overcome these as well as any influence the election might have had.

The industrial buildings erected last year were 141 or 8 more than in 1899. There were 2 more warehouses, 3 more dye and dry houses, 1 less factory, 1 less engine and boiler houses, 1 less brewery and bottling house, 7 more foundries and shops, and 12 more stores.

The yearly changes in construction work of this character can be followed through our table.

1898. The investment in these last year amounted to $2,26,850, or $226,845 more than the 37 cost in 1899.

The relation industrial buildings hold to other buildings in the yearly construction work is shown by the following table of percentage:

New Bldgs.	Indus. Bldgs.	Per Cent.
1899	10,250	296
1898	10,136	345
1897	6738	347

1890	5153	101
1889	3977	133
1888	3399	141

Our aim is to give full and complete tables as far back as possible in order that incomes and opinions may be met with data that has stood the test of inspection as well as criticism. We again repeat the following table of yearly construction work since 1889 inclusive:

No. of New Bldgs.	Estimated Cost.
1889	$23,787,320
1888	27,796,816
1887	31,276,730
1886	33,839,646
1885	24,115,870
1884	20,109,646
1883	25,588,218
1882	21,549,971
1881	25,511,599
1880	25,121,400
1879	25,531,643
1878	15,386,010
1877	15,973,845
1876	15,299,886
1875	335,619,409

A perusal of our tables will show that last year two-story dwellings were 470 short of the number erected in 1899, while three-story dwellings were only 23 short of the 1899 record. It will also be seen that the operation work, two and three-story dwellings, and stores and dwellings, is responsible for $1,027,400 of the entire shrinkage from the figures of 1899, of this amount $449,000 is traced to the loss in two-story dwellings and $578,400 to the three-story.

There were 12,160 transfers of real estate last year against 11,950 in 1899, a gain of 210. The value of the properties transferred last year was $62,752,733.87, while in 1899 the mortgage incumbence on the properties transferred in 1900 amounted to $24,662,022.52 or 39.3 per cent, in 1899 the percentage of mortgage incumbence was 39 per cent, in 1898 it was 36.4 per cent, in 1897 35.8 per cent, in 1896 34.7 per cent.

The ground rents on the properties transferred last year amounted to $57,855,103.16, which at 6 per cent basis represent a further incumbence of $9,136,917.16.

The sales of real estate at auction last year amounted to $3,211,382.07. The mortgage incumbence on the properties sold was $26,900,000; the ground rents amounted to $2,734.46.

We give below our table of transfers by years since 1888 inclusive.

The structure will be one story and basement, finished in hard woods, with steam heating, electric wiring and interior decorations. The building committee, of which Dr. C. C. Harris is chairman, will attend to the interior furnishings and equipment. Estimates have not been requested as yet on the building.

A detailed set of drawings and specifications were received from Architects J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 121 Chestnut street, by Contractor Harry Kummerle, Betz Building, for a new four-story and basement hard brick, mill construction building which is to be erected for a local company at 2817 Hope street. The plans show a building 88 x 45 feet, which will have fire-escapes, steam heating, and the usual improvements in drainage and plumbing systems. Special power equipment is to be installed later by the owners. Estimates will be taken by Mr. Kummerle until January 11th.

IF YOU have any kind of material or device that you want to bring to the notice of builders and the building public, make an exhibit of it at the Builders Exchange Permanent Exhibition 18 to 24 South Seventh Street, Philadelphia

This Journal is mailed Weekly and Continuously to Every Architect in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C.; also to every builder and owner obtaining a building permit in Philadelphia and Camden; also to every person reported in its columns as building or going to build anywhere and everywhere.
This is our Contract with advertisers, and is independent of our subscription list; it means more buyers of construction material than is reached in the above territory by any journal in America.

suites of four rooms and baths and fitted with elevator, steam heat, electric work and general comforts. Estimates are being made on the work. Same architects are retained to prepare plans for a general alteration and addition to the property at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Walnut streets. It will be fitted for a handsome apartment house with all the latest improvements and comforts.

Plans are in course of construction for the Sun Electric Manufacturing Company, E. E. Clement, president, 1205 Stephen Girard Building, for the erection of a large brick, stone and iron manufacturing building, which will be erected in Camden, N. J. The company will manufacture telephones, switchboards and electrical supplies, and the new building will be three stories high, equipped with special machinery and power apparatus, and will most likely be located on Haddon avenue. A large factory devoted to similar purposes has recently been completed by this company at Memphis and Tioga streets, this city, and it is probable that a large number of other buildings will follow the Camden work.

Contractors Machin & Brown, 147 North Seventh street; Jacob Myers & Sons, northeast corner of Juniper and Sansom streets, and George F. Payne & Co., 401 South Juniper street, are receiving bids on extensive improvements to be made at 113 South Eleventh street for Samuel Austin. The plans were made by Architects Hazlehurst & Huckel, Girard Building, and they show a four story building to be fitted up with the latest improvements and conveniences for store and apartment house purposes. Machin & Brown are receiving sub-bids for an addition to the warehouse at 116 South Front street for Roberts & Company. Architect Arthur Brockie made the plans. The same firm are receiving bids for an annex to the Fuller Building at Eighteenth and Market streets, Hales & Ballinger architects.

Plans have been prepared by Architect F. C. Koenig, 912 Parkside avenue, for a highly ornate church building for St. Bonaventura's Roman Catholic parish. They provide for a one-story and a basement Gothic structure, 73 feet 4 inches front by 173 feet deep, to be erected at Ninth and Cambria streets. The building will be of Port Deposit stone, laid in broken range style, with a slate roof and a tall spire, also covered with slate. Over the main entrance, which will be in the center of the front, will be a rose window, of tracery work and stained glass. A large stained glass window will flank the entrance on each side, and others of a similar character will admit light on the side of the building. The plans show a great deal of copper ornamentation. There will be a sanctuary altar, two vestry rooms, a large auditorium, a chapel with a font, and six confessionals on the main floor. The heating apparatus, etc., will be located in the basement. The interior will be finished in oak. Father Hubert Haunneke is rector of the parish.

The T-Square Club's architectural exhibition at the Art Club's galleries opened on the 5th inst. Never before has an exhibition of this nature been attempted on so broad a scale, and all the great architects of the country have sent specimens of their work to be exhibited. The exhibition will consist of architectural drawings in any rendering, photographs and models. It may be mentioned here that this is one of a series of like exhibitions which will take place in all the large cities of the country under the auspices of the Architectural League of America. The jury of selection consists of Messrs. Adin Lacey, chairman; Herbert C. Wise, vice-chairman; Charles Z. Klauder, treasurer; William C. Hays, secretary; George Bispham Page, Gilbert L. Hindermeyer, Lawrence Visscher Boyd and John Galen Howard, New York; Cass Gilbert, St. Paul and New York; J. Randolph Coolidge, Jr., Boston.

There will be 520 exhibits, including drawings from all over the country, about 100 from Germany, three from Honolulu, and a number of pieces of decorative sculpture.

Architect Horace Trumbauer, Land Title Building, has made plans for a handsome residence to be built at 158 Eighteenth street, Washington, D. C., for Mrs. E. H. G. Slater, of that place. The house will be a three-story structure with a basement and it will measure 45.4x78.8 feet. The exterior walls will be constructed of granite, brick and limestone. The basement will contain a reception hall, 42x28 feet, with a marble floor; stair hall, with a marble floor; reception hall, with an open fireplace; chef's room, servant's room, kitchen, pantry, laundry and storage closet. A large salon, 28x42 feet, will be located in front, on the first floor. In addition an open hall, library, with an open fireplace; dining room, serving room and pantry will be fitted up on this floor. Two boudoirs, three chambers, linen room, open hall and two bath rooms, with marble floors, will be fitted up on the second floor, and nine chambers, dress closet, two bath rooms, trunk room and linen closet will be located on the third floor. The specifications provide for grading, excavating, brick and stone masonry, cement and concrete work, cut stone work, carpenter work and lumber, exterior mill work, all grounds for finished wood work and trim portions of interior wood trim floors, painting, glazing, hardware, exterior wrought iron work, slate roofing, skylights, vault lights, copper, tin and lead work, structural steel and iron work, kitchen and laundry drains, iron gratings for cellar windows, rear stairway from basement to third floor, metal lathing, interior plain plastering. The work reserved for the present includes interior finish of the main hall, first floor, stairway and hall, salon, library, dining room, reception room, outside fencing and gates inclosing the lot and fixtures for electric and gas lighting. Proposals for the work will be submitted to Mr. Trumbauer at noon next Monday. Contractors Doyle & Doak, 1509 Sansom street, and George F. Payne & Co., 401 South Juniper street, are taking sub-bids for the work.

They will be of brick with galvanized iron trimmings, will measure 15 by 42 feet each and will be located on the east side of Twentieth street below Wingochocking street. The cost is estimated at $27,000.

A two-story and basement brick hosiery mill will be erected on the northeast corner of Lafayette and Baker streets for G. Schmidt & Brother, by Benjamin Walker. It will be of steel frame work, covered with brownstone, terra cotta, copper and tile, will be 80 feet high, 22 feet square, and will cost $19,000.

The trustees of the Baron de Hirsch Fund have decided to develop another South Jersey town for the oppressed Russians. They now have thriving colonies at Woodbine, Rosenhay, Bellance and Carmel. The new place that will be taken up is Belleplaine, Cape May county. A contract has been let for the erection of a large factory and fifty dwellings for a beginning.

The Twentieth Century

has commenced under the most happy auspices for our American commercial and manufacturing interests.

Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

laths, iron stair work, skylights, slag roof, galvanized iron work, heater and pipes and all conveniences. The plans were made in the office of the company's engineer.

The indications of the new water supply for the city, costing about $17,000,000 instead of $12,000,000, are presented in shape to the Mayor by Jno. W. Hill, expert engineer of Cincinnati, Ohio, in an estimate just made. Mr. Hill also says that the completion of the scheme as now proposed will in the end cost the enormous sum of $27,000,000, and once started will have to be kept up by annual appropriations. Of course the $12,000,000 loan will first be exhausted in contracts before any new work will be introduced to councils and the public for approval.

William Steele & Sons, 929 Witherspoon Building, will build a six-story manufactory at the northeast corner of Broad street and Washington avenue, to cost $100,000. The building will measure 871 1/2 x 85 feet. The same firm will start on Monday to build a sulphur house and drug room additions at Trenton avenue and Ann street for the Pilling Manufacturing Company. The additions will each be one story high and will measure 12x16 and 12x20 feet. They will be built of brick and have slag roof and galvanized iron corners. The estimated cost is $900.

The Philadelphia Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, has undertaken to raise money to build a club house for soldiers in Manila, to cost $10,000 to $15,000. It is urged that there is great need of such work, and the plan contemplates a library, reading room, gymnasium, coffee room, etc. The ladies having the affair in hand have issued an urgent appeal to all Americans to contribute towards this praise-worthy object. Their names are: Ella Wain Harrison, Mary B. H. Williams and Sarah Morris Ogden. The latter is treasurer, and funds should be sent to her address at Riverton, N. J.

The Hammonton, N. J., Gas Company was organized at that place on December 29, 1900, with an authorized capital of $100,000. With a capital of $4000 paid in the company asked Council to grant them a franchise to lay gas mains for the distribution of illuminating gas. The Board of Directors elected were William H. Berns-house, William Berns-house, Harry M. Little, Joseph C. Johnson, A. W. V. Setley, George E. Chalfont, Samuel Anderson, Charles Monfort, George King, Robert Steel and Wilbur R. Tilton. Officers will be elected this week. The parties interested are all Hammonton people, and there is no doubt but what the franchise will be granted. Two companies are competing for a franchise to lay water mains and erect water works for the town.

In the Congressional estimates for work at the Philadelphia Navy Yard for the coming fiscal year beginning July 1st, 1901, will be found $700,000, which is at the present time contemplated to cover all items. Quite a number were stricken out of the original estimate. Of these reductions $354,500 are in projects altogether disallowed as follows: Installation of a heat, light and power system, $60,000; barracks for enlisted men, $100,000; torpedo boat storage plant, $100,000, and saw mill for construction and repair, $94,500. This leaves about $50,000 to be taken off all the other items recommended for League Island. The bill will also make an appropriation of $58,000 for a naval magazine and shell house at Fort Mifflin as recommended by the department. There will undoubtedly be a strong effort made in the full committee to have the item of $100,000 for barracks for enlisted men put in the bill. This improvement is very much needed and is especially recommended by Admiral Crowninshield, of the Bureau of Navigation. He appeared before the committee last month and made a strong plea for the erection of barracks both at the New York

Estimates are to be made on the drawings at once and will call for brick, stone and frame work, electric work, probably steam heat, hard wood interior, open grates and best conveniences throughout.

Simon & Caldwell, architects, 1229 Walnut street, have completed plans for a three-story house to be erected at Forty-ninth and Regent streets for G. Howard Brown, of this city. It will be of brick and stone, 33x29 feet in area, and contain all the latest and best conveniences. The estimates are to be in by January 23d.

Elizabeth E. Holman, architect, 1020 Chestnut street, is working on plans for a two-and-a-half-story frame house for Thomas C. Cairns, to be erected at Demopolis, Ala. It will be 41x80 ft, porches on several sides, hot air heating with supplement open grates throughout the house, all modern conveniences and the contract will be let by owner.

Plans have been made by George T. Pearson, architect, 427 Walnut street, for a new seventh story addition which it is proposed to build to the new Stetson factory, at Fourth street and Montgomery avenue. It will measure 46x200 feet, and it will cost about $20,000. The addition will be of iron construction with wooden roof truss to be covered with tin.

Okie, Duhring & Ziegler, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, have made plans for a fine house to be erected by Samuel Matthews, at Rosemont, Pa. The structure will be three stories high, stone and brick work, and 61 x 108 feet in area. Interior will be in hard wood finish, tile, marble, best plumbing, stained and leaded glass, electric work, steam heat, and all the best comforts to be introduced.

Keen & Mead, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, have made plans for a large warehouse, to be erected at Orianna and Vine streets, for Lea & McVetty. Structure will be five stories high, brick, stone and iron the chief materials, it will be 70 x 140 feet, and contain two lift-elevators and electric work, with office, etc. It will also include heating and drying, lunch room, lavatory, coat room and sorting room.

S. Hudson Vaughn, architect, Atlantic City, N. J., has completed the previously noted plans for a fire station, to be erected on Tennessee avenue, north of Atlantic avenue, Atlantic City. The structure will be of stone, brick and iron frame, with a tower. The specifications indicate ornamental iron work, tile, work, plumbing and gas fitting, terra cotta work, etc. M. P. Wells, 1420 Chestnut street, and other contractors in this city are estimating.

Revised plans have been made by Charles W. Bolton & Co., architects, Witherspoon Building, for the First Reformed Church, to be erected at Passaic, N. J., and the bids are to be in by February 1. These are to be on materials, heating, light, ventilation, and general work for church purposes. Drawings in detail provide for a study for pastor, Sunday school room, parlors, library, etc. F. L. Hoover, 703 Raunstead street, has plans on boards.

Thomas Stephen, architect, Masonic Temple, Camden, N. J., who drew plans for the South Jersey Gas & Electric Traction Company's office building, now in course of erection on Federal street, below Fourth street, has just started drawings for a large four-story warehouse, to be erected in the rear of the office structure. It will be of brick and slow-burning material, and fitted with all the latest conveniences, lifts, electric work, heat, plumbing, gas, etc.

There is no longer any doubt that the Lafayette Hotel will be absorbed by the extension of the Land Title Office Building at Broad and Chestnut streets at an early day. It is well known that Architects Burnham & Co., of Chicago and Boston, have on boards plans for this project and that the new structure will be about twenty-two stories high, steel, brick and granite on exterior, and interior absolutely fire-proof, with elevators, electric work, steam heat, plumbing of the most approved and in general conformity with the main building to which it will be attached.

Mantle Feilding, architect, 110 South Fourth street, has on boards plans for alteration and addition to store and dwelling on Twenty-first street, near Christian street, on which estimates are to be made by sub-contractors. This work will be quite extensive. Mr. Feilding has also made plans for alteration and addition to an apartment house, 1711 Green street, for M. A. Furbush. The work will include a brick back building, fitted with general conveniences, etc. Estimates being made on the work in office of Stacey Reeves & Sons, 1511 Filbert street.

Schermerhorn & Reinhold, architects, 490 Walnut street, in this city, have had their plans adopted for the new county court house to be erected at Norristown, Pa. The structure will cost about $150,000, and be of marble, brick and steel construction. A central dome will ornament the top, interior fitted for steam heat, electric work, all general conveniences. The main entrance will be on Swede street, and highly beautified in stone. The work of building is to be started during the coming spring, and will be supervised to completion by the architects.

Mr. Lawrence Vischer Boyd, architect, Harrison Building, Fifteenth and Market streets, informs us that the plans for the new Bellevue Hotel to be erected for Mrs. Sank, owner, at Wayne, Delaware county, Pa., are now completed and will be placed on boards of contractors for estimates in about a week or ten days at most. These are very ornate and show a four-story building of brick, stone and slow burning construction, with all modern conveniences, including elevators, lift, electric work, steam heat, etc. Noted previously in these columns.

Some time ago we noted the making of plans for an apartment house by Milligan & Webber, architects, 520 Walnut street, to be erected at the northeast corner of Thirty-sixth and Chestnut streets. These are now completed and call for a structure 100x214 feet and seven stories high, of colonial brick, red and black head, Flemish bond, steel frame and fireproof material on interior. Dr. C. H. S. Littleton, 1831 Chestnut street, and others, are the owners. A fine roof garden will adorn the top, plate glass windows on front and sides, elevators, electric work, steam heat, marble, tile, mosaic and other ornamental features will be introduced. Bids are to be invited and work pushed forward at once.

The Ridgway Refrigerator Company, E. B. Atkins, manager, have removed their office and salesroom to 705-07 North Broad street, and factory to 325 27 Cherry street.

We are indebted to the Lesley & Trinkle Company, 22-24 S. Fifteenth street, for a beautifully illuminated cameo desk calendar for 1901. While the calendar is intended as a constant reminder of the sterling qualities of "Giant Portland Cement" and "Union" Natural Cement, it is unique from its artistic imitation of a finely cut cameo of a high type and really as beautiful in both coloring and effect as the finest Italian production.

The present population of the United States has been very considerably enlarged as a result of the annexation, cession and purchase of islands. The following estimates are furnished by the Census Office:

United States	76,295,220
Porto Rico	958,243
Philippine Islands	7,000,000
Guam	8,561
Tutula and adjacent islands	4,165
Total	84,261,189

The amount of new railway track laid in the United States during the past year is placed by the "Railroad Gazette," of New York, at 4,804 miles, against 4,569 miles in 1899; and by the "Railway Age," of Chicago, at 4,322 miles. Texas leads among the states, with 318 miles (the "Gazette's" figures); Iowa comes next with 279 miles, Minnesota next with 355, and Pennsylvania fourth with 235. Massachusetts is credited with four miles of new track and all New England with only 44 miles. The present amount of new construction is nearly double what it was annually during the recent depression, but far below the high record reached in 1887, when over 12,000 miles of new steam track were constructed.—Exchange.

The gifts and bequests for public purposes in 1900 have been tabulated so far as they could be ascertained and amount to $62,461,304, of which $35,000,000 went to educational institutions. Of the remaining $27,000,000 a little more than one-half went to charities, and nearly $9,000,000 to churches. The balance of $5,000,000 went to museums, art galleries. The largest public giver of the year was Andrew Carnegie, his benefactions footing up $4,225,000, of which all but $625,000 went to Pittsburg's Institute and library. The next largest public benefactors were Samuel Cupples and R. A. Brookings, of St. Louis, who gave $5,000,000 to Washington University. But the list of these public givers of millions includes less than 20 names and is not a long one, when the number of our multi-millionaires is considered.—Exchange.

Architect Notes.

Geo. Flack Sansbury, architect, Cumberland, Md., has just completed plans, specifications, etc., for a two-story basement and attic house for the Cumberland Improvement Company to be built on Columbia avenue. The plans call for a building 23 by 39 ft 8 in, stone foundation, first story, siding, second story and roof shingled. Interior trim to be oak, yellow pine, and white pine, plaster common, fire places, tiles, bath-room fixtures, hardware, etc. Estimated cost $2900. The same architect is now working on plans for a handsome colonial residence for Mr. J. H. Pfahler, of Meyersdale, Pa. The building is to be two stories with attic and basement, press brick with stone and terra cotta trimming, roof slate, copper ridge roll and finials, gables and dormers to be finished in shingles. The specifications will call for every thing to make a complete house when finished, interior trim to be red brick, maple, quartered oak and sycamore, hard wood parquette and tile floors, mantels, tile hearths, plate and leaded glass, paneled wainscoting, beam ceiling in dining room all modern plumbing, hot water heat. Estimated cost $9500; plans ready Feb. 15.

made the plans, which were noted in these columns.

On the 14th inst. fire destroyed part of the leather plant of Robert H. Foerderer, at Wheat Sheaf Lane and Penna. Railroad. The loss will be about $15,000, and the building which suffered most will be rebuilt as soon as details can be arranged.

During the current week the Congressional Naval Committee have decided that the naval bill should include for the Philadelphia Navy Yard an appropriation of $901,230. Of this $150,000 is set aside for construction, repairs and steam engineering.

Frank S. Riggs, contractor, 1530 Chestnut street, is making a general estimate on a house to be erected at Rosemont, Pa., for Thomas L. Harrison. The drawings have been previously noted in this journal, and were made by Edgar V. Seeler, architect.

Morris E. Conn, 108 S. Twenty-second street on behalf of the Reformed Episcopal Church of the Mediator, worshipping at Twenty-second and Bainbridge streets, is looking for a site on which to erect a church edifice. No plans have been made, nor contracts awarded.

Chief Vodge, for the Fairmount Park Commission, has been directed to prepare plans for making an artificial lake in the large space of bottom land adjoining the Queen Lane pumping station. The drawings are to be submitted at the next meeting of the Commissioners for their action.

Manager Taylor, of the theatre located in Masonic Temple, Camden, N. J., and others are considering the erection of a new theatre building in that city, which will likely be located in the southern portion, near Broadway and Kaighn's avenue. Mr. Taylor says no plans have been made or contracts awarded.

W. A. and A. E. Wells, Stephen Girard Building, are taking bids on the interior office fixtures and furnishing for the new building at Third and Chestnut streets now under construction by them. The same contractors are taking estimates on plans for an eleven story addition to the Hotel Henry, at Pittsburg, Pa.

The Otto Gas Engine Works Company have plans out among local builders for estimates on a storage house and an addition of two stories to their main shop at Thirty-third and Walnut streets. The addition will measure 60x46 feet, and will be three stories in height, while the other building will measure 90x45 feet, and be two stories high.

H. B. Knox, general manager of the estate of the late Charles McCaul, says a new company is about to be formed to carry on the business of the deceased contractor, and will be known as the Charles McCaul Company. Mr. Knox says the new U. S. Mint will be completed, he believes, about March 1st, current year.

The State Quarantine Board held a special meeting on the 14th inst. and awarded the contract for the construction of a barracks, hospital and crematory at Marcus Hook to Ward & McGinnis, of Chester, Pa., as they were the lowest bidders. The exact amount of the bid was not stated, but Port Physician

H. D. Heller said it was a trifle less than the money available, which is but $9,500.

The Martindale & Co. stores to be erected at Market and Tenth streets, northeast corner, and extending from 959 Market to Hunter street in the rear, will likely be under way in the early spring. At the present time no architectural plans have been made, nor have any of the minor details been arranged. The improvement will be a very creditable one and enhance the value of all the surroundings.

The State Quarantine Board held a meeting on the 9th inst. to consider the bids on the work of constructing the new barracks, crematory and hospital building to be erected at Marcus Hook on the Delaware river. The board were bound to reject all the bids as the amounts were in excess of the appropriation, the sum being only $3500 and the structures indicated by the specifications and bids made entailed an expenditure of from $7000 to $8000.

The Committee on Property, of the Board of Education, on the 14th inst. awarded a contract to Peoples & Welsh, southwest corner Seventieth street and Woodland avenue, to erect the new school house at Eighty-second street and Tincum avenue at $23,412. At same meeting, J. Bennett Colesberry was appointed inspector of public buildings for this city. The plans for the school house were made under supervision of J. Horace Cook, and have been fully noted in these columns.

A movement is on foot by the business men of the southern section of the city to abolish the old Lebanon cemetery at Nineteenth street and Passyunk avenue. This is agitated for the purpose of enhancing the advantage of building lots and blocks of ground in the immediate vicinity. General Louis Wagner, of the Board of City Trust, says that if the streets proposed as above are cut through the Girard estate will be improved by the erection of a great number of fine dwellings along each line, as the estate covers more than a mile square in that location.

Plans and specifications for the new fire service pipes and appliances to be placed in the central fire district, of this city, embracing the area between Walnut, Race and Broad streets and on the east by Delaware avenue, have been completed, and proposals are to be asked at once on the work. Director of Public Works Haddock will have the matter in charge and has on hand an appropriation of $800,000 to make the start. Work will embrace pipe lines and masonry, excavation, plumbing and general detail work.

Councils and the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad Co. have arranged the matter of constructing the new elevated road beginning at Spring Garden street and ending at Huntingdon Street Station, a distance of about two miles. The city will pay all the cost but $1,500,000, which falls upon the railroad company. The work will consist of masonry and filling in, principally. The cost of the work is approximated at $5,342,763. Plans are now complete, and action upon a proposed loan bill by City Councils of $9,000,000 is the only obstacle in the way of a start.

Builder James J. Allen, 127 W. Washington Lane, Germantown, will at once begin work on ninety dwellings for Thomas Marsall, of Swarthmore, Pa., as owner, on the west side of Fifty-ninth street, between Market and Chestnut streets, and east and west sides of Sixtieth street, between the same streets; also on the north and south sides of Market street, between Fifty-ninth and Sixtieth streets. All are to be of faced brick, two stories high, stone trimmings, and interiors will contain heaters, ranges, boilers, tile work, best plumbing and modern conveniences.

The Board of Surveyors of the city held a meeting on the 9th inst. and heard the request of a large number of capitalists and other citizens, as well as a number of City Councilmen in regard to the feasibility of revising the lines and graves of the district bounded by Cayuga, Wingohocking, Eighth street and North Penn Railroad. It may be said that the entire body of Surveyors argue that it ought to be done. James Barker and many others announce their intentions to erect a large number of factories and other buildings if the facilities noted above are granted.

A special committee, with General Louis Wagner as president, and George W. Kendrick, Jr., Stockton Bates, William McIntyre and Charles Maxwell were elected to take action in conformity with a resolution passed recently by the Grand Lodge of Masons, looking toward the establishment of a Masonic Orphanage, to be in equipment and erection the finest institution of the kind in this country. The committee has the power to proceed with the plans and will, in a short time, take action in regard to the character of a building needed for the purpose.

Engineers and architects of the New York Central Railroad have made plans for a lot of buildings to be erected at Albany, N. Y., for that company, and the drawings can be seen in the office of Ryan & Kelly, contractors, 8 South Broad street. These contemplate four office buildings, two large engine houses, boiler house, shop and trestle work, double track for twenty five great coal pockets. Bids are wanted on materials, steam heat, electrical work, cement work, tile work, slate, concrete, brick, stone and iron work, and close by January 31st. In the same office are plans for a large pier for the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad to be erected at Spring Garden, Baltimore, Md. Materials will be steel and masonry 817x180 feet. A steel shed will also be erected 43 feet high.

After being laid over for more than a year the plans for the large seven-story warehouse, stable and manufactory for Strassburg & Clothier on Race, above Eighth street, are about to be put into practical effect. Stacey Reeves & Sons, general contractors, 1611 Filbert street, will construct the building, and the drawings were made at the time indicated above by Gilbert & Reid, architects, 1420 Chestnut street. It will be seven stories high, 121x121 feet and occupy the site 812 to 820 south side of Race street. The materials will include brick, stone and iron to a great extent, fitted with electric work, steam heat and power, elevators and lifts for freight, plumbing, gas fitting, plate and common glass windows, cement and grout work in foundations. All the latest and best conveniences will be introduced and work to start at once.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company will spend more than $5,000,000 this year on improvements on its main line and on the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore and United Railroad Companies of New Jersey divisions. A great deal of work will be done in the East, and it is believed some progress will be made on the change of line in Washington. The present bill, outside of the amendment which requires the company to build a $1,500,000 station is satisfactory to the officers of the company, and it is said the committee having the bill in charge is willing to have this amendment stricken out. On the Philadelphia, Wilmington and Baltimore division, in all likelihood, work will be begun on the elimination of grade crossings through Wilmington, and the erection of a new station in that city. The principal work on the New York division will be the improvements at Greenville, N. J. It is the intention to spend about $300,000 on this property, but it is thought it will not all be authorized this year. Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Architect Notes.

Harvey Hauer, of Lebanon, is reported to have drawings in course of preparation for a four-story brick and stone addition to the People's Bank Building, at that place.

Architect A. E. Yarnall, 14 S. Broad street, has awarded the contract for the erection of the Mr. Flonck's new residence, at Ogontz, to Builder Harry Kuenmmerle, Betz building.

Charles R. Smith, of Latrobe, Pa., is at the head of a bank recently organized and known as the People's Bank of Latrobe, and is contemplating the construction of a new stone building to cost $20,000.

Charles R. Lee, architect, Harrison Building, has made plans for alterations to the property, 1809 Sansom street, to fit it for business purposes. Weiser & Hendricks are the owners. Estimates are being made on the work.

Architects Hales & Ballinger, 1200 Chestnut street, have placed a contract with Contractor John M. Anderson, 1521 South Eighteenth street, for the interior improvements to the boiler house of S. L. Allen & Co., at Fifth and Glenwood avenues.

Hale & Morse, architects, Drexel Building, will make the drawings for the new Municipal Hospital for contagious diseases, in Camden, N. J., to cost about $30,000. It will be of brick and stone, iron frame, with all the latest and best conveniences on the interior.

The supervising architect of the Treasury Department has invited the members of the Master Builders' Exchange to submit proposals for a new building for the cabin passengers at the United States Quarantine Station, at the Delaware Breakwater. Proposals will be opened on February 6.

R. C. Ballinger & Co., contractors, 218 N. Thirteenth street, have been given the contract by Adin B. Lacey, architect, 1020 Chestnut street, to build the fine residence for John I. Rogers, at Wyncote, Pa. The drawings, work and material have been fully noted in a previous issue of this journal.

John F. Stuckert & Son, architects, 1421 Chestnut street, have on boards plans for enlarging the plant of Henry H. Roeloffs, at Twelfth and Brown streets. These indicate a three story addition fitted with all the conveniences and arrangement of the main building. Estimates to be made at once.

Rankin & Kellogg, architects, 1024 Walnut street, have won by competition in plans the award for the new U. S. post office building to be erected at Indianapolis Ind. The architects will at once begin preparations of detail drawings and specifications, of which a full description will be given when completed.

Collins & Autenreith, architects, 410 Walnut street, have on board plans for alteration and additions to be made at 11 South Sixteenth street for business purposes. When estimates are made it is likely William R. Dougherty, 1004 Sansom street, and George L. Sippes, 212 South Seventh street, will bid.

F. L. Hoover & Son, 709 Hanstead street, are inviting proposals from sub-contractors for a two-story and basement stone and shingle stable building to be erected at Grossland, Pa., for Mr. M. Paddock. William C. Pritchett, 416 Walnut street, is architect. Plans call for ten stalls, with one large carriage room, hay lofts, etc.

Mr. Joseph Huston, architect, Witherspoon Building, has prepared and submitted an estimate of cost of tearing down the old structure of the Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion, Broad and Arch streets, and removing the same to a site yet to be chosen. William H. Staake is chairman of the Building Committee.

L. H. Foulke, of Reading, has closed contracts for the new two-story brick and stone music hall building, which will be erected at Sixth street, above Court Reading. Architect H. Head, of Reading, will direct the building, which is to measure 200 by 40 feet, and have the latest improvements and unusual acoustic properties.

J. Horace Cook, architect for Board of Public Education, Public Buildings, has started plans for a school building to be erected at Susquehanna avenue and Lawrence street. It will be three stories high, granite, stone and brick, slate roof, steam heat and all general conveniences, etc. Estimates will be asked in a few days.

It is reliably stated that plans are in course of preparation in the office of Architects J. B. McElfatrick & Son, of New York city, for a new hotel building to be built in this city for local capitalists. It is understood that the location will be central, and that every improvement and convenience will be provided. Details later.

Architects Hales & Ballinger have awarded a contract to Theodore M. Keeney to make alterations to the property at 1512½ Market street for the estate of Dwight B. Fuller. His contract calls for new partitions, new stairway, new skylights and a bridge connecting the Eighteenth street buildings. The estimated cost is $1750.

Architect Mantle Fielding, Jr., 110 South Fourth street, has completed plans and specifications for remodeling a store property at Twenty-first and Christian streets into a residence building of three stories and basement. The front will be of fancy brick, with stone trimmings, and sub-bids will be asked in about ten days' time.

Plans are under way for a handsome residence to be erected near Berwyn, Pa., for a Philadelphia man. Architects Purcell & Evans, Provident Building, have the specications in course of preparation. The latest conveniences and improvements will be provided throughout. It is likely that estimates will be requested from local contracting firms within ten days.

Bids are asked for temporary improvement to the properties at Nos. 1222 to 1228 Cherry street for W. F. Potts, Sons & Co. They will be used pending the erection of a seven-story warehouse, for which plans are now being made. Architect Louis C. Hickman, 328 Chestnut street, is making the drawings. He will ask sub-bids probably this or next week, for altering and improving the Stock Exchange building.

Heacock and Hokanson, architects, 931 Chestnut street, have now completed plans for a cottage for Mrs. Jos. R. Livezey, to be erected at "Longport", Atlantic City, N. J. It will be of brick and frame work, two-stories high, 40x45 feet in area, and the interior contains all comforts, gas fitting, electric work, plumbing, range, boiler, etc. Estimates will be made at once by R. Monroe Stout and David A. McClelland, of this city, and several contractors in Atlantic City as well.

Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut street, has been retained to make plans for a warehouse and manufactory of candy and other sweetmeats for Mitchell, Fletcher & Co., the grocers, northeast corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, who have bought the old church site at the northwest corner of Seventh and Spring Garden streets. It will be of brick, stone and iron construction, with steam power heat, and electric work, elevators and lifts, etc. Other details later when ready for estimate on the work.

George Wild, architect, Johnstown, Pa., informs us that he has made plans for a fine school house to be built at East Conemaugh, Pa., the cost of which will be $40,000. Also on boards drawings for a school to be erected at Franklin, Pa., which will cost $30,000, both of which are in Cambria county. Mr. Wild will make the plans for the First English Lutheran Church to be erected at Johnstown, Pa., to cost about $50,000. The schools above noted are subject to a loan to be voted upon at the coming February election in that county.

Duhring, Okie & Zeigler, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, are engaged on drawings for alterations and additions to 701-3-5-11-15 Clymer street, for tenements for the Octavia Hill Association; all comforts and conveniences introduced. Also making plans for alterations and additions to the residence of George W. South, at Berwyn, Pa. Bids to be asked soon on the work. They are also at work on plans for alterations to the club house, known as the "Light House," to be erected at Lehigh avenue and Waterloo street. This work will include enlarging the dining-room, new kitchen and additions to the library and shuffleboard room. They will be ready for bids in about a week.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JAN. 23, 1901.

A Proposed Check on Real Estate Jobbery. Philadelphia Ledger.

A reform of great importance was recently proposed in the Board of Aldermen of Boston, which might profitably be taken up and adopted by every city in the country. The purpose is to prevent Boston from having to pay exorbitant prices for land which it may desire to take for public use. To accomplish this it is proposed to ask the Legislature of Massachusetts to authorize Boston, when it needs land, to take it by right of eminent domain, provided that no such land shall be taken by purchase when the price named exceeds the tax valuation by more than 40 per cent. If the State authorities enact such a law, the city of Boston will thereafter probably be the richer by many thousands of dollars annually. In demonstrating the need of such an act, it has been pointed out that the city has often been compelled to pay for property two and three times its assessed valuation, and one instance is cited where $200,000 was paid for land which had been assessed at about $30,000.

There is probably no instance on record in this city where nearly seven times the assessed valuation of a property has had to be paid, nevertheless, the municipality is regularly mulcted. Within the last few weeks the city was expected to pay $2500 for a lot assessed at $600; in another instance $8000 was demanded for a property assessed at $2500. Sometimes Councilmen in their zeal to secure a lot for the city apparently forget, when they prepare the ordinances of purchase, the amount asked by the owner. For example, there is a piece of ground at Thirteenth street and Ridge avenue valued at $20,000. Two ordinances were introduced to purchase the plot for park purposes, one naming $40,000 and the other $41,000 as the purchase money. Once the city paid $53,000 for a piece of ground assessed at $11,500.

Recitals of this character demonstrate the desirability of some restrictions being placed on the purchasing power of this city, similar to that proposed for Boston. The time is now favorable for a movement of this kind, the Legislature being in session. It is not likely that Councils could be induced to take any steps in this direction, because it seems to be a dominant idea among a large proportion of the members that, when the city desires a property for public purposes, it is a proper mark for fleecing. Any efforts to secure legislative enactment of the character proposed would have to be through the Municipal League, or some other similar body. If a law like that proposed for Boston could be enacted for this city, it would most likely cause an appreciable decline of interest on the part of some Councilmen in behalf of undesirable lots for public purposes.

American Fire Statement.

The ninety-first annual statement of the American Fire Insurance Company appears in this issue.

The company, it will be seen, is but a few years short of its one hundredth birthday, and it is consequently identified with the development and growth of the country almost from the beginning.

The statement shows a surplus of $247,360.42 and a reserve for reinsurance and other claims of $1,603,605.54, and real estate amounting to $404,379.50. Mr. Thomas H. Montgomery, president; Richard Maris, secretary and treasurer; Wm. F. Williams, assistant secretary, and William B. Kelly, general manager.

Architect Note.

Some weeks since we noted the fact that Charles W. Bolton & Co., architects, Witherpoon Building, had been selected to make plans for the new First Presbyterian Church to be erected at Atlantic City, N. J. Whilst the drawings have only been started, when completed will indicate the structure at Pennsylvania and Pacific avenues to be a very handsome edifice of brick and stone, slate roof with handsome stained art glass windows, seating for 1000 persons, steam heat, electric work, ventilating apparatus and all the latest comforts and conveniences, etc.

Stearns & Castor, architects, Stephen Girard Building, some time ago made plans for the Frankford Real Estate Company office building, to improve their structure. This work is about to be put into contractors hands for estimate, and these will be for exterior and interior work quite extensive. Noted some six months ago in this journal. Some architects have made a contract with Machin & Brown, contractors, 147 N. Seventh street, to build the Ford residence at Frankford, and which has been fully noted previously in these columns. Same architects have been retained to make plans for a new post office building to be erected at Frankford, and owned by Wm. H. Hunter and Joseph Clark, of this city. The structure will be 30x50 feet, and constructed of brick and stone, three stories high, and interior contain all the best modern conveniences. Details will be noted in this journal later.

G. W. and W. D. Hewitt, architects, Bullitt Building, Fourth below Chestnut street, have on board plans for a five seven-story warehouse to be erected for the Merchants' Warehouse Company on a lot of ground at Delaware avenue, Water and Walnut streets, 150x160 feet. It will be of fireproof material throughout, steel frame, brick, stone and granite will be chief materials in the structure, elevators, steam power, electric light, lifts and every modern convenience will be introduced. Same architects are at the present time engaged on plans for an eight-story store building to be erected at 1217 Market street, and will be 20x180 feet of brick, stone and iron work, steam heat and power, elevators, electric work, plumbing, glazing, plate glass windows for bulks. All the latest conveniences will be provided for. 513-515 Commerce street will also be rebuilt from plans by the same architects for Charles M. Biddle, the owner. Other work in this office will soon be noted.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Thirty-six two-story houses will be built at Eighteenth and Ritner streets, by owner James Kelly. The houses will face on Eighteenth, Porter and Ritner streets, and the intervening streets.

Ryan & Kelley, contractors, No. 8 South Broad street, have a contract for the brick one-story boiler house to be erected by the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad, at Reading, Pa. Cost about $5,000.

Harry B. Shoemaker, contractor, 113 North Seventh street, has a contract to make alteration and addition to 917 Market street. The new work will be 22x110 feet, brick, stone, cement work and contain general conveniences, etc.

W. W. Lindsay & Company, contractors, Harrison Building, have been given the contract to erect the chain shop to be built at League Island Navy Yard. It will be 50x100 feet, hard brick walls, steel interior work. Previously noted in full.

W. R. Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street, has a contract for the new one-story stone synagogue at York and Olney roads, for the Jewish Hospital Association, to cost $15,000. The building will measure 38x45 feet. Work will be commenced at once.

William J. Gruhier, of Germantown, has been awarded the general contract for the extensive improvements to be made at the residence of J. Rulon Miller, at Haverford, Pa., which is reported to cost about $25,000. Work will be started at once.

Work will be started at once by Contractors Schoen & Glattle on the erection of a two-story brick factory, 32x37 feet, on the north-east side of Allegheny avenue, east of Kensington avenue, for Hirst & Roger, owners. The cost is estimated at $1450.

It is understood a revision of plans will be made by S. Hudson Vaughn, architect, Atlantic City, N. J., for the Fire Station, estimated on by contractors last week. The bids are found too high for the appropriation; hence the modification of the work.

Builder A. Raymond Raff will start work immediately on improvements to Bischoff's paper box factory at 1516 Thompson street, to cost $550. This will consist of a one-story brick back addition, 16x26 feet, and a new addition to the second and third floors, 16x16 feet.

Charles J. Heckler, builder, will at once begin the work of erecting twenty-five dwellings at the northwest corner of Roberts and Wissahickon avenues, at a cost of $38,000. All of faced brick, stone trimmings, ranges, heaters, tile work, cement work and all modern comforts.

Philip Anns Company, 1001 Chestnut street, want sub-bids on work and materials for an apartment house to be erected at New York and Pacific avenues, Atlantic City, for Mrs. M. S. Galbraith. Plans by S. Hudson Vaughan, architect, of Atlantic City. Noted in full previously.

Frank S. Riggs, contractor, 1530 Chestnut street, will take sub-bids on the apartment house, to be erected at northeast corner Thirtieth and Chestnut streets, from plans by Milligan & Webber, architects, 520 Walnut street, and which have been very fully noted in this journal in previous issues.

Roydhouse, Arey & Company, contractors, Fidelity Building, Broad street, above Arch street, have just been awarded a contract to build an addition to the Bergner & Engle Brewing Company's plant on Thirty-second street, above Master street. It will be of brick, iron, stone and cement work and cost $4,000.

Builder Henry P. Schneider has closed a contract with Catharine Ruffner to build two two-story brick and brown stone front dwellings, to cost $2200, at 1701 and 1703 Hunting Park avenue. Each house will have a frontage of 18.6 feet and be 26 feet deep. They will be built on lots each 13.6x50 feet. Work will be started at once.

The Link Belt Engineering Company has closed a contract with Builder Thomas M. Seeds, Jr., to make alterations to its machine shop, Nicetown lane and the Philadelphia and Reading Railway, to cost $4000. This will include excavating in the cellar, underpinning the foundation walls, building new brick piers and laying new floors.

R. Priessendanz, 19 Market street, Camden, is considering the erection of a large carriage manufacturing plant on the site above noted. The present idea is to erect a three-story brick building, estimates on which will be taken in the near future. Mr. Priessendanz has all particulars in his personal charge, and can be seen or addressed at 19 Market street, Camden.

As previously noted in these columns, action has been started by the friends of Christ's P. F. Church to have it relieved of the danger of destruction by fire. An ordinance has been framed and is now before Councils, asking for condemnation of surrounding property and widening of a street on the south of the old structure. It is likely the bill will pass at an early day.

Mr. George W. Lynch, Jr., Twenty first and Westmoreland streets, Philadelphia, has been awarded the contract to furnish Fairmount Park with T. C. pipe and fittings on yearly contract, he being the lowest bidder. He has also been awarded the contract for T. C. pipe and fittings for sewerage system at Fort Mott, New Jersey. Both of these contracts will require a large amount of T. C. pipe and fittings.

Provost C. C. Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, in this city, makes announcement that a school building designed for study of civil engineering would soon be started at that institution. No plans have been made by an architect, but a consultation with a view to professional advice is to be had at an early day. We shall announce further action in these columns at the proper time.

Jeremiah G. Donoghue has awarded a contract to John N. Gill for improvements to his property, at the northeast corner of Eighth and Vine streets, to cost $2080. The work provides for removing the present brick curtain walls and transoms between the iron columns, and substituting wooden flush bulk windows on the Eighth and Vine streets fronts; removing cellarways outside of the building, etc. Work will be started at once.

A general move is being made by the Mercantile Library Association, Tenth street, above Chestnut street, to either sell or improve their present quarters. The consensus of opinion seems to be in favor of the selling, if possible at an advantage, the building and ground and purchasing elsewhere a site for a building that would add very largely to the revenue of the association. The matter is held under consideration by the Board of Directors.

On the 19th inst. fire destroyed quite a number of properties beginning with a factory of Koch & Goldstein, at Sixth and Queen streets, in which case rebuilding will be necessary. Also the spice warehouse of H. Read & Company, 107 South Water street, being almost wholly interior, which, we understand, will be repaired at once. The same night the stores of C. B. Porter, 120 and 122 North Second street, was entirely burned and No. 118 was badly damaged.

In disposing of her estate, which amounts to $17,000, the will of Elizabeth Hayes, late of No. 2450 North Twenty-sixth street, which was admitted to probate last week, devises $2000 to St. Alban's Church, Ridge and Fauthorne's avenues, Roxborough. After making a few private bequests to relatives, the testatrix devises the entire residue to the executors, in trust, to purchase a site and erect thereon a church building and furnish the same, in any part of the State of Pennsylvania which the executors select for that purpose.

The American League Base Ball Association, Connie Mack's backer, has selected the lot at Twenty-ninth and Columbia avenue on a ten years' lease, and will at once begin the erection of grand stands, offices, fences, gates and main entrance. James Foster, contractor, of this city, will have the entire contract and begin work at once. This means the sale and use of bricks, stone, cement, iron and general materials for such work. Work must be finished for opening of the season of 1901.

Contractors in general are making bids on the alterations and additions to be made at the northwest corner of Eleventh and Walnut streets for Mr. Austin, the owner. The plans are by Mr. Edward Hazelhurst, architect, Girard Building, and were noted some two weeks ago in these columns. The two properties, 1102 and 1104 Walnut street, are to be fitted up as stores upon first floor and apartments for the remainder, which will contain every modern comfort and convenience, steam heat, electric work, plumbing, gas fitting, tiling, cement work, etc.

Pennsylvania Railroad officials in this city signed the ordinance recently passed by the Newark, N. J., City Council for the elevation of the Pennsylvania Railroad tracks in that city, and the ordinance is now in the hands of the officials of the Central Railroad of New Jersey for their signatures. As soon as the ordinance is signed by the three parties, the two railroads and the city, work will be actively begun on the elimination of the grade crossings. It is understood that it will be at least six months before traffic over the main line will be stopped. While the construction work is in progress, the cut-off will be used.

Frank S. Riggs, general contractor, has started to erect the handsome new apartment house, at the northeast corner of Tenth and Clinic streets, according to plans prepared by Architects Milligan & Webber, 520 Walnut streets. The plans show a seven story and basement fireproof structure, 115x100 feet, with fronts of Indiana limestone, terra cotta and brick. The building will contain 250 rooms, to be divided into suites, with private bath. It will be fitted up with hard woods, modern plumbing, heating and lighting plants, and contain the latest improvements and equipment for a structure of its character. Alexander G. Rea is named as the owner in the application on file at the office of the Bureau of Building Inspection. The estimated cost for the construction of the building exclusive of the finishings, is $195,000. Previously noted.

Contractors Arthur H. Williams' Sons have the contract to build the new $20,000 apartment house for Samuel H. Austin, at Nos. 108 and 106 South Eleventh street. The building will be five stories high, 87x50 feet, and of very ornamental design. Mr. Austin has also had plans prepared by Architect Edward Hazelhurst for alterations and additions embracing stores and apartments to the home of the late Dr. William Pancoast and the adjoining property, Nos. 1100 and 1102 Walnut street. The rear portions of the dwelling will be torn down and a new three-story building, 58x38 feet, erected, extending to Chancellor street, and containing five stories on the first floor and apartments above. The Walnut street fronts of the dwellings will be pulled out and an ornamental front built, having bay windows and balconies. The interior will be reconstructed, all of which has been previously mentioned in these columns.

The Asbestos Manufacturing Company, 426 Market street, report that business is very good. The following are among some of the large contracts they have under completion at the present time: "Cruiser 'Retvizan,' of the Imperial Russian Navy; Mr. Well's residence, at Newport, R. I.; Philadelphia and Reading Railway Company, Wayne Junction; Lit Brothers Building, Kirschbaum Building, Union Trust Company, steamers 'Esperanza' and 'Monterey,' of the New York Cuban Mail Ship Company; Red D Line, large steamship under construction by the Neafie & Levy S. & D. Building Company; Scranton Heat, Light and Power Company, Scranton, Pa.; Boston Sewerage Pumping Station, Dorchester, Mass., fifteen locomotive boilers; Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railway Company, Hoboken, N. J.; Berger & Engel Brewing Company, Alfred F. Moore's new warehouse and Folwell Brothers.

Anthony M. Zane, operator in real estate, 26 South Fifteenth street, on Friday last began negotiations with John Vanamaker for the purchase of the northwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, through to Clover street in rear, and on the west adjoining the Chestnut Street Theatre, being 104x150 feet in area. This consummated, Mr. Zane on Saturday sold to the Commonwealth Title Insurance and Trust Company, a site 50x150 feet for the purpose of erecting a fine large office building which may be twelve or fifteen stories high. The competitive drawings are now in progress in several architects' offices. Mr. Zane contemplates erecting on the west of the Commonwealth's building a business structure which will cover 54x150 feet, and the details of which will be arranged at an early day. No drawings have been made for the latter building nor contracts awarded. Mr. Zane, it is understood, becomes the owner of No. 1223 and 1225 Chestnut street as part of the above transaction, this property and 1227 being recently purchased by the Commonwealth Title Insurance & Trust Company. The purchaser of 1227 could not be learned at this time.

The Twentieth Century

has commenced under the most happy auspices for our American commercial and manufacturing interests.

Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Doyle & Doak are asking sub-bids for another cottage building for the Jacob Tome Institute at Fort Deposit, Md.

J. F. Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street, are asking bids for alterations to 1105 Walnut street for private parties. Work previously noted.

Kennedy & Kelsey, 931 Chestnut street, have sent out plans to contractors for estimates for alterations and additions to the residence of Arthur Lee, at 2004 Walnut street.

J. E. & A. L. Pennock, 305 Walnut street, are asking sub-bids on additions to the building at 267 South Fourth street. The plans are private. The new portion is to be one story in height.

Architect L. C. Hickman, southeast corner Fourth and Chestnut streets, is making revised plans for the new building for the W. F. Potts, Sons Company, on Cherry street, above Thirteenth.

Architect Edwin F. Bertolette says that the contract for the Platt flat house, on South Twelfth street, would soon be let. He submitted the plans to the Bureau of Building Inspection last week.

Alexander Engstrom, engineer, Bullitt Building, has on hand plans for a brick, stone and iron power-house to be erected at Rochester, Pa., for local private parties. Estimates are to be taken at once.

Architects Baker and Dallett, Crozer Building, 1424 Chestnut street, have just awarded the contract for alterations and additions to Nathan Trotter's residence, at Twenty-third and DeLancey streets, to Thomas Little & Sons.

Revised plans are being drawn by Architect Isaac Pursell, 119 S. Fourth street, for the new parish house building at Oak Lane for St. Martin's congregation. When completed these plans will be sent out for local builders to figure.

Kurt W. Peuckert, architect, 254 S. Fourth street, has made plans for John Lang's paper mill at the northwest corner Twenty-fourth and Vine streets. The work will consist of new floors in the main, but other detail work is to be done in the structure.

Wilson Brothers, architects and engineers, Drexel Building, have on board plans for alterations and additions to the Young Women's Boarding Association house, southeast corner Ninth and Pine streets, and estimates will be taken until about February 4th.

Furness, Evans & Co. are asking bids in their offices at the Provident Building for the new residence at Berwyn, Pa., for E. S. Beale, of this city. It will be two-and-a-half stories and basement, stone and fancy brick construction, with the latest improvements.

W. A. Ferguson has closed a contract with Mantle Fielding, Jr., 110 South Fourth street, for the new store building, at Twenty-first and Christian streets, for local parties. Elevations show a three-story and basement structure of fancy brick, with up-to-date appointments.

Revised estimates have been requested for a Lewisburg, Pa., church edifice as planned by Architect Jacob Naschold, Manhattan Life Building. The church will be stone, measuring 127 by 72 feet, and the Sunday school building adjoining will measure 55 by 45 feet, two stories and basement.

Plans were submitted to the Bureau of Building Inspection last week for the seventh story addition, 45 by 200 feet, which will be built at the new Sisson factory, at Montgomery avenue and Cadwallader street. The work will cost about $20,000. Previously noted in these columns.

Plans have been sent out by local contractors by Mantle Fielding, architect, 110 South Fourth street, for a private school building, to be erected at the northeast corner of School lane and Green street. The drawings provide for a three-story and basement structure, 45 by 40 feet, of brick and stone.

Architects Furness, Evans & Co., northwest corner Fourth and Chestnut streets, have sent out invitations to general contractors to submit sub-bids until February 1, at 10 o'clock, for the new office building for the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, at the southeast corner of Fifteenth and Market streets.

Baker and Dallett, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, have finished the plans for the seven-story store to be erected by W. Jeuks Fell, at 1404-06 Ridge avenue, and bids are being taken by Doyle and Doak, 1509 Sansom street, for labor and materials. This work was noted in these columns some time ago in full.

Contractors Black & Hill, Walnut street, above Seventh, are receiving sub-bids on plans by Architect B. H. Barton, for twenty-four three-story stone dwellings, to be built in pairs, on Hansbury street and Wissahickon avenue and on Laurens street, above Hansbury street. Each house will measure 16 feet 10 inches by 50 feet.

The plans as drawn by L. V. Boyd, Harrison Building, Fifteenth and Market streets, for the new Epiphany Church building, which is to be erected at Pelham, Germantown, have been sent out for revised bids, as the former ones were higher than was expected. The building will be one story and basement, of stone construction, with every convenience and improvement.

Edwin F. Durang, architect, 1200 Chestnut street, is engaged on drawings for a R. C. Church building to be erected at Merion, Pa., for the Sisters of Mercy at that place. Estimates will be asked in a few weeks. Mr. Durang is engaged upon several ecclesiastical structures which will be noted in these columns as details advance.

Milligan and Webber, architects, 520 Walnut street, are engaged on plans for an apartment house to be erected at the southeast corner of Twenty-second and Walnut streets, upon the site of the late Geo. W. Childs' house. It is likely part of the present material may be utilized in the building. Details later as to specifications, material, etc.

Architects Caldwell & Simon, 1229 Walnut street, have finished plans for a handsome house at Atlantic City for H. S. Seull. It will be three stories, of brick and stone, replete with the latest conveniences and appointments, and will cost $12,000. The same architects are working on plans for another residence to be built at the same place, at an approximate cost of $6,000.

The George A. Fuller Company, Stephen Girard Building, have just closed a contract for the erection of a twenty-story office building, at Fifth avenue and Grant street, Pittsburgh, Pa., for H. C. Frick. The plans were made by Architects D. H. Burnham & Co., of Chicago, Ill. The estimated cost of the work is between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000. Previously noted.

Henry D. Dagitt, architect and engineer, 435 Chestnut street, has completed the drawings for the parochial school building to be erected for St. Elizabeth's Church, at Twenty-third street and Montgomery avenue. It will be 65 by 180 feet, three stories high, of brick, stone and iron, cement work, and interior fitted with all the latest conveniences for the purpose of training pupils.

Amos W. Barnes, architect and engineer, northwest corner Ninth and Walnut streets, informs us that he is ready for estimates on the construction of the addition to the garbage crematory to be erected at Atlantic City, N. J. The materials will chiefly consist of iron, brick, stone and cement work, sinking of piles which will be about 600 and the whole cover an area of about two acres of ground.

Plans have been finished by Harvey Shumway, Law Building, Atlantic City, for a handsome residence of four stories, which will be erected at Cooper street, Camden, for John Adams, of that place. It is to be of stone, brick and terra cotta, with dumb waiters, ornamental iron works, iron skylight, plate and stained glass, marble work, electric work and steam heating. It is roughly estimated to cost $20,000.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, JAN. 30, 1901.

Obituary.

Mr. Edw. M. Needles, formerly President of the Penn Mutual Life Insurance Co. of this city, died at his home, 1501 Green street, on Thursday last. Mr. Needles was largely known in business circles, and was at the time of his death one of the trustees of the Penn Mutual, having retired as its president owing to his advanced age.

Prosperous Progression.

The Penn Mutual Goes To The Front.

"A million a week" was the terse statement made by President Harry F. West, of the Penn Mutual Life, in referring to the new business of that company during the year 1900. Naturally he was gratified with it, and made it clear that even a larger volume could have been readily obtained had it been desirable. When questioned he said: "There was no special effort; there is always behind our representatives, who cover the country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the energizing and propulsive force of the management. Our vice-president and his assistants are always alert to get the fullest results, but no extra inducements were offered. We were content with such business as could be had on reasonable terms and be to the benefit of the entire membership."

The Penn Mutual is known as conservative, and the progress which it makes from year to year has been within right lines, none of the limitations and safeguards of the business being disregarded.

While there are many features of the report which confirm the opinion just expressed, nothing is more conclusive than an increase in the surplus, such as is shown by a comparison with the report of the preceding year. Noting the payments for death losses and contrasting their amount with those of the preceding year, when a smaller volume of insurance was carried, we find an exceptionally favorable mortality. On this point President West said: "During the four years, 1896-1899, our mortality was but 72 per cent. of that for which provision is made. Last year it was even more favorable, being but 68 per cent. of the expected. This is the result of careful selection, and is due somewhat, perhaps, to the fact that a large part of our entire membership has been insured within a few years.

Coincident with the large increase in membership there has been a corresponding addition to the premium and interest incomes, the total income from all sources being $10,925,981.50, which is a gain of $1,852,812.20. The interest income for the year was $2,114,442.85, being an increase of $165,521, and as usual was favorable. This amount is in excess of the interest requirement upon the company's high standard of reserve (34 per cent. assumption).

Policy holders or their representatives received during the year the handsome sum of $4,552,041.76, of which $907,050.50 was allowed in abatement of the premiums called for by their policies or accumulated in various funds for their benefit. The surrender values paid to withdrawing members amounted to $728,286.01. This is a feature of the business which calls for special consideration. To many men there comes a time when money is more needed than insurance, and they should be so placed as to make the exchange without loss.

The policies of the Penn Mutual stipulate for this, as also for loans thereon, when desired. During the year the company added to the reserve upon policies the sum of $3,732,084, the total fund now carried for the protection and benefit of members, exclusive of surplus for security and for dividend, being $43,898,149.09. The assets are safely and prudently invested under the direction of the Committee on Finance in city loans, mortgages and ground rents, railroad and water bonds, in loans to policy-holders and on collateral, and in real estate in use by the company, and purchased under foreclosure. President West, in speaking of the policy of the financial department, says "that its aim has been to so conduct purchases and sales of securities as to greatly strengthen and improve the holdings wherever possible."

After providing adequately for all the present and contingent liabilities, amounting to $37,859,562, the company has a gross surplus of $5,745,641.87. A considerable part of this is prudently carried for security in view of the possibility of lower interest earnings; which, we have said, we regard as remote; but it is well to leave nothing to conjecture. Beyond this is a considerable fund which will be allowed in reduction of premiums falling due in the current year and for accumulation.

We congratulate the directors and officers on the exhibit made. It is to be commended as showing a just, healthful and consistent growth which will further endear this Quaker institution to its many thousands of members throughout this country.

Architect Notes.

Plans have been completed by Architects W. L. Price & Bro., 731 Walnut street, for a new residence to be erected at Upper Providence township, Delaware county, Pa., for H. Percival Glendening, of this city. Detailed specifications are in course of preparation, and will be sent out for estimates with plans the early part of next week. The plan shows a two-story and basement building, measuring 55 by 45 feet, of stone construction, with the most approved interior conveniences.

Architect Philip H. Johnson, Betz Building, has finished plans for a six-story building of brick and steel work to be erected at 1430-32 Callowhill street for A. E. Ford, owner. Mr. Johnson will take estimates until Feb. 11th for the work. Fireproofing, cement work, excavation, stone and brick work, carpenter work, painting and glazing, plumbing and drainage, slag roof, galvanized iron work, metal and hardware, elevators, etc. Porter Thompson & Sons, Betz Building, have the drawings on boards.

Estimates are about to be invited for alterations to the residence at 1517 Girard avenue, under the direction of Architects W. L. Price & Bro., 731 Walnut street. The plans have been finished, and contractors are about to ask sub-bids. Same architects will prepare the plans for a residence for H. P. Glendening near the Rose Tree Club, Delaware county, Pa. It will be 55 by 45 feet, two stories high, and contain all conveniences. Details later. Other residences will be erected during the next few months in the same vicinity by Edward B. Chase and W. H. Stotesbury, of this city.

The contract for improvements to the property at 1309 Sanson street, for Weiser & Hendricks, for store and business purposes, has been awarded to Jacob Myers & Sons, by Architect Charles R. Lee. This work will include a new bulk window, a fourth story addition, new copper bay window on the second, third and fourth floors, and interior alterations. The estimated cost of the work is $9,000. Jacob Myers & Sons, Juniper and Sanson streets, and William R. Dougherty, 1604 Sanson street, are taking estimates on plans by Architect Kennedy & Kelsey, for alterations and additions to the property at 2004 Walnut street, for Arthur Lee. Both previously noted.

Architects Duhring, Okie & Ziegler, Crozer Building, have sent out plans and specifications for alterations and additions at 701, 708, 709, 711 and 713 Clymer street, for two-room tenements, for the Octavia Hill Association. Dr. George Woodward owns the property. Among those who will take sub-bids are: William J. Gruhler, 77 Herman street, Germantown; Appleton & Burrell, 1204 Chancellor street, and Harry B. Shoemaker & Co., 113 North Seventh street. Bids for all work, except plumbing and painting, will be received at this time. Same architects have completed the plans for a store building to be erected at Riverside, N. J., brick and stone materials used, with all conveniences. Estimates to be made at once by local contractors, and perhaps some from this city.

Hales & Ballinger, architects, 1200 Chestnut street, are receiving estimates on the one-story factory building for the Penna Process Company, to be built at Thirtieth street and Magazine lane, of brick, stone and iron work. The following builders are now receiving sub-bids for the work: W. R. Dougherty, 1604 Sanson street; Machin & Brown, 117 North Seventh street; The Sims Wilson, 1125 Brown street; Thomas M. Seeds, Jr., 1216 Race street;

D. A. McClelland, 515 South Twentieth street, and William W. Reas' Sons, 1819 Francis street. Same architects are engaged on plans for rebuilding the residence of H. H. Wisler, at Chalfonte, Pa., and turning the same into a home for aged people. It will be known as the Wisler Memorial Home for Aged People. An addition of a three story building with mansard roof 38 by 82 feet will be made. Brick and stone will be the materials chiefly, and the interior fitted with general conveniences, steam heat, electric work, etc. Estimates to be made at once.

Preliminary drawings have been made by Mr. Albert W. Dilks, architect and engineer, 1001 Chestnut street, for an apartment house to be erected in the near future by a city syndicate of capitalists in West Philadelphia. Exact location withheld at present. The structure will be twelve stories and basement, of Pompeian brick, with Indiana limestone trimmings and a steel skeleton. It is to be fireproof throughout. The basement will contain a barber shop, a bakery and storage rooms, boiler, engine, dynamo, refrigerators, pumping, smoking and shuffleboard rooms. The first story will have reception rooms, private dining rooms, the main dining room, 35 by 73 feet, and waiting rooms, while the second story, which is a typical floor plan, will contain eight suites of two rooms each, provided with private baths. A handsome wrought iron and glass porte cochere will cross the main entrance, and ornamental towers are to be placed at each corner of the building, which is figured to cost $400,000, exclusive of interior furnishings.

As indicated in these columns in previous issues, the plans for the new hotel to be erected at Wayne, Pa., by Mrs. Sank, owner, from plans by Mr. Lawrence Vischer Boyd, architect, Harrison Building, are now on boards of contractors for estimates. It will be known as Hotel Lancaster, and will be erected on the site of the Bellevue Hotel, which was destroyed by fire about a year ago. Bids will be submitted to Mr. Boyd on February 2. The new structure will have a frontage of 116 feet, and will be 112 feet deep. It will be built in a modified Spanish renaissance style of architecture, and among its many features will be a billiard room, bowling alleys and open fireplaces. It will be modern in every respect, the interior finishings to include open plumbing, hard and soft woods, electric lighting, steam heating and tile work. The hotel will be four stories in height, with a basement. The exterior walls will be constructed of red brick and pebble dashing, and the main and porch roofs will be covered with slate. The basement will contain a billiard room, bowling alleys, children's play room, bell boy's room, storeroom, winter kitchen and pantry, boiler room, bakery and coal bunkers. On the first floor will be the main hall, dining rooms and card room, parlor, lobby and ten bed rooms; on the second and third floors each twenty two bed rooms with bath rooms, and eighteen bed rooms with bath rooms on the fourth floor. The contractors who are taking sub-bids for the work include F. T. Maguire, Real Estate Trust Building; J. H. Jordan, 2118 Oxford street; Milt'n Young, Overbrook; F. S. Riggs, 1580 Chestnut street; Harry B. Shoemaker & Co., 113 North Seventh street; the Philip Anns Company, 1001 Chestnut street; Cramp Building Company, 1421 Filbert street, and John D. Leugel, Wayne. Mr. Boyd is taking bids at his office for elevators, steam heating electric lighting and tile work, which are not included in the general contract.

Contractor William J. Patterson, of Chestnut Hill, will build a large lumber storage shed, 50x96 feet, which he will build on the west side of Prospect avenue, 205 feet east of New street, in the Twenty-second ward. The shed will be constructed with yellow pine posts, trusses and a roof. The exterior will be inclosed with galvanized corrugated iron nine feet high from the ground, and the remainder will be inclosed with slats, similar to other lumber sheds. The shed will be built for Jesse Roberts. The estimated cost is $1,200.

The Council of Allied Building Trades held its annual meeting on the 25th inst., and elected officers to serve for the new term. There was no clash of opinions on any question before the Council, and the meeting elected the old officers by practically a unanimous vote. The officers elected were as follows: President, H. Joseph Bradley; Vice-president, M. Collins; Secretary, R. T. Mitchell; Treasurer, Thomas Maguire; Sergeant-at-Arms, Harry Hawkins; Trustees, E. W. Beers, Walter MacIntire and Harry Scott.

Builder Charles B. Pretzman, Broad and Catherine streets, will at once start to put up twenty-two houses and two stores and dwellings, in the Thirty-ninth ward, to cost $125,000. The houses will each be three stories high, and they will be erected on the east side of Broad street, between Porter and Shunk streets. These will have brick and brownstone fronts. The stores and dwellings will be built at the southeast corner of Broad and Porter streets and at the northeast corner of Broad and Shunk streets. All of the structures will have flat slag roofs and be heated by hot air.

Contractors Thomas Little & Son, 1222 Clover street, secured the contract and started work at once on improvements to cost $7,200, at 1123 Walnut street, for W. W. Frazier, and at the northeast corner of Twenty-third and DeLancey streets, for Nathan Trotter, to cost $5,900. The plans for the Walnut street work were made by Architects Furness, Evans & Co. They show a new bulk window, with beams and jam boxes to carry the walls and interior alterations. The improvements are on the new line of Walnut street. The Trotter work was planned by Architects Baker & Dallett, and it will consist of erecting a new rear building, changing interior portions, and new copper bank windows on the front and rear. Both previously noted.

On the 23d inst. Councils Committee on Surveys visited old Christ's P. E. Church and vicinity to gain the necessary information to act intelligently on the ordinance now before that body concerning the betterment of the historic church from destruction by fire. A Citizens' Committee were also present to urge reasons for the passage of the ordinance. If the proposed changes are made, the building will be clear of access from Filbert street on the north and Church street on the south; new street will be laid out from Church to Filbert at the rear. The plan, which is embodied in an ordinance authorizing the changes, also provides for the tearing down of a strip of buildings fronting the west side of Second street from the church to Market street, to give a better view of the historic spot from the south.

The contract for laying the new high pressure water mains to protect the business centre of the city against fire, bids for which were opened on Monday last, were given to the Hoffman Engineering Company, the lowest of the two bidders. Neither the bid of the Hoffman Company nor that of its only competitor for the work came within the $300,000 appropriated. To overcome this it was decided to eliminate from the contract, as it will be given the Hoffman Company, that part of the work required under the specifications to be done on Arch street, between Tenth and Broad streets. The Hoffman Company is prepared to begin work within a few days after receiving the contract. The Mayor has sent in to City Councils for an appropriation for repairs to bridges, $150,000; also $10,000 for repairs to sewers.

The apportionment of money for new school-houses, alterations, additions and repairs was announced on the 23d inst. by the Committee on Schools, which met in conjunction with the Board of Education's Committee on Property. The apportionment as finally agreed, to go to the Finance Committee, is as follows: For new school buildings, Thirty-sixth section, $72,000; Thirty-third section, $72,000; Twenty-second section, $25,000; Twenty-seventh section, $60,000; Eleventh section, $30,000. For additions to schools, Twenty-first section, to the Wissahickon school, wings to the Baldwin school, $25,000; Thirty-second section, addition to the Canase school, $15,000. For lots for schools, First section, $40,000; Seventeenth section, $7,000; Thirty-third section, $23,000; Thirty-fourth section, $15,000; Thirty-eighth section, $25,000; Forty-first section, $10,000; Thirty-fifth section, $1,600; Thirty-ninth section, $25,000; Thirty-first section, $5,100. In addition to those amounts the following were also recommended, provided the Finance Committee can find the money: Fifteen thousand dollars for completing the Northwest Grammar School, $6,500 for properties condemned adjoining the Wharton school.

William H. Brown, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, has awarded the following contracts: To Thomas F. Kerns & Son, of Pottsville, the contract for additional tracks between Juniata Bridge and Aqueduct Station, on the Middle Division, requiring about 100,000 cubic yards of embankment and 8,000 cubic yards of rip-rap. The Twentieth Century has commenced under the most happy auspices for our American commercial and manufacturing interests.

Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and ship ards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Ro, al Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Architect Notes.

Architect Samuel D. Conyer, of Camden, N. J., is making preliminary plans for eight brick and frame houses, to be erected at Lansdale, Pa. The work will cost about $16,000.

The contract for the handsome residence for E. S. Beale, as planned by Furness, Evans & Co., and previously noted in these columns, will probably be awarded in time to start work in the early spring.

Contractors F. L. Hoover & Son, 709 Ransdend street, have just closed a contract with Architect W. C. Pritchett, of this city, for the new stable building, which will be erected at Gmssland, Pa., for Mr. W. Paddock.

Francis A. Gugert, architect, Wayne, Delaware county, Pa., has made plans for a residence to be erected at that place for a local owner. It will be of stone, brick and frame work, and contain all the latest improvements.

A number of Philadelphia architects have been asked to prepare plans for the new city hall and court house, to be erected at Newark, N. J. All designs must be in by April 1, current year. It is estimated the structure will cost $2,000,000.

Jacob Myers & Sons, Juniper and Sansom streets, are among the contractors who were requested to submit revised bids on the handsome Matthews residence, at Rosemont, Pa. Okie, Duhring & Ziegler, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, will direct the work.

George T. Pearson, architect, 427 Walnut street, is making plans for a residence for Conyers Button of this city. It will be erected on Upsal street, Germantown and will be three stories high, stone and brick, interior to contain every modern comfort.

All estimates for the extensive alterations and additions to the residence of Arthur Lee, at 2004 Walnut street, have been submitted by Architects Kennedy & Kelsey, who have the matter under consideration, and who will probably make the award in a few days.

Simon & Caldwell, 1229 Walnut street, have finished plans for three new dwellings for Scull and McClellan, which will be built at Atlantic City. They are to be of stone and brick, three stories, and bids will be asked the early part of this week. Previously noted.

Engineer F. H. Drake & Co., Drexel Building, have plans under way for a large brick and iron power house, to be constructed near Elkton, Md., for the Elkton, Cherry Hill & Chesapeake City Railroad Company. The same firm has planned a similar building at Chesapeake City, Md., for the same company.

Plans have been finished by Architect Benjamin H. Barton, Stephen Girard Building, for an operation of twenty-four new face brick dwellings, with stone trimmings and the usual modern conveniences. These are to be situated at Hansbury street and Wissahickon avenue, and will be three stories in height, measuring 16x51 feet each.

Architect Edward Hazlehurst, formerly of Hazlehurst & Huckle, has awarded contracts to Arthur H. Williams' Sons for the erection of the store and apartment house, on the site of the old Pancoast mansion, at the southwest corner of Eleventh and Walnut streets, and for the five store buildings, to be built on Eleventh street, south of Walnut street.

Architects Duhring, Okie & Ziegler, Crozer Building, 1420 Chestnut street, are at work on sketches for alterations and additions to a hotel at Delanco, N. J. The work will be done in the Spanish style of architecture, and the materials to be used will include brick and pebble-dashing, the latest plumbing, steam or hot water heating and electric lighting.

The contract for the new office structure for the Commercial Banking Company and the Pennsylvania Railroad at Fifteenth and Market streets will not be awarded for ten days or two weeks, as many of the sub-bids for detail work will have to be considered. Furness Evans & Co., architects, Provident Life Building, Fourth and Chestnut streets, are in full charge.

The competitive drawings for the Commonwealth Trust Company's new office building, to be erected at the northwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, are to be completed about April 1, and submitted to the building committee. It is understood Cope & Stewardson, Seymour Davis, Herman Miller and Newman, Woodman & Harris will make sketches.

Architects Heacock & Hokanson, 931 Chestnut street, have plans about completed for a two-story brick and frame dwelling, to be built near Elkins Station, on the Philadelphia and Reading Railway. Usual dwelling house conveniences will be installed. In the same office plans are well under way for another residence, to be located at Atlantic City, of stone and shingles, three stories in height.

F. T. Maguire, Real Estate Trust Building; R. Monroe Stout, 1215 Filbert street, and the Pinkerton Construction Company, 41 South Fifteenth street, are taking sub-bids on plans by Engineer A. H. Engstrom, Bullitt Building, for the new power house to be built for the Beaver Valley Traction Company, near Rochester, Pa. Bids close on February 10. Previously noted in full.

The general contract for the new fire-house building, to be erected at Tennessee and Atlantic avenues, Atlantic City, will probably be awarded to Builders Siles and McClay, of Atlantic City, whose bid was the lowest submitted. The structure, as planned by Architect S. Hudson Vaughn, will be two stories and basement, of brick, stone and iron, and will have all of the latest appointments and improvements.

Harry B. Shoemaker & Co., 118 North Seventh street, are taking sub-bids on Architect Charles E. Oelschlager's plans for alterations and additions at 146 North Tenth street, for Alexander & Thalheimer. The same contractors are receiving sub-bids for a bowling alley, with large dormitories on the second floor at the Philadelphia Yacht Club, according to plans by Architect J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street.

The contract for the erection of the handsome residence to be built at 155 Eighteenth street, Washington, D. C., for Mrs. E. H. C. Slater, according to plans by Architect Horace Trumbauer, of this city, has just been awarded to Contractors Doyle & Donk, also of this city. The house will be three stories high, and it will measure 45.4x76.8 feet. The exterior walls will be constructed of granite, brick and limestone. Previously noted in full.

The University of Georgia has sent out invitations to architects for plans and specifications, together with the estimated cost, for a three-story dormitory building and a mess hall, to be built of brick, which it is proposed to build on the campus at Athens, Ga. The designs are called for March 1. The project is in the hands of A. L. Hull, secretary, Athens, Ga.; B. A. Denmark, Savannah, Ga.; Henry D. M. Daniel, Monroe, Ga.; George F. Guber, Marietta, Ga.

Horace Trumbauer, Land Title and Trust Building, has made plans and specifications for extensive alterations and additions to be made to the residence of Percy C. Maderia, at Jenkintown, Pa. This building is stone and frame, and the new work will be of the same materials. In addition to the new portion, extensive improvements will be introduced in the original building, and the latest furnishings, hardwood finish, tile and marble work will be embraced in the specifications. Estimates to be made at once.

Plans and specifications have been completed by Architect Charles E. Oelschlager, Harrison Building, for improvements to cost about $6000 to the store and factory building at 146 North Tenth street, for Messrs. Alexander and Thalheimer, owners. A four story and basement rear addition, 20x50 feet, will be built. Mill construction and iron frame will be used throughout. The specifications provide for fire escapes, steam heating, slag roofing, galvanized iron bay windows and cornices, plate glass windows and marble work. Proposals for the work will be submitted to Mr. Oelschlager late this week. The following general contractors are taking sub-bids: John R. Wiggins, 1215 Heed Building; William R. Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street; David A. McClelland, 515 South Twentieth street; Joseph Bird, 1629 Race street, and Machin & Brown, 147 North Seventh street.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, FEB. 6, 1901.

If an example of expeditious American home construction work should be given in any of the big European cities, it would certainly surprise their citizens to witness the rapidity of the American mechanic when at his best and working under an incentive.

Peter S. Vaukir, a Paterson, N. J. builder, recently wagged that he could build and complete a two-story brick structure in five hours. Work was commenced at 1 P. M. on last Saturday. In one and a-half hours the walls were up. At 4 P. M. the structure was completed. It was roofed and ready for a tenant fifteen minutes before the five hours had expired and it required a force of 75 men to do the work.

Architect Notes.

Plans and specifications have been sent out by Architects Wilson Bros. & Co., for alterations and additions to the property at the southeast corner of Ninth and Pine streets, for the Young Women's Boarding Home Association. Proposals will be submitted to the architects at once. The following general contractors are now receiving sub-bids: Thomas Little & Son, William J. Grubler, Lewis Havens' Sons, George F. Payne & Co., Ashton S. Tourison and W. A. Hurlock & Son. Previously noted in full.

Plans and specifications are out by Architect Carl P. Berger, 14 South Broad street, for the new market house to be erected at Seventeenth and Federal streets, for the Federal Market Company. Bids are asked for in two ways - for a one-story structure, and for a two-story building, with lodge rooms. Several dwellings will also be built. Proposals will be submitted to Mr. Berger at once. The following contractors are receiving sub-bids: Doyle & Doak, Harry Kuemmerle, Machin & Brown, Geo. F. Payne & Co., John R. Wiggins and Thomas M. Seeds, Jr.

Plans and specifications have been completed and can be seen in the office of Builders Philip Anns Company, 1001 Chestnut street, for a large hotel to be built at Asbury Park, N. J., for George B. Turrell, Jr. The architects for this work are Delatash & Dodge, and drawings show a four-story and basement brick and stone structure, built with every improvement, and located on the northwest corner of Grand and Sewall avenues, Asbury Park. The interior will be finished in hardwoods, having electric lighting, bells, wiring, and steam heating. The structure will measure 87x57 feet.

Contracts have just been signed by Theodore Finkenauer, owner, and Builder William Techlenberg for a new stock house, which will be erected immediately on Germantown avenue, above Columbia avenue. The plans for the work were made by Architect and Engineer Otto C. Wolf, 1345 Arch street, and the cost for the building and equipment is estimated at $75,000. The main building will be four stories high, and it will measure 71x73 feet.

This structure will be put up on the site mentioned above. A boiler house, 40x73 feet, will be built on Fifth street. This will contain four 150-horse power boilers. A custodist's smoke stack, 125 feet high, will also be built. When this work is completed a large brew house will be erected on the corner of Germantown and Columbia avenues.

Frank R. Watson, architect, 1208 Chestnut street, has awarded the contract for alteration and additions to the Northern Savings Fund Bank at the southeast corner Sixth and Spring Garden streets. Cost about $1,000. Mr. Watson has also asked estimates until February 15 for extensive improvements to be made at the Church of Our Mother of Sorrows, Forty-eighth street, below Lancaster avenue, of which Rev. John J. McCort is rector. The work will consist of new oak pews, aisles, altars, sanctuary and interior remodeling and decorating. The specifications provide for brick and stone work, carpenter work, mill work, lumber, iron, painting, hardware, roofing, gas piping, plastering, sanctuary rail, gates and tabernacle doors, tile work, electric wiring, gas and electric fixtures, candlesticks for altars, etc. The following builders are figuring: James Hector, 4625 Lancaster avenue; C. Kiely, 1933 Orleans street; J. Doyle, 878 North Forty-sixth street; John McShane, 2117 Appleton street; William McShane, 1517 South Thirteenth street, and Thomas Reilly, 1616 Thompson street.

Plans for Porto Rican school houses are being drawn by students of the Architectural Department of the University of Pennsylvania. Several days ago Dr. Brumbaugh, Commissioner of Education for Porto Rico, wrote Professor Laird, head of the Architectural Department, requesting him to have the students draw plans for the new school houses which the United States Government proposes to erect on the island. Professor Laird immediately put the students to work. The plans will be perfected in a few days and sent to Dr. Brumbaugh for his approval. The general style of the plans will be somewhat similar to those of American school houses. They are to be not more than two stories in height. They will be built of stone and wood and will vary in size, according to the population of the neighborhood in which they are built. In San Juan, Ponce, and other cities six and eight-room school houses will be erected, while in the suburban districts four rooms will be the usual size. Especial attention will be paid to sanitary arrangements, and in cases where the amount of ground will permit, flower gardens will be laid out. The average cost of the school houses will be less than $10,000.

A number of general contractors have received plans and specifications for the construction of B. F. Keith's new Chestnut street theatre, which will be built on Chestnut street, west of Eleventh street. Architect Albert E. A complete description of the proposed playhouse has already been published in these columns. The specifications, which accompany the plans, provide for concrete foundations, cement, mortar and concrete work, brick work, iron, steel and cast steel, expanded metal floors, plaster, cut stone and granite. The builders who will take sub-bids for the work are Doyle & Doak, 1509 Sansom street; William Steele & Sons, Witherspoon Building; George F. Payne & Co., 401 South Juniper street; W. A. and A. E. Wells and the George A. Fuller Company. Stephen Girard Building; Roydhouse, Arey & Co., 1208 Fidelity Building; Stacy Reeves & Sons, J. E. & A. L. Penneck, 605 Walnut street. The Bureau of Yards and Docks at Washington, D. C., have notified the Atlantic and Gulf Construction Company to either sign the contract, recently awarded for the League Island dry dock and proceed with the work, or give notice of its refusal to do so in a reasonable time. gle mansard roof. The latest improvements will be contained in the interior, including plumbing, hot air heating, etc. Mr. McClelland will start work as soon as the weather permits.

The concentration of the American Bridge Trust and interests at and around the Pencoyd Iron Works at Wissahickon, in this city, is bound to necessitate a large increase of dwellings in that vicinity. A large body of employees will be transferred to the works here from other cities, who will require homes accessible to their employment. It only requires the spring months, we believe, to open up both a field for investment and that of labor as well.

The Bureau of Building Inspection has granted a permit to Rev. Herbert Hammeke, rector of St. Bonaventura's Roman Catholic Church, last week, to build the new edifice at Ninth and Cambria streets, to cost $75,000. Building Inspection for a large slaughter house, which will be erected near Forty-sixth street and Paschall avenue, for Beiswanger Bros., according to drawings prepared by Architect Hartman Grau. The structures will measure 234 feet 8 inches by 174 feet in general dimensions, and they will be four, three and two stories in height. The necessary departments will be provided, including killing rooms, sausage room, cold storage room, cattle pens, stalls, engine and boiler room, etc.

F. L. Hoover & Son, 709 Ranstead street, have plans on the boards for the extensive alterations and additions to the late home of H. H. Wisler, at Chalfonte, Pa. This property is to be remodeled and furnished for use as a home for the aged, and the work will be done in accordance with plans by Hales & Ballinger, 1200 Chestnut street. Estimates are required by February 16, and the following materials are called for in the specifications: Cut stone work, hardwood interior finish, hardware, gas fitting and drilage, slate roofing, sheet metal work, screens, tank tower, lavatories, wash tubs, hangings, etc. Large porches will surround the entire structure.

The Board of City Surveyors on the 4th instant revised the plan of Rhawn street, Frankford, widening it from 50 to 60 feet, the extension being made on the south side of the street, from Dittman street to Erdrick street, while from the latter street to Frankford road it will be widened 2 feet on the north side, and 7 feet on the south side. Between Frankford avenue and Craig street it is moved 6 feet southward to avoid interfering with a building at the corner of Rhawn and Frankford avenue. Action was deferred upon the relocation of the Traction Company's tracks from the sides of Old York road to the middle of the road, between points bounded by Clamport street and Clarkson avenue.

An opinion was filed by Judge Penrose, in the Orphans' Court, on February 1, to the effect that the sale of the Hotel Lafayette, belonging to the Morro Phillips estate, is to take place unless a more advantageous offer should be obtained within thirty days. The matter was argued recently in the Orphans' Court in banc on exceptions to the report of James C. Stillwell, the master, who heard the testimony and who recommended that the hotel should be sold to Wesley F. Pike, for $1,250,000, as proposed by the trustees of the estate. The master's report directs that Mr. Pike shall pay $250,000 of the purchase money in cash, the remaining $1,000,000 to be capitalized in the form of ground rent to be reserved out of the premises and to yield 4 per cent. The Girard Trust Company, as trustee, is to enter $2,500,000 security.

It is the earnest desire of Director of Public Works Haddock to extend the widening and improvement of Delaware avenue and the river front from Vigue to Green streets, and he is exerting every effort to accomplish the same, as previously noted in these columns. along the line of the proposed improvement on the question of damages arising from the widening of that thoroughfare. An ordinance passed Councils several months ago directing the Director of Public Works to confer with the owners of property along Delaware avenue and ascertain the amount of damages that are likely to be incurred in making the improvement, and endeavor to effect an adjustment of the same. A conference on the subject was held on the 4th instant by the Director and Chief Webster, of the Bureau of Surveys, with Vice-President Voorhees and Chief Engineer Hunter, of the Philadelphia & Reading Railway Company, and Joseph D. Ellis, representing the Knickerbocker Ice Company; David M. Ellis and Alexander Kerr, all property owners, but no conclusion on the damage question was reached. When the adjustment of the claims has been reached, a report, showing the amount of money that will be needed to condemn the property, will be prepared and forwarded to Councils, and an appropriation to pay for the same will be made by those bodies.

An important decision has been rendered by President Judge Pennypacker, of Common Pleas Court No. 2, last week, in the litigations which have been pending for several years between the Philadelphia Trust, Safe Deposit and Insurance Company, trustees of the estate of George W. Conarroe, deceased, Maria C. Vinton, Andrew F. Borriot and others, complainants, and Constantine G. A. Loder and Herman E. Bouschur, defendants. The defendants are owners of the properties 1541, 1539, 1537, 1535 and 1533 Chestnut street, respectively, all of which were originally owned by Thomas Estlack in 1824. At that time the width of Chestnut street was 66 feet. Estlack, in making the subsequent conveyances of the separate lots by which the defendants became the present owners, provided that Chestnut street should be enlarged on the north side by throwing out a strip of ground 6 feet in width and extending the full length of the frontage on Chestnut. In 1896 Loder removed the brick building at 1541 Chestnut street and began the erection of the present building, the front of which is 1 foot south of the north line provided for in Estlack's deeds. This action of Loder was followed by Bouschur rebuilding at 1533 out to the same line. In the meantime the complainants had built the two intervening properties, Nos. 1535 and 1537, on the line marked out by Estlack, and the effect of the defendants' encroachments was to leave the complainants' stores in a recess of a foot or more, which interferes with their display of goods. The Judge finds that there was practically a dedication of the strip of ground by Estlack, which the city accepted. He therefore concludes that the defendants should be directed to remove that part of their buildings which infringes on the highway.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Some Portland Cements may show a high tensile strength at a short period, and yet be so defective that the work done with them will disintegrate with age. This is due to imperfect composition. The Dyckerhoff brand is invariably of correct chemical composition, and the work done with it is invariably strong and absolutely durable.

Architect Notes.

Isaac Pursell, 119 South Fourth street, has sent out a set of revised plans for the new church edifice which is to be built at Oak Lane, Pa., for St. Martin's Protestant Episcopal congregation.

Thomas Reilly, 1616 Thompson street, is taking sub-bids for a parochial residence for the Church of the Holy Angels, Oak Lane. Architect Howard Hager made the plans; previously noted.

Architect C. E. Rahn, 410 Walnut street, will revise the plans for the three-story store building at the northwest corner of Second and Race streets, for John Livezey, of Chestnut Hill; previously noted.

Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut street, has on boards plans for a three-story brick and stone house for the use of the principal of the George School at Newton, Pa. It will contain all the latest conveniences.

Heacock & Hokanson, architects, 981 Chestnut street, will again take bids on the house to be erected at Longport, N. J., from plans made in their office and fully noted previously in these columns. Bids previously made were too high.

Architect Mantle Fielding, 110 South Fourth street, has awarded the contract for a cottage to be built at Larchmont for Mrs. T. B. Richards, to George Watson, of Rochelle. Mr. Fielding will receive sub-bids for electric work and other materials at his office.

Architects Heacock & Hokanson, 981 Chestnut street, have completed plans and preliminary specifications for a two and one-half story stone residence in the suburbs for private parties. It will be 50 feet front by 60 feet in depth, and is roughly estimated to cost $7000.

Contractors Machin & Brown are figuring on new stairways and iron work in connection with other minor improvements to the store of N. Snellenburg & Company, at Twelfth and Market streets. W. L. Plack, 1408 Filbert street, prepared the drawings and will receive all bids.

D. Judge DeNean, architect, Ardmore, Pa., has completed the drawings for the new high school to be erected upon the site of the one lately destroyed by fire at the above place. Contractors M. P. Wells & Co., 1420 Chestnut street, and other contractors will likely be invited to bid during the coming week.

Wilson Eyre, Jr., 929 Chestnut street, has plans out for bids on alterations and additions to the residence of John Lambert, at Noble Station, Pa. Hoover & Son are also figuring on this work, and the general contract embraces electric pump, plumbing, hot air heating, painting and glazing, hardware, bells, etc.

E. F. Durang, architect, 1200 Chestnut street, is engaged on plans for a Roman Catholic church to be erected at Atlantic City, N. J. It will cost about $50,000 and be of stone and brick work, steam heat, electric work and every convenience, etc. No contracts have as yet been let or estimates made.

Joseph Huston, architect, Witherspoon Building, has on boards plans for Walter Stradling for improvements to house, 2064 East Cumberland street. The structure is 16x74 feet, three stories high and will have brown-stone trimmings, electric work, hardwood finish and all the latest conveniences introduced.

Charles Douglas, architect, 1313 South Nineteenth street, has plans under way for two new stone and frame dwellings for private parties, to be built at Oak Lane. They will be equipped with electric wiring and bells, speaking tubes, tile and marble work, hardwood finish, and will probably cost $5000 each.

Burd P. Evans, of this city, is asking for sub-bids on the new church building to be erected at Sixtieth street and Girard avenue for the Girard Avenue Baptist congregation. Plans are by Architects Heacock & Hokanson. It is to be one-story and basement, measuring 42 x 83 feet, with class rooms and primary departments.

Schermerhorn & Reinhold, architects, 430 Walnut street, have made plans for alterations and additions to 435 North Broad street, for T. Broom Belfield. The work will embrace carpentering, mason work, exterior and interior fittings, etc. Henderson & Company, 1215 Filbert street, and R. Monroe Stout, 1215 Filbert street, are estimating on the job.

Architects Duhring, Okie & Ziegler, 1424 Chestnut street, have awarded the contract for alterations and additions and remodeling the properties at 701, 708, 709, 711 and 713 Clymer street, for the Octavia Hill Association, to Harry B. Shoemaker & Co. The contracts for plumbing and painting will be awarded separately at some future time.

Bailey & Truscott, architects, 421 Chestnut street, have made drawings for alterations and additions to the old residence, 922 Clinton street. These contemplate quite an extensive range of work and materials. The house is owned by Mr. C. W. Bailey. Jno. R. Wiggins, 1215 Filbert street; R. C. Ballinger, 215 North Thirteenth street, and Jacob Myers and A. R. Raff, contractors, are bidding.

Milligan & Webber, architects, 520 Walnut street, have made plans for a restaurant and store to be built at Letitia and Market streets for Edward Brady, owner. The structure will be of brick and stone, four stories high and contain steam heat, electric work, elevator lift and all conveniences. Machin & Brown, contractors, 147 North Seventh street, are making estimates on the drawings.

The new Federal Building for Indianapolis,

Ind., to cost $1,000,000, will be built under the supervision of Rankin & Kellogg, 1024 Walnut street, this city, whose plans were accepted after competition with architects of Indianapolis and different parts of the country. It is to be a large four-story marble building, with thirteen columns supporting a heavy front entablature. Previously noted.

H. F. Adams, architect, Atlantic City, N. J., has placed on boards of Philip Auns Co., 1001 Chestnut street, the drawings for the six-story apartment house to be built for Walter E. Edge at Atlantic and Pennsylvania avenues. As previously noted it is to be of brick, stone and iron work and fitted on interior with elevators, electric work, tile and mosaic work, steam heat and all modern comforts.

Architect T. Frank Miller, Lippincott Building, Twelfth and Filbert streets, has awarded the contract for the erection of a $12,000 residence at Elkins station to Contractor D. W. Sperry, of this city. The house will be a three-story structure, 36x40 feet, and it will be built of stone and have a slate roof. It will contain fourteen rooms and the interior fittings will include hard woods, tile work, steam heating and electric lighting.

The Board of Managers of the Pennsylvania Hospital have awarded a contract to George Watson & Son to construct a vault to receive a garbage burner, at the hospital grounds, east side of Ninth street, between Spruce and Pine streets, to cost $2000. The materials to be used in construction are stone, cement and sand, I-beams, columns, brick and granolithic pavement. Work will be started on Monday. Architect Addison Hutton made the plans.

At a meeting of Councils' Committee on Soldiers' Monuments held on the 5th inst the question of asking for competitive drawings was taken up. Prominent architects will be requested to submit designs for the monument projected. The appropriation carries $3,000 for the erection of a suitable memorial to the memory of Philadelphians who participated in the Rebellion, and it is proposed that when completed the monument will be placed in one of the city squares. The exact site has not yet been decided upon, and will probably not be taken up until the plans are considered.

The estimates for a new cabin passenger building to be built at the Delaware Breakwater for the United States Quarantine Station have been submitted to the supervising architect of the Treasury, James Knox Taylor, as follows: R. C. Ballinger & Co., Philadelphia, $3814; Hoover & Son, Philadelphia, $10,750; J. A. Griffith, Lewes, Del., $548; W. H. & F. W. Carr, New York, $10,797, and W. H. Verden, Lewes, Del., $6548. It is likely the contract will be awarded at once. Bids are now asked by the above-named architect for a heating plant to be erected at the U. S. Post Office, Annapolis, Md.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, FEB. 13, 1901.

N. & G. Taylor Co.'s Tinplate Works.

N. & G. Taylor Co., tinplate manufacturers, have just erected at their tinplate works in Philadelphia, a large and commodious machine shop, complete in every way, with the most modern machinery, turning lathes, drills, shapers, forges, emery wheels, etc. They have also lately added two tinning stacks, making now twenty-five in all. Their tin house is acknowledged to be in its complete equipment, the finest in the world. They are running to their full capacity and report a most excellent business in all their departments. They have also given out the contract for an additional building for their assorting and warehouse department, which will give them much greater facilities for prompt handling and shipping goods. The recent large additions to their rolling mills at Cumberland, Md., necessitate the above improvements.

The "Mercer" Steam And Hot Water Boiler.

The H. B. Smith Co.'s "Mercer" Boiler, while a great favorite in the trade, is more especially so with those who were fortunate in giving it the preference at the time of selection and who by practical daily experience in cold weather know its value and reliability better than all the theorists under the sun.

Hot water heating with a "Mercer" boiler, especially for residences, is a revelation and those who are ignorant of its wonderful efficiency in distributing a uniform heat to all parts of the house, however remote, can form no proper idea of its many advantages.

The "Mercer" boiler is so simple in construction and so thoroughly free from complication that any child that can care for a small hot air furnace can control it without the least difficulty with sufficient radiation. It is an immense fuel saver and the temperature of the water is so easily maintained that it requires no forcing. The heat is free from fluctuation; this means that a uniform heat can be maintained for an indefinite period, and with water circulation the house will remain warm for hours after the fire has been extinguished.

With the H. B. Smith Co.'s "Mercer" boiler and John C. F. Trachsel, 230 Arch street, to instal the plant, there will be no room for guessing as to the result. We know whereof we speak through experience as well as editorially.

Architect Notes.

Several local architects have submitted competitive plans for extensive alterations and additions which will be made at the Rittenhouse club house, at 1811-15 Rittenhouse Square. The work in the specification calls for improvements to the front and enlarged entrance of classical design, generally remodeling of the interior and every modern club house improvement. Messrs. Lewis and Cresswell are in charge of the contemplated improvements for the club, and an architect is to be selected immediately. The cost will exceed $30,000, excluding the interior furnishings. Working drawings will be started immediately upon the selection of the architect.

H. L. A. Jekel, architect, 1001 Chestnut street, is preparing plans for a house for himself to be erected at Glenside, Pa. The house will be a three-story structure, 72x81 feet, and among the conveniences to be provided are verandas, sun parlor and a porte-cochere. Eleven rooms will be located on the first floor, six rooms and a stair hall on the second, and a billiard room, two servants' rooms, and bath room on the third floor. All the latest improvements will be introduced in the new residence. A two-story brick stable, 18.5x32 feet, will be constructed on the rear of the lot. This will contain a carriage room, two stalls and a box stall on the first floor, coachmen's quarters and hay loft on the second floor. The latest improved stable equipments will be introduced.

It will be constructed of brick, stone, steel and will be entirely fireproof. As it will be on the site of the present store, it will be built in quarters, so as not to stop business. When completed it will measure 350x476 feet, and will be one of the largest and finest department stores in the world. It is estimated that its cost will be about $5,000,000.

Addison Hutton, architect, 400 Chestnut street, has now completed the previously started plans for the factory to be rebuilt at the northwest corner of Seventh and Spring Garden streets for Mitchell Fletcher & Co., Twelfth and Chestnut streets, and placed the drawing on boards of contractors for estimates which will be completed by the 18th inst. The work will consist of extending the present building south to the building line, the insertion of two new floors, making a four-story structure, and the erection of a boiler house and a stack. Proposals for the work will be submitted to Mr. Hutton next Monday. The following general contractors are taking sub-bids: George Watson & Sons, 905 Marshall street; Walter Thompson, 914 Walnut street; William Steele & Sons, Wither-spoon Building, and R. C. Ballinger & Co., 218 North Thirteenth street.

The same firm are planning extensive alterations and additions to a residence at Chestnut Hill for a Philadelphian, but bids for the latter work are not ready to be taken at this time.

Architects Hales & Ballinger, southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, are at work on drawings for a handsome residence to be erected in Roxborough, at a cost of about $5000. It will be a three-story structure, 32x36 feet, and it will be constructed in the Colonial style of architecture. There will be front, side and rear porches, and the interior will be fitted up with hard woods throughout, hot water heating, modern plumbing, etc. The architects will be ready to bid in about a week. The same firm are at work on plans for a new Methodist Church, to be built at Seventeenth and Cayuga streets. It will measure 50x75 feet, and have a seating capacity for about 500 persons. Stone and brick will be used for the exterior walls, and the roof will be covered with slate. This is the first step towards the erection of a handsome edifice by the congregation. Same architects will receive proposals at noon on February 16 for alterations and additions for the Wisler Memorial Baptist Home for Old People, at Chalfont, Pa. The general contractors in this city figuring on the work are: J. Sims Wilson, 1127 Brown street; F. L. Hoover & Son, 713 Ranstead street; H. G. The Twentieth Century has commenced under the most happy auspices for our American commercial and manufacturing interests.

Congratulations are in order, and we earnestly extend ours to those identified with the building interests of this section.

As all roads use to lead to Rome, so now all roads lead to the Yankee shops and forges, mills and shipyards, factories and farms of this great Republic.

We are a large part of this immense proposition, and we congratulate ourselves that the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware is made in the country that heads the procession in the march of nations.

The Royal Purple may be a good thing for the Kings and Princes of the old world, but the Yankee's forge, with its smut and grime, is just now cutting a wider swath than all the Royal Purple in Christendom.

With increased facilities we are better prepared in 1901 to meet the popular demand for our products than ever before.

Our great desire is to have you for a patron of the Russell & Erwin Building Hardware. Buy it! Try it! And you will use no other.

Architect Notes.

The contract for alterations and additions at 146 North Tenth street for Alexander & Thalheimer have been signed by Builder John R. Wiggins. Architect Charles E. Oelschlagel made the plans.

It is stated at the office of John J. Short & Bro., who purchased the old City Troop Armory, Twenty-first and Market streets, for $50,000, that competitive plans are now being made for the erection of a new stable on the site, to cost $50,000.

Charles M. Burns, architect, 717 Walnut street, has on boards drawings for alterations and additions to St. Andrew's P. E. Church, at Mt. Holly, N. J. The work will be upon the exterior and interior as well and embrace quite a variety of materials.

Benjamin Ketcham's Sons have plans for the new chapel and parochial school of St. Francis De Sale's parish, Forty-seventh street and Springfield avenue, for Rev. J. H. O'Neill. The building will be four stories high, 47.10x75.7 feet, built of stone and Indiana limestone.

M. H. and C. S. Dickinson, 1814 Westmoreland street, have on boards plans for a cold storage plant to be erected at Rochester, N. Y. It will be of brick, stone, iron and cement work, and including boiler house, engine, etc. Cost about $500,000. Estimates are being made on the work.

Architect Horace Trumbauer, Land Title building, has sent out revised plans and specifications for alterations to P. C. Maderia's residence, at Ogontz. Among the contractors taking sub-bids are F. L. Hoover & Son, 708 Jayne street, and D. W. Sperry, 1805 Arch street. Bids close this week.

Carl Berger, architect, 14 South Broad street, has been instructed by the Federal Market Company, at Seventeenth and Federal streets, to revise plans for their new market house to be built at that site and make it a three story structure instead of two, as at first intended. New estimates will be asked when the details have been arranged.

Charles Auchter has the contract for improvements, to cost $15,000, at 25 and 27 South Eighth street, for Albion Whauntenby, owner. The plans were made by Architects J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street, and they call for new front and side walls, three stories high, new joists and floors and two two-story bay windows on the front.

Arnold H. Moses, architect, 136 South Fourth street, has on boards plans for three cottages to be built at Holly Beach, N. J. These are to be frame and fitted with general conveniences, costing about $2500 each. Also drawings for a residence to be erected at Clayton, N. J., to be frame, shingle roof and general conveniences, costing about $4000 each. No contracts let.

Architect Heacock & Hokanson, 931 Chestnut street, will have plans and specifications for the five-story and basement warehouse addition to Berger Bros.' factory, Bread street near New street, ready for contractors for estimates the latter part of this week. The plans for the two-and-a-half-story stone and frame residence at Elkins will soon be ready for contractors also.

Plans and specifications have been sent out by Architect William L. Price, 731 Walnut street, for J. P. Glendenning's two-story Colonial residence, to be erected near Media. It will be a four-story fire-proof structure, to have exterior walls of either white marble or granite. The lot on which the proposed structure will be built measures 327x800 feet. Andrew Kirkpatrick, Gottfried Kugler and J. E. Howell constitute the Building Commission.

The supervising architect of the Treasury Department has invited the members of the Master Builders' Exchange to submit the proposals for electric work at the hospital building, outbuilding, surgeon's house, bath and laundry building, kitchen and restaurant building, boiler house, connecting corridor, covered way, including the ferry house, central lines and out-door lighting at the United States Emigrant station, Ellis Island, N. Y.

Savery & Sheetz, architects, Stephen Girard Building, have made plans for a fine three-story and basement hotel, to be erected on the site of the Carlton House, lately burned at Spring Lake, N. J. The structure will be of brick and frame work and contain all general conveniences. Estimates are being made during the current week, and the contract will be announced soon. Same architects are busy on other work which will be announced at an early day.

Schermerhorn & Reinhold, architects, 430 Walnut street, have completed plans for a seaside house to be erected at Nineteenth and Beach avenues, Longport, N. J., for William B. Brice. The structure will be three stories high, frame and brick, shingle roof, interior cypress wood finish, with all the best modern conveniences. The electric work and heating reserved by owner from estimate, which are to be made by contractor during the current week.

Guy King, architect, 431 Walnut street, has on boards plans for a fine hotel building to be erected at Sing Sing, N. Y. The structure will be 100x375 feet in area and of stone and frame work, shingle roof; interior will contain tile and mosaic work, electric work, steam heat, elevators, open fire places, sixty-nine baths, best plumbing, a refrigerating plant and all conveniences. Mr. King is engaged on a number of other sketches and preliminary drawings which will be noted later.

Roos & Borneman, architects, 32 Nassau street, New York City, have completed all detailed drawings for the additional office building to the Mutual Life, at Tenth and Chestnut streets, immediately on the west of the present structures. The specifications will indicate a six-story building, of brick, stone and steel construction; absolutely fireproof materials used throughout, elevators, electric work, steam heat, iron grille work, cement work, best of sanitary plumbing, etc. Estimates are to be asked soon.

Contractors Stacey Reeves & Sons, 1611 Filbert street, New York City, have completed all detailed drawings for a handsome brick and terra cotta trimmed residence for Craig Biddle, at Radnor, from designs by Architects Peabody & Stearns, of Boston. PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, FEB. 20, 1901.

J. TURLEY ALLEN's little book on plastering is a veritable eye-opener for those who write specifications, for it is very evident if Allen is right, and he has been at the business long enough to find out the correct way to do plastering, all the lessers are wrong. Get the book and get posted before writing another specification; is our advice.

ANY effort to legislate our real estate assessors and the Board of Revision of Taxes out of office, should be met with vigorous opposition.

The present system of assessing real estate values has been in use since 1835 and has given perfect satisfaction to real estate owners in every particular, and any change which will make it a part of the political machine will prove both vicious and unsatisfactory.

The department has been well managed, and while the assessors may seem unreasonable at times all complaints are patiently considered and fairly decided regardless of politics by practical business men who, while courteous to all, do their full duty to the city, and this much cannot be said of some of the other departments.

The Bullitt Bill, which was passed in 1885, did not change the present system of assessing real estate because there was no room for improvement, and this cogent reason which held good then holds good now.

Architect Notes.

The contract for a handsome two-story granite stable in the rear of 1605 Allegheny avenue, for John P. Mathieu, has been awarded to Cramp & Co. by Architects Hales & Balinger. The building will measure 56x80 feet, and it will contain a carriage house, stalls for four horses, men's rooms and a hay loft. The contract calls for the latest improved stable equipment, hardwood finish throughout, copper lanterns, hot water heating, electric lighting, a driveway leading to the stable from Sixteenth street and an ornamental iron fence.

Contractor Philip Haibach has closed contracts for improvements to cost $3500 at 754 North Twenty-fifth street, and at 607 and 609 Sansom street. The work on Twenty-fifth street will be done for P. Reiner, and it will consist of changing a dwelling into a store, putting in a new bulk window, private entrance and interior alterations. The Sansom street work will include the extension of the arway forming a coal vault and elevator hoist, and putting in an iron stairway to the basement. The work will be done for Joseph Morwitz, according to Architect Jacob Herold's plans, 441 Chestnut street.

J. Horace Cook, architect to Board of Education of this city, has on boards in his office plans for school houses to be erected as follows: One for colored children at Penn and Pulaski streets, Germantown; one at Fifty-second and Pine streets; one at Wissanoming and another large one at Manayunk avenue and Charles street, Roxborough. All are approaching completion and will appear in the regular advertisement for work at an early day. The structures are to be two and three stories high, of stone and brick, and the usual modes of heating, lighting, paving, cement work, and general conveniences introduced.

The Malta Boat Club has awarded the "contract for alterations and additions to its boat house, in Fairmount Park, to Builder Harry Kuemmerle. The work will cost $10,000, and according to plans of Architects G. W. and W. D. Hewitt, which will govern the work, the present structure will be generally overhauled, and, when completed, it will be practically a new structure. Among the many conveniences and improvements to be introduced are tile work, steam heating and hardwood finishing. Mr. Kuemmerle is now taking proposals on several lines of work. It is understood that the alterations will be started immediately and pushed rapidly to completion.

Plans and specifications have been sent out by Architect Carl P. Berger, 14 South Broad street, providing for alterations and an addition, 52x110 feet, to C. F. Rump & Sons' factory, at the southwest corner of Fifth and Cherry streets. The materials needed include buff Roman face brick, terra cotta, slag roofing, mill construction, galvanized iron, iron stairs and a tower fire escape. Bids will be submitted to Mr. Berger at noon Thursday. The following general contractors are taking sub-bids: Machin & Brown, 147 North Seventh street; Joseph F. Myers, 516 Willow street; A. Raymond Raff, 1695 Thompson street, and William Steele & Sons, Witherspoon Building.

Architects J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street, have sent out plans and specifications for a new six-story addition, 148x47 feet, to the Southwark Mills Company's property at the southeast corner of Eighth and Tasker streets. It will be of slow burning construction, with wooden girders, brick tower fire escape, elevators and a water tank 12x15 feet. The following general contractors are taking sub-bids: Charles Auchter, 1520 Bailey street; Harry B. Shoemaker & Co., 113 North Seventh street; George C. Deitrick, 967 North Seventh street; R. M. Stout and Henderson & Co., Limited, 1215 Filbert street; Cramp & Co., 1421 Filbert street; Harry Kuemmerle, Betz Building, and Harry Streeton. Same architects have awarded the contract for improvements to cost about $7000 at 1105 Walnut street, to Harry Kuemmerle, Betz Building. The work will be quite extensive, as an entire new front will be put in, the interior will be entirely rearranged, and new plumbing, steam heating and electric lighting will be installed. When completed the building will be used for store and apartment purposes. Previously noted.

Mr. Frank R. Watson, architect, 1208 Chestnut street, has been retained to prepare plans for another fine office building to be reared upon the site of the old Wister Mansion, adjoining the Crozer Building and the Young Men's Christian Association, on Chestnut street, west of Broad street. The lot is 50x230 feet, with two fronts and the plans indicate a twelve-story and basement building, the first of which and basement being specially fitted for banking or fine store purposes; rear basement will contain machinery, engine, boilers, etc. The material for walls will be the first two stories light granite and remainder of brick and terra cotta and steel frame and fire-proof material on interior. The main entrance will have a fine effect, being domed with artificial glass work, floor in mosaic work and sides of vestibule in marble, as well as the pilasters in front of entrance. The entire building above the first floor will be fitted in offices in suites and single, with special arrangement for daylight and other conveniences. The structure will be heated by steam, fitted with elevators, electric work, bells and speaking tubes, finest of sanitary plumbing and best modern conveniences. The building will be erected for Mr. G. Washington Powell, the well known real estate agent and operator, Tenth and South streets. It is specially projected by the proprietor to make this one of the best buildings of its kind in this country, and neither pains nor expense will be spared in its construction. The work of building will not be started until the removal of the Commercial Trust Company to their new building.

The "F Square Club," an organization composed of architects of this city, at a meeting held last week, discussed the bill now pending before the State Legislature, which authorizes the expenditure of $1,200,000 per annum for five consecutive years, or $6,000,000 for the purpose of completing the present State Capitol building at Harrisburg. The following resolutions were drawn up and copies sent to Governor Stone and other officials: Whereas, It is fitting that the dignity and culture, as well as the wealth and power of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania should find adequate material expression in the official seat of Government; and Whereas, There is before the General Assembly a bill authorizing the expenditure of $1,200,000 per annum for five consecutive years for the purpose of completing the present State Capitol at Harrisburg; and Whereas, The pending legislation appears not to make provision for the proper consideration of the many interests involved, nor for the well-advised use of the funds, which the measure appropriates; now therefore, be it Resolved, That the F Square Club, as an association of architects and as citizens of the State of Pennsylvania, believing that the mode of procedure which shall insure the best results practically, financially and artistically can only be decided upon by a commission composed of architects of the highest professional standing, together with the most able of officials of the State Government, do hereby most strongly protest against an expenditure apparently so disproportionate to the original cost of the building, and in an indefinite manner so uncertain of gaining a satisfactory architectural result.

The plan proposed some time ago and noted in these columns to convert the plot of ground at the Ridge avenue entrance to the Wissahickon Drive, just south of the Queen Lane reservoir, into a large artificial lake is to become a reality, for the Committee on Plans and Improvements of the Park Commission, at a meeting held on the 14th inst. at the City Hall, recommended to the Board that an appropriation of $35,000 be made for that purpose. This committee is composed of nearly all the members of the Commission, and as there was no opposition manifested to the project, there is not the least doubt but what the construction of the proposed improvement will be carried into effect. The committee directed the secretary to notify the Fairmount Park Transportation Company to expend the 2 per cent. of its gross receipts in the construction of a wall at the curve near Strawberry Mansion and in the construction of stone steps at the bluff at Freedman's avenue.

This Journal is mailed Weekly and Continuously to Every Architect in Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland and Washington, D. C.; also to every builder and owner obtaining a building permit in Philadelphia and Camden; also to every person reported in its columns as building or going to build anywhere and everywhere.

At a meeting on the 13th inst. of the Port Wardens' Committee on Improvement of Delaware River Wharves, the Pennsylvania Railroad Company made application for permission to extend Pier 48 North Wharves, to the Wardens' line. The committee, it was said, was not aware of the real object to be attained. Pier 48 is south of the Shackamaxon ferry, the slip being the property of the city, while to the north is Pier 49, which belongs to the Pennsylvania Railroad. The location of Pier 48 is just at the head of the river, and the lines of the upper piers are at an angle with those lower down. The Pennsylvania Sugar Refining Company, of which Adolph Seigel is one of the prominent members, and who intends to erect a sugar refinery, owns Pier 46 and half of Pier 47. It has a permit to extend its lower wharf to the Wardens' line, granted in 1897, and has already begun construction. Were the upper pier, No. 48, built out to the same line, there would be but 25 feet between them at the entrance, while the average beam of the sugar carrying steamers ranges from 36 to 60 feet.

In the annual appropriation to the Bureau of City Property for the current year there is an item of $250,000 for the purchase of sites and the erection of fire and patrol stations and bath houses, in different sections of the city, and the question has arisen whether the apportionment of the same will devolve upon the Financial or the City Property Committee of Councils. Members of the two bodies claim that the apportionment of the fund belongs to the respective committees, and unless a satisfactory settlement is reached there is likely to be a clash before the expiration of the present Councilmanic year, the first Monday in April. At the present time there are thirteen bills pending in Councils providing for the purchase of lots and the erection of buildings of this character in as many wards, the aggregate of the purchase price for the land and the amount asked for the erection of the different structures reaching about $200,000. These bills include the purchase of a lot No. 2712-16 North Second street for a fire house, to cost $12,500; lot of ground at Ridge avenue and Mt. Vernon street for police, fire and patrol station, $55,000; lot for a bath house in the Thirteenth ward, $2,000; lot for a bath-house in the Thirty-eighth ward, $400; for new police station in the Fifteenth ward, $15,000; for a lot for fire purposes in Olney, Twenty-second ward, $3,000; purchase of property on South street, west of Tenth, for fire purposes, $118,000; lot at the southeast corner of Cumberland and Almond streets for a fire house, $18,000; purchase of property No. 257 North Fifteenth street as an addition to the police and patrol house, $500; for a patrol house, Park avenue and Canby street, city property, $20,000; new patrol house and heating apparatus, adjoining the Thirty-second police station, Sixty-fifth street and Woodland avenue, $12,000; new bath house on city property in Thirty-sixth ward, $10,000; to purchase property on Lena street, Twenty-second ward, for a bath house, no amount mentioned.

If the Consensus

of opinion stands for anything the outlook for 1901 is extremely good.

While the year is young and may prove full of vagaries before its completion there is more than one certainty.

So long as the present rate of exports continues the whole country will be sure to stay "dead to rights" regardless of other influences.

Our grain and meats and iron mean our thrift, our energy and our prosperity, and it is out of these our buildings and ships and railroads grow.

This is labor and trade, and commerce for a certainty and if any fellow can suggest a more certain-certainty except it be the super-certain excellence and popularity of the Russell & Erwin Mfg. Co.'s Building Hardware, he is welcome to the floor. Buy it! Try it and you will use no other.

Architects Morris & Vaux, Stephen Girard Building, are receiving bids for alterations at the northwest corner of Franklin and Jefferson streets, for the Fidelity Trust, Safe Deposit and Insurance Company, trustee.

Henry L. Franks is to build a two-story sub-postal station on the east side of Frankford avenue, below Clementine street, from plans by Architects J. F. Stuckert & Son. The structure will measure 18x50 feet.

George M. Miller will begin work at once upon a five-story storage building in the rear of 2715, 2719 and 2721 North Broad street, for the North Broad Street Warehouse Company. It will be of brick, 53x58 feet, and will cost $7000.

Plans have been completed by Architect Otto C. Wolf, 1345 Arch street, for a large brick and iron manufacturing building for the corner of Broad street and Washington avenue, estimates on which will be taken at 1317 Market street.

Architects Caldwell & Simon are preparing plans for a house to be built at Oak Lane, for Manning D. Brick. It will be of stone, three stories high, with a slate roof, and will contain twelve rooms. Estimates will probably be asked in a few days.

Schermerhorn & Reinhold, architects, 430 Walnut street, are busy on working drawings for the extensive alterations to be made under their supervision to the Montgomery County Court House, Norristown. This work has been noted in this column.

Estimates are asked from members of the Master Builders' Exchange, of this city, by the supervising architect of the Treasury Department, for the completion, except heating apparatus, electric wiring and conduits of the post office at New Brunswick, N. J.

A. A. Richter, architect, Lebanon, Pa., has on boards plans for an R. C. Church, to be erected at Coatesville, Pa., for Rev. J. A. Holahan. Structure will be one story and a basement, of brick and stone, with general church equipment and conveniences.

tions to the house of G. W. South, at Berwyn, to Joseph Dyson. They will award the contract for alterations to the laboratory of Physics at the University of Pennsylvania, this week.

Jacob Naschold, architect, Manhattan Life Building, has on boards plans for nine stone and frame houses, to be built at Clifton Heights, Delaware county, Pa. The specifications indicate all the latest conveniences for interior work, and all will be constructed under direct supervision of Mr. Naschold.

Wilson Brothers, architects, Drexel Building, have on board plans for a warehouse to be erected at 1020 Filbert street, for M. Dannenbaum, merchant, 804 Arch street. The building will be about eight stories high, brick, stone and cement work, lifts and elevators, steam power and heat, etc. Contracts not let.

Engineer Phil H. Johnson, 1212 Betz Building, has closed a contract with Hender & Co., Limited, for the erection of the new six-story factory building, at 1430 and 1432 Callowhill street, for A. E. Ford. The structure will be constructed of brick and steel, partly fireproof and partly slow-burning construction.

Keen & Mead, 1420 Chestnut street, have closed a contract with Sherman, Oren & Co. for the handsome residence at Rosemont, Pa., for Charles P. Perkins. The plans for this building show a three-story and basement house of stone, containing the latest conveniences, hardwood finish and sanitary appliances. Previously noted.

Plans by Architects Heacock & Hokanson, 931 Chestnut street, for a five story warehouse for Berger Bros., to be erected on Broad street near Arch, were filed with the Bureau of Building Inspection last week. Plans by the same architects for a house to be built at Elkins Station have been sent out to general contractors at once for estimates.

Architects Stearns & Castor, Stephen Girard Building, have awarded a contract to Builders John Davies & Son, of Frankford, for the new post office building, in Main street, opposite the Frankford Station. The new structure will be two stories and basement, 80x30 feet, and will have steam heating, electric wiring, plumbing and other modern conveniences.

Dilks, 1001 Chestnut street, has made plans and is receiving estimates for a four-story office, store and assembly building at Coatesville, Pa., including additions and alterations to adjoining business premises, for John W. Austin, from plans by Architect Edward Hazlehurst, Girard Building. The work will cost $3000. The same contractor will build two three-story apartment houses, 36x51 feet, on Eleventh, below Walnut street, for the same owner, at a cost of $22,000. The plans for this work were also prepared by Mr. Hazlehurst.

J., for the new church edifice which will be erected at Passaic and Pattison avenues, Passaic, N. J., for the First Reformed congregation of that place. This is to be two and one-half stories and basement, fitted with the latest improvements throughout.

Architect Rowland W. Boyle, 1530 Chestnut street, is making plans for the new stable to be built on the site of the old armory of the First Troop, P. C. C., on Twenty first street, below Market, for John J. Short & Brother. The new structure will be four stories high, and it will measure 70x200 feet. According to the plan, a carriage house, offices, waiting room and reading room will be located on the first floor; stable accommodations for 200 horses and harness room, on the second; carriage room and lunch room for employees, on the third, and hay and feed storage bins, on the fourth floor. Engine and dynamo rooms will be fitted up in the basement and the building will be equipped with elevators, carriage lifts, steam heating, electric lighting and other conveniences and improvements. All matters are in the hands of Mr. Ryer, who made the drawings.

Mr. Ivison, owner of the Wiscasset House, at Mt. Pocono, Pa., has sent drawings to this city for an addition to be made to that structure. Contractors R. C. Ballinger & Co. will start work immediately on improvements at 1517 Girard avenue, for Ferdinand Keller, to cost $8000. The permit for the work granted recently, provides for both interior and exterior alterations, a new brick bay window, 6.6x18 feet, and a two-story brick addition, 18x18 feet. Architect William L. Price, 717 Walnut street, made the plans.

Plans and specifications can be seen at the office of M. P. Wells & Co., Crozer Building, for the new two-story glass factory, 50x160 feet, for H. C. Fox & Sons, Schuylkill avenue, and Catharine streets. The specifications provide for excavating and grading, foundation and brick work, iron columns and girders,

The leading stained glass firms in this city are interested in a move against the encroachments of what is known as the Glass Trust, upon their business interests. The combination represents a capitalization of $5,000,000, with proviso for increase to $10,000,000 if a war upon the glass trust becomes necessary. The question at issue between contending parties is the increase of 20 per cent. on glass used in decoration work by the trust. The end of the contention is not yet in sight.

At a special meeting of the Directors of the Builders' Exchange, on the 11th inst., the Executive Committee was directed to visit Harrisburg on the 26th inst. to protest to the General Judiciary Committee of the Legislature against the passage of the House bill No. 32, entitled the Employers' Liability act, which is now pending. The committee has engaged private cars and invites similar committees from active organizations interested in the subject to co-operate with them.

These consist of the McCaul Company, 10 North Eleventh street; Westcott & Knox, 1020 Commerce street; the Cramp Company, 1421 Filbert street, and The Wade-Gilpin Co., N. Chairman Gilpin stated that he believed a boulevard would some time extend from the City Hall to Fairmount Park, and that it would then pass by the proposed monument. The sum of $3000 has already been apportioned by Councils to be divided in prizes for designs for the monument, and several councilmen declared that some idea as to its cost would have

The contracts for the construction of the Roxborough filter beds reservoir and the laying of extra mains made necessary by the increased water supply, were awarded by Director Haddock, of the Department of Public Works, to Daniel J. McNichol, for the lump sum of $898,716.29. Of that amount $229,083.29 was for the five filter beds and the reservoir for the storage of filtered water, while $669,633 was for the mains. These bids were received and opened on February 11. As Director Haddock found it necessary to include 100 cubic yards of concrete, not provided for in the original specifications, the McNichol bid was made $229,083.29, adding the cost of the additional concrete.

The bank building, No. 721 Chestnut street, which was formerly occupied by the Chestnut Street National Bank and the Chestnut Street Trust and Saving Funds Company, was bought on the 25th inst. by the Quaker City National Bank for $107,500. The purchase was made through the Girard Trust Company as trustee for the Powers estate, which secured the building after the banking and trust company's failure by foreclosing a mortgage of $100,000 on the property. The purchase was concluded after negotiations lasting several months. The Quaker City National Bank will transfer its headquarters to its new home inside of two weeks. If the Consensus of opinion stands for anything the outlook for 1901 is extremely good.

While the year is young and may prove full of vagaries before its completion there is more than one certainty.

So long as the present rate of exports continues the whole country will be sure to stay "dead to rights" regardless of other influences.

Our grain and meats and iron mean our thrift, our energy and our prosperity, and it is out of these our buildings and ships and railroads grow.

This is labor and trade, and commerce for a certainty and if any fellow can suggest a more certain certainty except it be the super-certain excellence and popularity of the Russell & Erwin Mfg. Co.'s Building Hardware, he is welcome to the floor. Buy it! Try it and you will use no other.

Architect Notes.

Architects Duhring, Okie & Ziegler, Crozer Building, will take revised bids for alterations and additions to the Laboratory of Physics, at the University of Pennsylvania.

Architect A. Leh, of Bethlehem, has been selected to prepare drawings for a new school building for West Bethlehem, which will cost about $5000. It will be three stories, of face brick.

Architect H. Shumway, of Atlantic City, N. J., will be ready for bids in a short time for a three-story dwelling, 25 by 80 feet, which will be built at Second and Cooper streets, Camden, N. J.

Architect Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, will invite sub-bids in a short time for the two-and-a-half-story and basement cottage, 35 by 40 feet, at Newtown, Pa., for the John M. George School.

The Wolff Process Leather Company has awarded a contract to the Coatesville Boiler Company to build stone and brick boiler foundations at its plant, at Summersdale, according to plans by Architects Stearns & Caslor.

Engineer and Architect Amos W. Barnes has just awarded the contract for alterations to 6122 and 6124 Ridge avenue, for William B. Eden & Sons, to Contractor James King, of Roxborough. Work will be started immediately.

Henry D. Dagit, architect, 435 Chestnut street, is working on plans for alterations and a new front for St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church, at Eleventh and Master streets. Estimates on this work will be invited at an early date.

Engineer and Architect Phil H. Johnson, Betz Building, is at work on plans for a two-story public bath house, 60 by 120 feet, which the city will have built at the southwest corner of Ann and Belgrade streets, in the Twenty-fifth ward.

Engineer and Architect Phil H. Johnson, Betz Building, has just been engaged to make plans for a new police station at Twentieth and Fitzwater streets. The new structure will be erected on the site of the present building. No details have as yet been decided upon.

Builders Appleton & Burrell, 1204 Chancellor street, put plans on the boards this week for extensive alterations and additions to the residence property at 2009 Pine street, from the office of Duhring, Okie & Ziegler, 1420 Chestnut street. Estimates on this work must be filed by March 7.

Plans have been completed for a one-story casino building for G. Blaker, at Wildwood, N. J., by Architect Thomas Bennett, of this city. This building will have the latest equipment. A large number of frame bath-houses are to be constructed at the same place for Mr. Blaker. There will be over 100 all.

Thomas Bennett, 1022 Walnut street, is making drawings for extensive alterations and additions to a hospital in Germantown for a local institution. No bids can be taken owing to the early condition of matters, but the structure will be of face brick, with stone trimmings, three stories and basement.

Architect Otto Herold, 441 Chestnut street, has completed plans and specifications and is asking estimates for the three-story cut-stone front residence for Emanuel Printz. The following builders have been invited to estimate: A. Raymond Raft, Philip Haibach, John N. Gill, Leonard Schwab and L. H. Eckhardt.

Architect Kurt W. Peuckert, 224 South Fourth street, has formally awarded the contract for the new brewing storage warehouse building for the Atlantic City Brewing Company to Builder B. J. Hanum, of that place. Plans show a structure of brick and iron, four stories high, and work will be started at once.

Architects Hales & Ballinger have just taken a larger suite of offices on the sixth floor of the building at the southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets. This step was made necessary by increased business. Their boards are full with manufacturing and other plans, which will be noted in the near future.

The Pencoyd Iron Works are having private drawings made for an office building of brick, stone and iron, to be built at Pencoyd for the company's use. The usual office furnishings and equipment will be provided by specifications which are now being prepared in the company's draughting department.

Chester H. Kirk, architect, 1117 Walnut street, has on boards plans for an apartment house, to be erected on Sansom street, above Nineteenth, for M. McLennahan & Bro. The building will be of fancy brick, stone trimming, iron work, and on interior steam heat, electric work, best plumbing, and latest conveniences. Estimates are to be invited soon.

Architects Wilson Bros. & Co., Drexel Building, have sent out plans and specifications for the new Dulles Ward addition to the Presbyterian Hospital, Thirty-ninth and Powelton avenue. The general contractors taking sub-bids are George F. Payne & Co., William A. Hurlock & Son, Lewis Havens' Sons and A. Whitehead. Bids close this week.

Architects Heacock & Hokanson have sent plans to Roydhouse, Arey & Co., Machin & Brown, Appleton & Burrell, J. Sims Wilson, George F. Payne & Co., J. E. & A. L. Penock and Whiteside & Sons for estimates on the erection of the five-story and basement warehouse on Broad street, near Arch street, for Berger Bros. It has previously been noted in these columns.

Architect Addison Hutton, 400 Chestnut street, has just awarded the contract for the extensive alterations and additions to the church property at the northwest corner of Seventh and Spring Garden streets, to Contractor R. C. Ballinger & Co. This work will be for Mitchell, Fletcher & Co., and when completed the building will be used for candy factory purposes.

Contractors Machin & Brown, 147 North Seventh street, have closed contracts with Architects Milligan & Weber, 520 Walnut street, for the new four-story and basement restaurant and office building to be built for Edward Bradley at the corner of Market and Letitia streets. Steam heating, electrical work, plumbing and latest appliances will be introduced by the owner.

The supervising architect of the Treasury Department has invited the members of the Master Builders' Exchange to submit proposals for the construction, except heating apparatus, electric wiring and conduits, of the new postoffice building, at Clinton, Ia. Bids close on April 2. Plans for the new armory for the Fifth Regiment, N. G. of Maryland, are on the boards at the exchange for sub-bids.

The contract for a church edifice has just been awarded by Architect Jacob Naschold, Manhattan Building, this city, to J. T. Nesbitt, of Lewisburg, for $30,000. The work consists of a stone church building, 72 by 127 feet, and a Sunday school building, 57 by 43 feet, both one story and basement, with steam heating, electric lighting, stained glass windows, slate roofing and the latest interior appointments and conveniences.

Architects Totten & Rogers, of this city and Washington, are preparing competitive plans for a post office and court house building to be erected in Cleveland, O., for the United States Government. The structure will be either four or five stories high and will measure 214 by 200 feet. The appropriation for the work, exclusive of gas and electric fixtures, is $1,650,000. The department will make its selection from the plans submitted next June.

As previously noted, competitive plans are in preparation by five architects in this city for an office building for Congressman Robert H. Forreder at the southwest corner of Broad and Arch streets, on the site of the old Lutheran Church of the Holy Communion, and the four properties adjoining it on the west. The plans will provide for an absolutely fire-proof building, covering the entire lot, which measures 140 by 170 feet. The building will not be less than sixteen stories high. The details have not been decided upon yet and will not be, it is likely, until Mr. Forreder gets possession of the property in June, current year.

Architect Notes.

Hales & Ballinger, architects, 1200 Chestnut street, have been engaged by the Methodist church organization of this city to prepare plans for a memorial church to be erected at Seventeenth and Cayuga streets to the memory of the late Rev. A. J. Kynett, who died during the year 1899. The structure will be of stone, slate roof and cost about $10,000. The interior will be quite ornate and replete with every modern comfort and convenience for church purposes.

Carl P. Berger, architect, 14 South Broad street, has completed the revised plans for the new market house and hall building to be erected for Thomas P. Twibill, as previously noted. The building will now be three stories high, 75 x 60 feet, and contain hall and lodge rooms on the second and third floors. Latest conveniences are to be introduced, steam heat, electric work, best plumbing, etc. Estimates are to be asked at once. The structure will be erected at the southeast corner of Seventeenth and Federal streets.

Estimates were invited by Architects G. W. & W. D. Hewitt, Bullitt Building, on the 27th of February, from general contractors on the erection of the eight-story and basement store building at 1217 Market street for J. H. Jones. The structure will be of brick and iron, with terra-cotta trimmings, and will measure 20 by 130 feet. Plans are on the boards in the offices of J. E. & A. L. Pennock, George F. Payne & Co., Thomas Little & Son, William Steele & Sons and James Johnson. Bids close current week.

Architect Joseph M. Huston, Witherspoon Building, has sent plans to general contractors for estimates on the erection of a three-story house, 18 by 60 feet, on East Cumberland street, for Walter Stradling. It will be of Pompeian brick, with brownstone trimmings. The bidders are George W. Pierson, William R. Brown, William Green and J. H. Jordan. Bids are due this week. Bids for the Mt. Airy Presbyterian Church, planned by Mr. Huston, were opened February 27th and it is expected that the contract will be awarded in a few days.

Plans are nearing completion for the alteration of the old Chamber of Commerce building on Second street into a six-story office building and telephone station for the Keystone Telephone Company. The changes will not affect the exterior appearance of the old structure, but will be exclusively to the interior. The executive offices and central exchange of the telephone company will occupy two floors of the building and the four remaining will be devoted to office suites. Estimates will be invited from general contractors in about ten days.

It is stated that the revised plans for the Ardmore Public School will be completed by Architect D. Judge de Nean, of that place, this week. The general contractors will then be given one week in which to submit proposals on the revised drawing. The proposals which exceeded the appropriations submitted on Tuesday night last were: Harry Kuemmerle, $87,850; M. P. Wells & Co., $69,997; G. W. Sherf, Chester, $71,700; F. Mahan, Ardmore, $71,958; Cramp & Co., $78,000; A. L. Fretz, Cynwyd, $74,162; J. W. Fritzing, $76,000; F. L. Hoover & Son, $78,130; J. Myers & Sons, $78,618; Thomas Reilly, $80,500, and B. P. Evans, $80,806.

A meeting of the Board of Governors of the Germantown Cricket Club was held on the 26th of February to decide upon the feasibility of erecting three new buildings at Manheim, to consist of a new wing to the main club house, a building for ladies and juniors and a swimming pool. To make those improvements would cost $40,000, of which $30,000 has already been subscribed, and it is expected that by the time the board meets next month the total amount will have been raised. The swimming pool will be a feature. It will be 30 feet wide by 80 feet long. During the winter the pool will be floored over and used as a cricket practice shed. When floored over the shed will be about 40 by 100 feet. The new wing will consist of a men's building, 40 by 60 feet, and three stories high, with a basement. It is to be erected at the southern end of the present club house and connected with the latter by an enclosed passageway. The new wing will be devoted to dressing rooms and 500 lockers for the men who use the pool and cricket shed, and will connect with the latter by means of an underground tunnel. All the buildings will be built to conform with the present club house. A pretty driveway will separate the two club houses, so that the main entrance to the big hall can be reached. This work was very fully noted in this journal more than one year ago. Plans by McKimm, Mead & White, architects, New York city.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

The Philip Anns Co., 1001 Chestnut street, and Appleton & Burrell, 1204 Chamber street, are taking sub-bids for the addition to the Lester Piano factory, at Lester, Pa.

The Commissioners of Adams county, Pa., will erect a fire-proof court house at Gettysburg, to be of stone and granite work. As yet no drawings have been made and no architect engaged.

Fire destroyed the planing mill of Edward Hensworth, on Seymour street, Germantown, on the morning of March 1st, and damaged quite a lot of dwellings in the vicinity. The damage done will be repaired at once.

Owner James M. Branagan will begin work at once on the erection of a two-story brick dwelling, 16x60 feet, at 3557 North Seventh street, to cost $2800. Mr. Branagan will also build a two-story brick stable, in the rear of the house.

Ryan & Kelley, 8 South Broad street, are taking revised estimates for the new Baltimore and Ohio railroad Co.'s pier, at Baltimore, Md. This is similar to the one which Ryan & Kelly erected in this city, at Snyder avenue, for the company.

Architects McComb & Calvert, Real Estate Trust Building, have closed a contract with A. J. Harris, of Toms River, N. J., for the new residence at Seaside Park for J. Wilson. Plans show a three-story and basement building of brick and frame.

The International Cream Separator Company, Tenth and Cherry streets, will erect a three-story factory at Media, Pa., upon a site recently bought. The structure will contain steam power, electric work, etc. No plans made yet by architects.

James Lynch has started to excavate at Eighteenth and Ritner streets, preparatory to erecting twenty-sixth two-story, seven-room houses. They will be put up on the east side of Eighteenth street, from Ritner street south, as far as the Girard estate property.

The Rev. J. L. Russell, of the Darby Presbyterian Church, is soon to have preliminary plans made for alterations and additions to the church at Darby, which is two stories, built of light gray stone. Details concerning this work cannot be given until plans have been finished.

Six two-story brick dwellings, to cost $8400, will be erected on the northwest side of Saville street, west of Ridge avenue, in the Twenty-first ward, by John Melodew, owner. The houses will each measure 16x56 feet, with flat tin roofs, and they will be heated by hot air. Work will be begun at once.

Proposals were received and opened at the Department of Public Safety on March 1st for concluding the work of developing Fottrell Square, Twelfth and York streets; Womrath Park, Frankford, and Clarence H. Clark Square, West Philadelphia. The proposals were referred to be scheduled.

The Legislature of this State have just enacted a law allowing Park Commissioners to construct and maintain a Speedway for fast driving within the limits of the Park. As yet no appropriation has been made by City Councils for the work, and no detailed plans drawn by the Park engineer.

The Wills Heating and Ventilating Company, 417 Locust street, have made preliminary preparations for the erection of a new three-story hard brick addition to the factory building at the above location. Plans for the work were made by the owners, who will take all bids and supervise the construction throughout.

Reliable man, capable of taking off items and quantities from plans, and superintending work on new buildings, wants position with first-class firm of architects or builders in the city or elsewhere. Twenty-five years' experience. Address, U. W., Real Estate Record.

The Wade-Gilpin Co., general contractors and builders, northeast corner of Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, have a contract to reconstruct the front and lower floor of the northeast corner of Juniper and Filbert streets. The building will be used as an automobile store. Work by the above firm will start at once.

Frank R. Riggs, 1530 Chestnut street, is inviting bids for an operation of four finely finished houses to be erected in pairs for Martha J. Kelley, at Lansdowne. They will be of stone, with large porches and modern conveniences. Specifications call for electric wiring and bells, hot water heating and tile baths.

Everything points to an early realization of the will provisions of Dr. Thomas W. Evans, late of Paris, France, for a Memorial Dental College to be erected in this city. The will has been admitted to probate in New York City. The building will be known as the Dr. Thomas W. Evans Dental Institute and Museum.

Geo. W. Ledlie, 408 Odd Fellows' Building, has been awarded the contract for John B. Hudson's operation of 100 houses at Angora. This contract includes all the grading and excavating for cellars, foundation and cut stone work, cutting through three streets, building sewers, laying water and gas pipes and paving of streets.

The Pennsylvania Building Operation Company, fifth floor, Mutual Life Building, has taken sub-bids for an operation of twenty-three houses to be built at Fifty-first and Market streets, under the direction of C. R. Stiegel, who has an office at Forty-ninth and Market streets. These are to be brick and stone, two and three stories high, with modern conveniences.

D. Morton Bond, 1126 Stephen Girard Building, and 1210 South Broad street, will build seventy-seven two-story brick dwellings, each 14x34 feet, costing $1800 apiece, on the east and west sides of Watts street, and east and west sides of Juniper street, south of Moyamensing avenue. All to be of fancy pressed brick, stone trimmings and best modern comforts and conveniences on interior. The money involved in cost will be $188,000.

The following general contractors are taking sub-bids on Architect Louis C. Hickman's plans for a one-story addition, 60x75 feet, to the W. F. Potts Son & Co.'s foundry, at 1517 to 1523 Spring street. A. Raymond Raff, S. R. Riley, Appleton & Burrell, Henderson & Co., Limited, Machin & Brown, F. L. Hoover & Son, George C. Dietrich, Jacob Myers & Sons, John M. Gill and the Wade-Gilpin Company. Bids close this week.

Contractor Burd P. Evans will start work soon on the erection of the two-story stone parish house at Oak lane for St. Martin's Protestant Episcopal Church. The building will measure 47 by 32 feet, and it will have a slate roof. The first floor will contain a guild room, primary room and kitchen, and a Sunday school room, and a large hall will be fitted up on the second floor. Architect Isaac Pursell made the plans. Previously noted.

Manager Taylor, Masonic Temple Building, Camden, says that he will soon commission an architect to make plans for the new theatre building, which will be erected on Broadway, Camden, and would be in position to announce further details in the near future. The building is to be four stories high, of brick, stone and steel, and will have the latest interior furnishings and appointments. Previously noted in these columns.

The American Product Company has just closed a contract with Keen & Frazier, of Camden, N. J., for a one-story brick boiler house addition to its plant at Morris street wharf, Schuylkill River. The addition was planned by Engineer Charles Edgerton, of this city. It will measure 65x74.5 feet. The contractors will build a boiler foundation. The approximated cost of this work is $8500. Work will be begun at once.

Mr. I. D. Ivison writes us that he is not interested in the Wiscasset House, located at Mt. Pocono, Pa., nor are any changes being made in that hostelry as stated in issue of February 27th. Mr. Ivison, however, says he is building a modern hotel on the mountain top overlooking the Wiscasset, which is under roof, with about 200 rooms capacity, and engineers are now at work on the different mechanical branches to be installed.

Machin & Brown have the contract to tear out the front and put in new bulk windows at the southeast corner of Eighth and Cherry streets. They are also taking sub-bids at their office, 147 North Seventh street, for alterations and additions at 922 Clinton street; plans by Architects Bailly & Truscott, 421 Chestnut street. Jacob Myers & Sons, northeast corner of Juniper and Sansom streets, are also receiving bids for the Clinton street work.

William R. Dougherty, 1604 Sansom street, is taking sub-bids for the squash ball court at the Philadelphia Country Club; a six-story and basement addition, 19.6x36 feet, to the Keystone Watch Case Company's plant, and a two-story smith shop for the same company, at Nineteenth and Brown streets; alterations to the Fox property, 2009 Pine street, and the Laboratory of Physics, at the University of Pennsylvania, Thirty-fourth and Locust streets.

A hand ball court is to be constructed at St. Joseph's Home for Boys, at the southeast corner of Eighth and DeLancey streets. Contractor W. J. McShane will do the work, which will consist of removing the present buildings on the site to the foundation walls; construct wall 80 feet long on Eighth street, 16 feet high; wall 23 feet long on DeLancey street, 16 feet high, and plastering the inside of the walls with cement. Work will be begun at once.

John R. Wiggins, contractor, 1215 Filbert street, will at once start work on the new Platt Apartment House, at southwest corner of Spruce and Twelfth streets. It will be four stories high, brick and stone and iron work, covers an area of 20 x 120 feet 6 inches, slag roof, galvanized iron cornice, and quite ornate in design. Cost, $32,000. The plans which were made by Edwin F. Bertolette, architect, Head Building, were noted in these columns last year in full.

The Cedar Avenue Improvement Company, No. 4918 Baltimore avenue, is increasing rapidly in membership, and is likely to become one of the strongest business men's organizations in the city. The prospects for the establishment of a park at Fifty-second and Pine streets, which is being urged by the association, are regarded as excellent. A fire station is soon to be established in the section and efforts will also be made to secure the location of a police station.

Contractor James Foster, who is fitting up the new American League's baseball grounds, at Twenty-ninth street and Columbia avenue, will build two one-story buildings on the grounds, to cost $100. One structure will measure 16x35 feet, and the other 16x100 feet. One side of each building will be constructed of brick, and the other three sides of corrugated iron on iron frames. The proposed structures will be used for entrances, offices and dressing room purposes.

Quite a number of items for large buildings and improvements are included in the Sundry Civil bill passed by the Congress just prior to adjournment. Among the more important is $200,000 for the enlargement of Governor's Island and construction of storehouses and other buildings; $85,000 for the completion of the Government building at Newark, N. J.; $20,000 for an addition to the Newport, R. I., post office; $382,500 for the purchase of the old Corcoran Art Gallery property in Washington.

After much consideration and thought the Board of City Surveyors have approved a plan providing for the beautifying and developing of a large section of Germantown and lower Chestnut Hill, adjacent to Fairmount Park. It includes the laying out of a magnificent drive leading up from Wissahickon Creek in a serpentine course, following the Creshelm Creek valley until finally reaching the highlands, branching off in a northeasterly direction and losing itself in the hilltops of Chestnut Hill.

An operation comprising seven two-story mansard roof dwellings, to cost $36,000, has been started by Owner C. W. Macfarlane in West Philadelphia. One of the houses will measure 17.5x56 feet and be put up on the west side of Forty-fourth street, 65 feet north of Baltimore avenue. The other six houses will each measure 16.4x57 feet. They will be erected on the north side of Baltimore avenue, 220 feet east of Forty-fourth street. Hard wood finish, open plumbing, etc., will be among the conveniences introduced.

An operation of two and three story dwellings, to cost $68,700, will be started late the current week in the Twenty-fifth ward, for Harry Strecker, the owner. Thirty-one of the houses will be two story structures, and will measure 14 and 15x30 feet. They will be put up on Lippincott street, east of Frankford avenue. The other seven houses will be three stories in height. Each will measure 16x80 feet. These will be erected on Frankford avenue, north of Clearfield street. Contractor Harry G. Faulkner will do the work.

Owner Thomas Killough has made preparations to build ten three-story and attic mansard roof dwellings, in the Twenty-seventh ward, to cost $45,000. Five of the houses will each measure 16x57.9 feet, and be built on lots each 22x100 feet, on the west side of Forty-fourth street, north of Lombard street, and the others will be the same size and put up on lots each 20x110 feet, on the north side of Lombard street, 100 west of Forty-fourth street. The structures will be heated by hot air. Mr. Killough secured permits for this work last week.

Builder Joshua M. Holmes, Thirty-third and Huntingdon streets, has taken preliminary steps toward the erection of twenty-eight two-story, porch front houses, to cost in the neighborhood of $50,000. These will be located on the site of the old Diamond Street 'Bus Co.'s stable, at Thirty-fourth and Harold streets. The houses will front on Thirty-third, Thirty-fourth and Harold streets, and they will be modern in every respect. Mr. Holmes says that prospects for this year are bright. He has sold twenty of the thirty-five houses which are nearing completion.

Builders Whelan Bros. started work last week to build five dwelling houses and three stores and dwellings, in the Twenty-sixth ward, to cost $13,700. The houses will each be two stories high, and measure 16x47 feet. They will be put up on the north side of Porter street, east of Seventeenth street. One store and dwelling will measure 16x50 feet, and be built at the northwest corner of Chadwick and Porter streets. This will be two stories high. The other store and dwelling will be three stories in height, measure 18x51 feet and be erected at the northeast corner of Seventeenth and Porter streets. This improvement will be made for Lewis K. Cottingham, owner.

Mayor Ashbridge, Dr. John V. Shoemaker, a representative architect, and some of our best citizens met in consultation this week to devise ways, means and the best plans on which a great group of hospital buildings can be erected in this city. The design of these inaugurating the project is to place the new institution on a par with the Bellevue, of New York; Johns Hopkins, of Baltimore, and the great hospitals of Berlin, Paris and London, with free general clinics for the profession. The proposition at present is to construct three additional buildings to the Philadelphia Hospital, for which appropriations will have to be made by Councils and possibly other aid may be tendered.

Contractor Albert Schoell will commence at once to build the $20,000 three-story stone building, at 1309 Walnut street, extending back to Sansom street, fronting at 1806. The structure will have a frontage of 25 feet, and it will be 230 feet deep. The Walnut street front will be constructed of smooth hard sand-made brick, while hard brick, with black headers will be used in the Sanson street front, to correspond with the front of 1808. Some time ago we noted plans by Architect Hales & Ballinger, 1200 Chestnut street, for a large operation of dwellings, 206 in number, the cost of which will be $394,000. These will be erected in different sections of the city. The largest operation will be erected in the Kensington district, with fronts on Allegheny avenue, Rorer, E and Hartwell streets. This will comprise 128 two-story Pompeian brick and stone-trimmed structures. The owner's name is withheld for the present. The houses will have fronts of 14 and 16 feet. Some will have porches and others will be built flush with the building line. This operation of dwellings, when started in the near future, will be pushed rapidly to completion. They will be modern houses, to contain the latest improvements and conveniences, including hard wood finishings, open plumbing, electric gas lighting, tiled bath rooms, hot air heating, etc.

Several contracts were let on the 2d inst. by the Philadelphia & Reading Railway, all of them going to local contractors. Ryan & Kelly, No. 8 South Broad street, have secured the work of erecting a new frame signal tower at Glenside, on the North Penn Railroad, covering the new double tracking from Glenside to Hillside. Charles Nolan secured the contract for the extension to the masonry for the main line's third track from Birdsboro to Mouocacy, which is to be completed early in the spring. Another contract went to F. McManus for the grading and masonry needed for the additional tracks that are to be laid at West Lebanon, on the Lebanon Valley branch, and for the Cornwall Road crossing. He also has the contract for taking down and rebuilding the masonry for the two span bridge on the Wilmington & Northern Railroad to cross the Schuylkill below Poplar Neck. This bridge is being constructed by the Phoenix Iron Company.

No additional bids being received at the Orphans' Court, for possession of the Lafayette Hotel up to 3 o'clock the 4th inst., other than that of $1,250,000 recently made by the Widener-Elkins syndicate, and it being unlikely that any further bids would be made later in the day, the big hotel property has virtually passed into the hands of the syndicate. The hotel belongs to the estate of the late Moro Phillips, and when up for sale by order of the Orphans' Court some time ago a Mr. Peck, believed to represent the Widener-Elkins interests, bid $1,250,000 for the property. This being thought an inadequate sum, the property was withdrawn. Subsequently Judge Penrose rendered an opinion denying the petition of heirs for an injunction against the sale of the hotel, but stipulating that it would be held open for thirty days for an advance in price. The time limit expired as above. The present lessee of the hotel is L. H. Smith, with a term of four years yet unexpired. Common report has it that the present hotel property will be torn down and the Land Title Office Building will be extended to Sanson street.

As previously noted in these columns, Builder Frank D. Williams, who purchased the old Methodist Home, and the surrounding grounds, at the northeast corner of Thirteenth street and Lehigh avenue, will soon tear down the old Home, and as soon as the weather permits, will begin work on the erection of houses. The houses will be put up on Somerset, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Silver and Selzer streets. The two latter thoroughfares will be cut through. Forty-five of the houses will be two stories high and the remainder will be three-story structures. They will have Pompeian bricks and stone trimmed fronts, with porches, and be fitted up with hard woods, tile work, electric and gas lighting, the latest plumbing, etc. Mr. Williams is also ready to put up five three-story porch front houses on the south side of Westmoreland street, east of Sixteenth street, in the Thirty-eighth ward. These will be similar in construction to the houses noted above. The two-story houses will contain eight rooms, and the three-story structures ten rooms. The estimated cost of the work is $170,000.

Architect Notes.

M. B. Ritter, architect, Williamsport, Pa., has on board drawings for an iron-frame factory, to be erected in the above city. It will be 100x200 feet and contain steam heat and power and all other conveniences.

Architects Macomb & Calvert, Real Estate Trust Building, have awarded a contract to M. T. James, of Merchantville, N. J., for a three-story frame cottage, 40 by 40 feet, to be erected at Seaside Park, N. J., for T. T. Nelson.

Architects M. H. & C. S. Dickinson are making plans for a two-story brick residence, to be erected at Logan. It will measure 32x33 feet, and fitted up with all modern improvements, including hard woods, steam heat and porches.

Architect William L. Price, 731 Walnut street, is revising the plans for a large six-story and basement hotel, to be built at Atlantic City, N. J., for John J. White, of this city. Builder Frank S. Riggs, of this city, has the contract for the work. The cost approximately is $200,000.

Architects Hales & Ballinger, southwest corner of Twelfth and Chestnut streets, are preparing plans and specifications for a large bakery, to be located in this city. It will be of the mill construction pattern, four stories in height, and will measure 60 by 80 feet. The owner's name and location are withheld for the present.

Stearns & Castor, architects, Stephen Girard Building, have on boards of Contractors J. W. Lutz, B. F. Lewis, James Bartleson and C. Bender plans for alterations and additions to the William Penn Hotel, at Gwynedd, Pa. They are ready for bids on alterations and addition to the residence of Benjamin Hilt, at Hatboro, Pa.

Architects J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street, received bids for fourteen two-story six-room porch-front dwellings, to be built on the lot 216 by 60 feet, on Tioga street, between Howard and Mascher streets. The houses will each measure 15.8 by 41 feet. They will have mottled brick fronts, with stone trimmings. They will have all the latest conveniences.

P. P. Elkinton, architect, 211 S. Sixth street, is making plans for a church building, to be erected at Hatboro, Pa., to cost about $20,000. It will be in area 90x40 feet, one story high, slate roof, stone construction and general church equipment. Mr. Elkinton will ask bids on an armory building for Burlington, N. J., early next month. Other plans in course of preparation, which will be noted later.

Hales & Ballinger, architects, 1200 Chestnut street, have on boards plans for a large morocco manufactory, to be built for parties in

The room and basement will be fitted up in handsome style, tile work, counters, floors, marble and decorative work, electric work, steam heat, plumbing and general comforts and conveniences, etc. The work will cost about $20,000. JOHN F. BRISBANE, City Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, MAR. 13, 1901.

"Gentlemen, you are on the edge of evil times. When the leaders of the majority and minority parties can align their followers on all measures for public patronage and plunder, and when there is a union of the representatives of both parties from Philadelphia for every measure, however vile and however damnable," I say again, gentlemen, you have come upon evil times."

The above paragraph is an excerpt from a speech made by the Hon. Thos. V. Cooper, a member of the present State Legislature from Delaware county, at a meeting of business men held at the Bourse on Monday last, in opposition to the bill providing for a change in the Board of Revision of Taxes.

The vagaries of political life are, in this instance, presented in a most violent form.

To have said that the tax-payers of the city of Philadelphia in looking for a champion of their cause upon the floor of either house would have been compelled to appeal to a gentleman, a member from another county and a non-resident of the county of Philadelphia, would have seemed absurd in face of the vital interests at stake and the importance of this city and county as a commercial and financial center.

Such, however, was the fact, notwithstanding Philadelphia's prestige in the political affairs of the State, and this alone will add zest and force to the full meaning of Mr. Cooper's words.

That the property owners of this city are, and have been, for a long time on the "edge of evil times," is apparent to every intelligent person in this community, but who is to blame in face of the apathy and indifference and strict party loyalty of the real estate owners themselves?

Is the present administration in both city and State a particle worse than many preceding ones? And while our municipal affairs have grown from bad to worse, on whom does the responsibility rest but on these self same citizens and tax-payers, and, moreover, are they not responsible for the singular (?) absence of a champion upon the floor of either house who was elected from their own city and by their own votes even now when their own safety is at stake?

There were 258,685 dwelling houses in this city on January 1, 1900, and right here in this bit of reliable information is expressed the value of the Board of Revision of Taxes as it is at present organized, for without its present ability to make its selection of bright, intelligent and capable real estate assessors such information would not have been available, for, if men with a political pull are to do work of this character under the supervision of these who have even more pull, our experience with such things, as the gas works, tell us that it will not be done at all.

Among these 258,685 dwellings of all kinds there are 129,884 one and two story, or, in other words, suitable, decent and sanitary habitations for 649,420, or over one-half of the entire population of the city and county.

These small dwellings are mostly owned and occupied by our working people, and this does not include the large number who own and occupy three-story dwellings.

From this it will be seen that any change in the Board of Revision of Taxes, together with the evils resulting from the change, such as an increased rate of taxation or an increase in assessed value will fall upon our working people, and who can predict the results which will surely follow.

Our pride and glory as the city of homes, as the single American city, as a most orderly city, as a result of this home-ownership are the things we have built on. They are not grains of sand to be washed away by dirty politics. They are as of rocks of adamant, for they are the incentives which make men work and save, and who are they that are bold enough to overturn them?

Smith & Davis Co., artificial stone pavements and floors and concrete work, have removed their office to 201 Weightman Building, 1524 Chestnut street.

Architect Notes.

Frank R. Carswell, architect, Wilmington, Del., is making drawings for alterations and additions to the Phoenix Mills, of this city, which will manufacture leather.

Architect Arnold H. Moses, 186 South Fourth street, has closed a contract with George T. Pearson, of this city, for three new houses at Holly Beach, N. J., for private parties. In the same office plans are under way for six more houses to be erected in Camden, of fancy brick, with stone trimmings and modern interior appointments. Specifications will provide for hot air heating, gas fixtures, laundry, toilet room and other fixtures. Mr. Moses is at work on details for a large stable at Chestnut Hill for a well-known Philadelphian, which is to be stone and brick, two stories high and cost in the neighborhood of $4000. The plans for the new stone and frame residence at Clayton, N. J., which was previously mentioned in this column, have been sent out for estimates, which must be in this week.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

It is said that the property 1233 Chestnut street has been bought by D. J. Wheaton, for, it is stated, at $150,000.

The Sharpless property at Eighth and Chestnut streets has been bought by Thomas Fox. The value placed on the property was $1,000,000. Partridge & Richardson, the present tenants, have a lease extending for some years and will not be disturbed.

The Board of Education's Committee on Property have approved plans for new twelve-division schools at Fifty-second and Pine streets, and at Wissinoming. Richard Winkelman was elected as assistant architect of the board, vice Andrew Sauer, resigned.

John Devlin, operative builder, 715 Stephen Girard Building, proposes to build fifty-four two-story eight-room Pompeian brick and stone dwellings, with front porches, hardwood finish, adjoining his present operation of 150 dwellings at Fifth and Westminster avenues.

George Watson & Son, 906 Marshall street, have been awarded the contract for the erection of the Craig-Biddle dwelling at Radnor, Pa. It will be 140x65 feet, of colonial style, fine interior finish, all modern conveniences. The plans were prepared by Peabody & Stearns, of Boston, Mass. The cost will be about $55,000.

The Philadelphia and Reading Railroad Company has let the contract to F. L. Hoover & Son for the erection of a two-story brick stable at Seventeenth and Callowhill streets. The same firm has the contract for interior alterations to the Farrell Safe Works, 731 Chestnut street, and for alterations to the dwelling of Theodore B. Culver, at Jenkinson, Pa.

E. L. Seeds, operative builder, is breaking ground for eighty-nine two and three-story brick dwellings, with front porches, laundries, hardwood finish, etc., as follows: Twenty-one three-story on the east side and 26 on the west side of Fifty-sixth street, north of Girard avenue; 21 two-story on the east side and 21 on the west side of Allison street, north of Girard avenue.

CHESTNUT HILL, PHILA., PA.

W. F. Albrecht, owner, will build ten two-story brick dwellings, each 14x56.6 feet, on the south side of Toronto (formerly Rush) street, west of Twenty-first, at a cost of $14,000; also eight two-story houses, each 14x 40 feet, on the west side of Twenty-first street, south of Toronto, at a cost of $11,200, and one at the southwest corner of those streets, 14.6x40 feet, at a cost of $1700.

It is said that work will soon commence on the construction of a large brick, stone and steel frame building in the central part of the city, probably between Twelfth and Fifteenth and Locust and South streets, to be fitted up as a bachelor apartment house. The plans will provide for single rooms or suites, with bath rooms attached, fine interior finish and all modern conveniences.

Plans have been submitted to the Building Inspection Bureau for an addition to the kiln building of the Conkling-Armstrong Terra Cotta Company at Wissahickon avenue and Junliata street, Nicetown; for the five-story and basement brick factory for Leas & McVitty, at Orianna and Vine streets, and for the seven-story apartment house, the "Tacey," at Thirty-sixth and Ludlow streets.

The Independence National Bank and Girard National Bank have consolidated their interests and will hereafter be known under the title of the latter, on Third street, below Chestnut. Francis B. Reeves will be the president and Richard L. Austin vice. The Independence Bank property will likely now be absorbed by the Drexel estate, and the structure rebuilt to be in keeping with the present marble structure.

F. H. Drake & Co., Drexel Building, have charge of extensive improvements in the proposed electric railway system for the Elkins and Wilmington Railroad Company. The line will be eighteen miles long and will run from Newark to Wilmington. Bids are wanted for material, machinery, two large power houses and car barns. One power house will be erected at Elkins and the other at Stanton.

The plans of the Pennsylvania Railroad with reference to New York City are far-reaching. First, they involve the building of extensive wharves at Greenville, on the west side of New York Harbor, the establishment of a freight ferry, which will carry whole trains to Bay Ridge; the rapid hauling of traffic around Brooklyn to Bushwick, and thence over a new railroad to Hell Gate bridge to a connection with the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad.

Work has been started by Contractor Thomas Reilly on the erection of the $17,000 parish house at the northwest corner of Westmoreland and G streets for the Church of the Ascension, Rev. D. J. Broughal, rector. The building will be three stories in height and it will measure 38.4x66.10 feet. The structure will be constructed of Port Deposit granite, with a peaked slate roof, on the lot measuring 75x180 feet. Architect Howard Hager made the plans. The building will be heated by steam.

Councils' Highway Committee last week apportioned the $750,000 appropriated for repaving streets. The wards in which such paving will be completely removed, according to apportionment, are the following: Second, Third, Fifth, Sixth, Seventh, Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh, Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth, Twentieth and Twenty-first. The number of square yards still to be repaved is 1,638,192, but the money provided will enable only the repaving this year of less than 800,000 square yards.

An operation of seventy-four dwellings is being estimated on in the office of Allen Wickersham, care of George W. Marter, Ninth and Walnut streets. A local trust company is backing this project, and plans call for two and three story buildings, measuring 16x40 feet on an average, and situated on the north and south sides of Gray's Ferry avenue, between Sixty-first and Sixty-second streets. Fronts will be of fancy brick, with stone trimmings, and laundry, pantry, kitchen and toilet room fixtures will be provided.

The building at 1414 Arch street has been secured by the Grand Fraternity, of which Frederic Gaston, 501-6 Girard Building, is President. Competitive plans will be called for in a short time for remodeling and improving the building and fitting it up for uses of the Fraternity. These alterations will include a lodge and meeting rooms, a large banquet hall and fine interior finishing and furnishing. The estimated cost of these changes is about $20,000. The building is now occupied by the Neff College of Oratory.

At Wissahickon, Phila., the Osborne Apartment House Company, of Philadelphia, has bought the large property on Ridge avenue, opposite Terrace street, and will erect a large apartment house from plans drawn by Milligan & Weber. It will be seven stories high, of brick with stone trimmings, fine interior finish, all modern conveniences. The first floor will contain office, reception parlor, dining, smoking rooms. The upper floors will be arranged in suites. There will be electric lights, steam heat, elevators, separate bath rooms, call bells, etc.

Builder William H. Eddleman will start work on March 15 on the erection of a $5000 three-story brick store and dwelling, at the northeast corner of Roxborough avenue and Pechin street, in the Twenty-first ward, for Dr. J. S. Woodruff. The structure will measure 19x69.3 feet, and the lot measures 23.6x 117 feet. The first floor will contain a store, private office, reception hall, dining room, kitchen and sewing room; second floor, guests' chamber, sitting room, bath room and bed room. There will be one guest's chamber on the third floor. The house will have a peaked slate and tin roof, iron cornices, front, side and rear porches and a bay window on the second floor. The structure will be heated by hot water.

Contractor George C. Dietrich has broken ground at St. Vincent street and the Delaware River front, Tacony, for the new three-story Colonial style dormitory building for St. Vincent's Orphans' Home, to cost $40,000. The new structure will be constructed of brick with black headers laid in the Flemish bond style, with terra cotta trimmings, cornices and a slate roof. The first floor will contain two large dining rooms, kitchen and pantry. The two upper floors will be divided into four large sleeping rooms, toilet and bath rooms. The building will be finished in chestnut throughout and it will be heated by steam. Mr. Dietrich submitted Architect Louis C. Hieman's plans to the Bureau of Building Inspection on the 6th inst. for the new two-story foundry, 55x78 feet, which he will build at 1517, 1519, 1521 and 1523 Spring street for William F. Potts' Son & Co.

Preparations are being made for the construction of the new electric railroad to run between Downingtown and West Chester, Pa., for the recently organized West Chester and Downingtown Electric Railway Company. Mr. Tannis, of the Tannis Construction Company, Stephen Girard Building, this city, is president of the company, and Thomas E. O'Connell, of West Chester, will construct the roadbed and place contracts for the general equipment, with the exception of rolling stock, which will be handled by Mr. Tannis. Mr. O'Connell says that new car barns and power house will be built in connection with this work, and that the latter structure will have the full complement of power equipment, including boilers, dynamos, engines, etc. The distance to be covered will be about eight miles, and Mr. O'Connell states that the right of way has been secured from the parties owning land to be used, and that the road will be rock ballasted and nearly as even as the best of railroad services. The amount of grade will only be about two and a half per cent, and work will be started at an early date. The exact location of the power house and car barns has yet to be determined, but they will be situated wherever the best inducements are offered.

Through Pennsylvania.

If the Consensus

of opinion stands for anything the outlook for 1901 is extremely good.

While the year is young and may prove full of vagaries before its completion there is more than one certainty.

So long as the present rate of exports continues the whole country will be sure to stay "dead to rights" regardless of other influences.

Our grain and meats and iron mean our thrift, our energy and our prosperity, and it is out of these our buildings and ships and railroads grow.

This is labor and trade, and commerce for a certainty and if any fellow can suggest a more certain-certainty except it be the super-certain excellence and popularity of the Russell & Erwin Mfg. Co.'s Building Hardware, he is welcome to the floor. Buy it! Try it and you will use no other.

If the Consensus

of opinion stands for anything the outlook for 1901 is extremely good.

While the year is young and may prove full of vagaries before its completion there is more than one certainty.

So long as the present rate of exports continues the whole country will be sure to stay "dead to rights" regardless of other influences.

Our grain and meats and iron mean our thrift, our energy and our prosperity, and it is out of these our buildings and ships and railroads grow.

This is labor and trade, and commerce for a certainty and if any fellow can suggest a more certain certainty except it be the super-certain excellence and popularity of the Russell & Erwin Mfg. Co.'s Building Hardware, he is welcome to the floor. Buy it! Try it and you will use no other.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, MAR. 27, 1901.

The Anniversary of the Trades' League.

Ten years ago a few earnest business men, fully realizing the railroad and other discriminations against their city and the apathy and indifference with which their fellow citizens looked upon these abuses, organized the 'Trades' League.

Among the active spirits in the small coterie which represented the inception of this now powerful organization were Howard B. French, Thomas Martindale, W. Foulkrod and Mahlon M. Kline.

To enumerate the many hard and prolonged battles of the Trades' League in the interests of the city as well as in the enlargement of railroad and shipping facilities, would occupy more space than we can spare, but the 'Trades' League is now full of fighting blood and any wrong, however great the corporation that inflicts the wrong against the city's interest, it must wage a warfare against a combination of intellectual force, business shrewdness and courage as well as persistent indefatigable determination without an equal among all the business organizations in the United States.

The Hot Water Bag in Home Heating.

A person would have to talk a long time to convince the average mother or trained nurse that the hot water bag was a senseless and useless adjunct to a home or sick room.

If the hot water bag, with its limited scope of usefulness, is good through its retention and elimination of heat, wherein do the iron hot water bags, known as radiators, when properly and judiciously distributed and a volume of hot water circulating through them through the influence of a scientifically constructed boiler, leave room for doubt as to that being the proper method for heating buildings?

The analogy may be open for criticism, but there is absolutely no room for adverse criticism as to the practical value of the hot-water-bag idea for heating purposes whether the same be of iron or rubber.

The Pierce, Butler & Pierce Manufacturing Company, of Syracuse, N. Y., and manufacturers of steam and hot water boilers and radiators, one of the largest concerns of its kind in the country, has issued a booklet under the title of "Common Sense Heating." It so thoroughly treats its subject matter in both a scientific as well as in a practical way that it really merits a place in one's library.

Its twenty-seven pages are all interesting and they are neither prosy nor dull reading.

This booklet can be had for the asking from Mr. Wm. H. Peterson, the company's Philadelphia representative, Master Builders' Exchange, 24 South Seventh street.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

Burd P. Evans, 706 N. Ninth street, has been awarded the contract for the erection of a two-story factory addition, 63x143 feet, to the plant of F. A. North & Co., at Lester, Pa.

Charles A. Moses has begun to clear the site at 1806 to 1810 Sanson street, for the apartment house to be erected for Mr. M. Hawley McLanahan, of Fifteenth and Pine streets.

Henderson & Co., 1215 Filbert street, have taken out a permit for the erection of the six-story brick and granite factory for S. E. Ford, at 1430 Callowhill street. It will cost about $45,000.

The office building at 1404 South Penn square has been sold by Charles Sulzner & Company for Mrs. Wilhelmina Betz, to G. Wallace Simpson, representing a syndicate, for $120,000.

Samuel Shoemaker will erect forty-one two-story dwellings on Vogdes street, north of Westminster avenue, also on Wyandusing avenue, west of Fifty-fifth street. The operation will cost about $90,000.

The Smead, Wills Company 417 Locust street, will make improvements to the present building. The contemplated addition will be three stories high, of brick and iron, all latest improvements.

The large building owned by the York Ice Manufacturing Company, at Fifty-second and Jefferson streets was destroyed by fire on Sunday morning, March 24. The estimated loss is about $150,000.

The contract for the erection of the new sixth Police District and Patrol Station has been let to Harry B. Shoemaker. It will occupy a site at Eleventh and Winter streets, and will cost about $40,000.

A. F. Bornot & Bro., 1631 to 1637 Melon street, will erect a three-story brick, iron and wood structure, to cost about $15,000. The contract has been awarded to George L. Sipps, 212 S. Seventh street.

The contract for the additions to building No. 3 at the Schuylkill Arsenal, Gray's Ferry Road, has been awarded to Contractor Harry Kummerle, Betz Building. Henry Maconb, architect, Real Estate Trust Building.

Sherman Orem & Co., 13 North Juniper street, have taken out the permit for the erection of a large warehouse to be erected at Orianna and Vine streets, for Lees & McVitty. The cost will be about $55,000.

Robert A. Patton has bought thirty-three lots at Frankford avenue, Pacific and Emerald streets. The site will be utilized for a building operation consisting of a number of modern well finished dwellings.

Burd P. Evans, 706 N. Ninth street, has begun work on a store and dwelling to be erected at Fifth and Poplar streets for L. P. Reinmann. Also for a baggage and passenger station to be erected at Wildwood, N. J.

Work has begun by Peoples & Welsh on the erection of a public school building at Eighty-second street and Tinticum avenue, in the Fortieth ward. It will be two stories high, 61x99 feet, of brick. All conveniences.

Jacob Myers & Sons and S. R. Riley are estimating on the four-story warehouse to be erected for W. F. Potts, Son & Co., of 1225 Market street. The plans have been prepared by Louis C. Hickman's Sons & Co., 323 Chestnut street.

It is rumored that the old North American Building, at the northwest corner of Seventh and Chestnut streets, owned by the Fottrel Estate, is to be demolished and a new ten-story office and business building erected on the site.

Wood, Harmon & Co., 1437 Chestnut street, who recently bought the Rhoads' farms, between Primos and Secane, Pa., are having it laid out in building lots, with streets and improvements, after which the lots will be put on the market.

The Girard Estate, owners of 134-136 South Third street, have been negotiating for the premises, 138 South Third street. The probability is that another new office building will be erected on the three properties if the estate is successful in its negotiations for the property, 138 South Third street.

The dwelling, 1718 Spruce street, belonging to George S. Graham, will be remodeled by the Wade Gilpin Company, Fifteenth and Chestnut streets. The cost will be about $9000. The same company will put in the new front to The West Philadelphia Bank Building, at 3936 Market street.

Mr. Thomas P. Twibill, who has been adjudged a voluntary bankrupt, has liabilities amounting to $417,647.69 and assets amounting to $170. Mr. Twibill's business troubles were caused by the failure of several building operations in which he was engaged, and the serious shrinkage in the value of other properties in which he was interested.

Milton W. Young, Sixtieth and Woodbine streets, has been let the contract for a three-story brick dwelling to be erected for R. P. Hooper, on Carpenter street near Cresheim. It will be finely finished and will cost $6000. The same contractor will erect a three-story stone and brick dwelling for Wendell & Smith. Also two three-story brick and stone dwellings on Sherwood road, to cost about $6000 each.

John R. Wiggins, 1215 Filbert street, has secured the contract for the four-story flat and store building at the southwest corner of Common Pleas Court No. 4 has decided that insurance companies are liable for all extra cost in reconstructing a building damaged by fire when the same is incurred through building law legislation. The additional cost was a legal charge, and the Act of May 7, 1899, was legal and necessary legislation.

The Difference between the civilized and the uncivilized man has been epitomized by a celebrated writer in these few terse words:

"One makes things; the other finds them."

A man need not be a collegate to see at a glance which is which.

What a vast multitude of things have men made since the age of finding them passed away.

The progress of man in making things is so well defined that it can be followed step by step, and what a long flight of many steps it is from the birch bark canoe of the wild man to the modern five day steamer of the present day.

From the shady nook or the cavernous rock of the savage to the stately and monarchical iron skeletoned twenty-story building of the present day with its costly woods and polished marble, its beautiful and symmetrical highly polished hardware reflecting back the rays of golden sunshine into every nook and corner, giving lustre and life to all that makes up the massive structure.

It is easy to recognize the hardware we mean, for there is no other so good, so beautiful, so durable as that made by the

Architect Notes.

Architect Joseph M. Huston, Witherspoon Building, is making plans for a large police and fire house at Carpenter and Main streets, Germantown.

The Frankford Country Club intend remodeling the old Wistar Mansion, at Frankford. Architect Frank R. Watson, 1208 Chestnut street, is preparing the plans.

Additions are to be made to Bryn Mawr College, at Bryn Mawr, Pa. Messrs. Furness, Evans & Co., architects, Provident Building, are preparing plans for same.

Architects Charles W. Bolton & Company, Witherspoon Building, are preparing plans for a memorial chapel at Meadville, Pa., to be known as the Ford Memorial Church.

Messrs. Rankin & Kellogg, architects, 1012 Walnut street, are making plans for the new Ridley Park club house, at Ridley Park, Pa. The building will cost in the neighborhood of $15,000.

Architect Arnold H. Moses, 136 S. Fourth street, has awarded the contract for the erection of a stone stable on the property of Mrs. Jacobs, Wissahickon, to Messrs. Kuit & Walters, Germantown.

Mr. Walter Smedley, architect, Stephen Girard Building, has plans for estimates on a two-story brick and stone addition to the infirmary building for colored youths at Forty-fourth street and Haverford avenue.

When an architect has been selected to make plans for an addition to the Land Title Building, this journal will give the news. At present there is no one disturbed in the least over unauthorized and incorrect statements from any source.

Mr. A. H. Moses, architect, 136 South Fourth street, has completed plans for a three-story frame house to be built for Mr. Howard Mure, Clayton, N. J. The contract has been awarded to Mr. C. C. Ware a contractor, of Glassboro, N. J.

Messrs. Kennedy & Kelsey, architects, No. 1420 Chestnut street, completed plans for the alterations and additions to No. 2004 Walnut street. Messrs. George F. Payne & Company No. 401 South Juniper street, have been awarded the contract.

Mr. Arthur Brookie, architect, 328 Chestnut street, is making plans for alterations and extensive additions to Hon. Samuel W. Pennypacker's house at Pennypacker Mills, at Schwenksville, Pa. The contract as yet has not been given out.

Messrs. Keen & Mead, architects, 1420 Chestnut street, made plans for the alterations and additions to the residence of Mr. Samuel S. Megargee, Bryn Mawr, Pa. Messrs. Sherman, Orem & Company, No. 13 North Juniper street, are asking sub-bids for same.

Architects Charles W. Bolton & Company, Witherspoon Building, have completed drawings for an automobile house for Mr. Robert Hogue, Germantown, Pa., to cost about $10,000. Drawings were sent to Samuel B. McDowell, Burd P. Evans and Messrs. W. W. Rea's Sons.

Architect Charles Balderston, 411 Chestnut street, is making plans for a modern eight-story office building, 20x100 feet, to be erected at 1388 Cherry street, for Mr. George Lasher. It will be similar in construction to the Fahnstock Building, 1336 Cherry street, which it will adjoin.

Messrs. Wade, Gilpin & Company, architects, Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, received plans last Saturday from Peabody & Stearns, of Boston, Mass., for a two-story stone stable building, with all modern improvements, to cost about $30,000, to be erected for Mr. Craig Biddle, at Rosemont, Pa.

between the civilized and the uncivilized man has been epitomized by a celebrated writer in these few terse words:

"One makes things; the other finds them."

A man need not be a collegiate to see at a glance which is which.

From the shady nook or the cavernous rock of the savage to the stately and monarchical iron skeletoned twenty-story building of the present day with its costly woods and polished marble, its beautiful and symmetrical highly polished hardware reflecting back the rays of golden sunshine into every nook and corner, giving lustre and life to all that makes up the massive structure.

It is easy to recognize the hardware we mean, for there is no other so good, so beautiful, so durable as that made by the

Some Portland Cements may show a high tensile strength at a short period, and yet be so defective that the work done with them will disintegrate with age. This is due to imperfect composition. The Dyckerhoff brand is invariably of correct chemical composition, and the work done with it is invariably strong and absolutely durable.

$5.00 PER YEAR.

Architect Notes.

Brouse & Arend, architects, 931 Chestnut street, made plans for a summer residence for Mr. G. B. Harvey, at Deal Beach, N. J.

F. H. Kimball, 71 Broadway, New York, is the architect in charge of the improvements for Gimbel Brothers at Eighth and Market streets.

Architects McIlvane & Roberts, Land Title Building, have completed plans for eight three-story stone and brick buildings, with all the latest conveniences, to be erected at Bala, Pa.

Architect Judge DeNean, Ardmore, Pa., has awarded to George W. Sheaff, of Chester, Pa., the contract for the erection of the new high school at Ardmore. The cost will be a little over $60,000.

Mr. David Knickerbocker Boyd, architect, Harrison Building, has completed plans, and sent out for bids for the erection of a brick and frame dwelling house and stable for Mr. Arthur P. Baugh, at Wynnwood, Pa.

Architect Edgar V. Seeler, Real Estate Trust Building, has made plans and asked for bids for improvements to Mrs. Fanny W. Scott's residence at 1806 South Rittenhouse square. The work must be done between June 1 and August 1.

Mr. Dechert, President of the Commonwealth Title & Trust Company, assures us that the statement to the effect that an architect has been selected for the company's new office building at northwest corner Twelfth and Chestnut streets, is untrue. The building committee had not decided on Monday last.

Architect Carl P. Berger, 14 South Broad street, has completed plans for the erection of a new market house and hall, to be built on south side of Federal street, extending to Manton street, east of Seventeenth street. Previously reported in this paper. Messrs. Doyle & Doak, 1609 Sansom street are bidding on same.

The Leamey Home Buildings, to be erected on Roumford avenue. Mt. Airy, Philadelphia, from plans by Architects Cope & Stewardson, 820 Walnut street, will be of brick and stone, with slate roofs. The main building will be 180 feet by 35 feet, with wings, one 24 feet by 132 feet, and the other 24 feet by 178 feet. An assembly room building, 35 feet by 150 feet, will be erected at the rear of the main building. The buildings will be two and a half stories. W. J. Dougherty, 1509 Sansom street, and Stacey Reeves & Sons, 1611 Filbert street are taking estimates from sub-contractors, as bids will be closed on the 16th instant. These buildings will have modern conveniences.

The Central Realty Corporation, a private corporation of this city, of which Mr. J. A. Patterson, Fifteenth and Chestnut streets, is the manager, and Mr. H. C. Rumpf, the leather goods manufacturer, is the president purchased last January the Wheeler mansion, 1217 Walnut street. An architect is now engaged on preliminary plans for the alteration of the property into a family hotel and restaurant. The front building will be retained except as to a new front and perhaps some minor alterations to the interior. The lot is 27x235 feet to Sansom street, and the idea is to erect an extension to correspond with the front building after it has had an additional story added, making it five stories. Elevators will be needed. The ground floor will probably be arranged as a fashionable restaurant, and the Sansom street entrance will be equal in every respect to that on Walnut street. Besides Messrs. Patterson and Rumpf, Mr. Crenshaw and Mr. Max Levy and others are also interested. The improvements will reach from $50,000 to $75,000. Architect's name refused at present.

Building and Real Estate Notes.

William Easby has been appointed engineer on the Sewer Committee at Woodbury, N. J.

The corner stone of the Holy Angels', Oak Lane, Philadelphia, Catholic School and Chapel will be laid on April 28th next. Rev. D. A. Morrissy has charge.

It is stated that the Vandegrift Construction Company has obtained the right of way for a trolley line from Gloucester City to Swedesboro, by way of Paulsboro and Clarksboro.

Ground has been broken for an addition on the west side of the Wagner Institute to accommodate the needs of the Montgomery avenue branch of the Free Public Library.

Bids will be received until April 12th by A. F. Hammond, secretary of the Committee on Property, Board of Education, for heating, plumbing, electric wiring, etc., in a number of schools.

Messrs. Peoples & Welsh, contractors, 7000 Woodland avenue, have been awarded the contract for the erection of a large public building for the city at Eighty-second street and Tulicum road.

Messrs. Lewis Haven's Sons, contractors, Girard Building, are receiving preliminary estimates of an addition to the Drexel Institute, from plans by Messrs. Wilson Brothers, architects, Drexel Building.

Messrs. Appleton & Burrell of 1204 Chancellor street have been awarded contract for the warehouse for Berger Brothers, costing about $20,000. Messrs. Heacock & Hokanson are the architects. Before reported.

Builder C. F. Sharp, 1706 Delancey Place, is bidding on four two-story dwellings, to be built on Pentridge street, above Fifty-first street, for Thomas Williams, Esq. Mr. H. E. Flower, 1215 Filbert street, is the architect.

At a meeting of the Reading Bridge and Warehouse Company, at 1016 Betz Building, the contract for the bridge to cross the Schuylkill at Sixth street, Reading, Pa., was awarded to Nelson & Buchanan, of Chambersburg, Pa.

Messrs. William Steele & Sons, Wither- spoon Building, filed plans, prepared by themselves, with the Bureau of Building Inspection for additions to the plant of H. W. Butterworth's Sons Machine Co., at York and Cedar streets.

Provost Harrison, of the University of Pennsylvania, has announced that Randal Morgan is the donor of the $100,000 with which to erect the new Laboratory of Physics. The structure will be called the Morgan Laboratory of Physics.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, APRIL 10, 1901

CONSIDERABLE speculation is under way as to Petty's Island, on the Jersey shore in the Upper Delaware river. Rumor has it that it is to be purchased by an English syndicate for shipbuilding purposes, for which it is said it is well adapted. The tract embraces about 800 acres. It is highly probable that the Cramps' Shipbuilding Company will prove to be the purchasers, notwithstanding the speculation.

The Italian Marble Mosaic Co.

Fully in keeping with its reputation for good work, the Italian Marble Mosaic Company, 431 Spruce street, this city, has issued a blotter on the reverse side of which is a picture in artistic black and white shading of the new United States Mint, in which this company did a large share of the mosaic work, including marble and terrazzo mosaic floors, ceilings of gold glass mosaic with marble mosaic borders in the lobby, first floor. This is the first time that work of this kind has ever been done in this city and the contract in its entirety was the largest ever executed in Philadelphia.

This work establishes beyond all question the resources and ability of the Italian Marble Mosaic Co., of this city, to do the most intricate and elaborate work of this character.

The Master Builders' Exchange.

Philadelphians are entirely too indifferent to the many objects of interest which are maintained from year to year by the business men of the city, solely on the broad principle of contributing to the welfare of the public.

The stranger is singularly impressed with the importance of these institutions and their impressions are not only lasting but reflect in a hundred ways as pleasing episodes in a fruitful visit to our city.

The Master Builders' Exchange on North Seventh, above Chestnut, while but a modern affair as compared with our many other attractions, is not the least important, as it epitomizes in a single breath what can be accomplished by a few earnest and enterprising business men, who, while possessing great faith in themselves, have even a greater faith in their city and its people.

Under the roof of the Master Builders' Exchange, through the persistent efforts of Superintendent Wm H. Matthews, there has been gathered what is perhaps the most important collection of things which enter into the construction of buildings to be found in the United States, making as a whole an exhibition embracing all that is useful as well as beautiful and as entertaining as it is instructive.

It is a remarkable fact that the greatest satisfaction is always expressed by owners, who have visited the Exchange before building, at the vast amount of information they glean from such visits, or as one gentleman very tersely put it to the writer: "My visits to the Master Builders' Exchange placed me in contact with men and things that I did not know before were on God's earth, and my house at Merchantville shows it at every angle."

The officers are: Wm Conway, President; Wm. S. P. Shields, Vice President; William Harkness, Secretary.

Judge Pennypacker, Common Pleas No. 2, has decided that the new Loder building, 1541 Chestnut street, as well as the building 1533 Chestnut street, infringes upon the city street lines and that the fronts must be set back. An opportunity for exceptions by counsel is presented before a final decree can be entered.

Mr. Kavanagh, chairman of the Property Committee, Board of Education, has advised that the property at 713 Filbert street be sold, as Lit Brothers had expressed a desire to purchase it. It was decided that lots in the following location be advertised for: Thirty-third ward, between Sixth and Tenth and Venango and Clearfield streets; Thirty-fourth ward, west of Fifty-seventh and north of Market streets; Thirty-eighth ward, south of Hunting Park avenue, east of Sixteenth street and north of Erie avenue; Thirty-ninth ward, east of Second, north of Porter and South of Mifflin street. The Difference between the civilized and the uncivilized man has been epitomized by a celebrated writer in these few terse words:

"One makes things; the other finds them."

A man need not be a collegiate to see at a glance which is which.

What a vast multitude of things have men made since the age of finding them passed away.

The progress of man in making things is so well defined that it can be followed step by step, and what a long flight of many steps it is from the birch bark canoe of the wild man to the modern five-day steamer of the present day.

From the shady nook or the cavernous rock of the savage to the stately and monarchical iron skeletoned twenty-story building of the present day with its costly woods and polished marble, its beautiful and symmetrical highly polished hardware reflecting back the rays of golden sunshine into every nook and corner, giving lustre and life to all that makes up the massive structure.

It is easy to recognize the hardware we mean, for there is no other so good, so beautiful, so durable as that made by the

Architect Notes.

Architect H. J. Wetherill, Witherspoon Building, is making plans for a two-story frame cottage at Brigantine Beach, N. J., to cost about $3000.

Architect Edwin F. Durang, 1200 Chestnut street, informs us that work on plans for the R. C. St. Thomas Aquinas Church, at Eighteenth and Morris streets, has not been commenced.

Architects J. Franklin Stuckert & Son, 1421 Chestnut street, say that the factory improvements at Eighteenth and Ludlow streets have been abandoned for the present for specific reasons.

At Lebanon, Pa., A. Richter has prepared plans and is ready for estimates for remodeling the bank building of the Farmers' National Bank, of which Mr. G. G. Gerhart is the president.

M. B. Ritter, Williamsport, Pa., is receiving estimates on a stone dormitory for the Susquehanna University, at Selingsgrove, Pa. It will be three stories high, brick and stone, modern conveniences.

Architect J. C. M. Shirk has completed plans for extensive additions and alterations to Dr. Charles C. Turbitt's residence at 1385 Chestnut street, as previously reported, and is now inviting bids.

Architect Lindley Johnson, Harrison Building, has drawn plans for alterations and additions to the residence of J. B. Townsend, Jr., at Overbrook. Jacob Myers & Sons, Juniper and Sansom streets, are estimating.

Architect Henry D. Dagitt, 435 Chestnut street, wants bids for the erection of the Parochial School at Twenty-third street and Montgomery avenue. Steam heating, ventilating, electric wiring, etc., will be needed.

Supervising Architect James Knox Taylor has accepted the plans of Hornblower & Marshall, Washington, D. C., for the new U. S. Custom House Building for Baltimore, Md. The building will be of stone and marble and five stories.

JOHN N. GALLAGHER,
Proprietor, Publisher and Editor.

PHILADELPHIA, WED'Y, APRIL 24, 1901

ABOUT the same time that City Councils passed an ordinance permitting the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to construct a bridge across Market street, John Wanamaker, in the interest of his proposed new store building at Thirteenth and Market streets, had submitted an ordinance to give him the right to construct a tunnel under Thirteenth street, in order that connection might be made with an electric light and power plant he intended to erect in the rear of 1226 Market street.

The Wanamaker ordinance has been pigeon-holed and is dead to the world for the present anyhow. Of course this was done for political reasons for it is fair to assume that our City Fathers who would permit the unsightly bridging of the city's streets, would not stop to quibble over such a small thing as the tunneling of a single street in the interest of a magnificent business enterprise.

The consequences arising from this and other petty annoyances are that Mr. Wanamaker has become so thoroughly disgusted that it is doubtful if he will again ever attempt a building improvement of any kind in Philadelphia even including the proposed Grand Depot, for which plans have been made and the foundations partially prepared.

Now right here we feel that we have a right to enter an earnest protest against any interference on the part of City Councils with a business enterprise of this character, for the expenditure of over four millions of dollars in a single building operation in this city represents an influence more potent and far reaching in its beneficent opportunities for the employment of labor than all the good the small fry politicians in or out of Councils could accomplish in a century.

If it is impossible for these highly-honored and greatly revered gentlemen to understand that they are obstructing the city's growth and progress, and that petty political spite is neither dignified nor sensible, then it is incumbent upon Mayor Ashbridge to apply his official lash in such a way as to end this disgusting nonsense.

We care nothing for Mr. Wanamaker's political issues, but we hold that in face of City Councils' unprecedented liberality in granting street bridging privileges to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, and the yet to come greater generosity in the way of "proper consideration" to an ordinance to be presented, making the city responsible to the tune of $275,000 for property damages on account of this self-same bridge at Fifteenth and Market streets, it's about time that somebody spoke out in meeting against a political embargo upon a private building enterprise and we do it.

Mr. Wanamaker has said publicly that he will never again have laid in his interest one brick on top of another in Philadelphia, and this means, if it means anything, that the much talked of new grand depot store, at Thirteenth, Market, Chestnut and Juniper streets, will not be built.

The thinking class of our readers will readily comprehend the influence this will have in preventing the use of great quantities of structural iron, brick, lumber, cement and other construction material, all of which is the product of labor and which does not include the enormous amount of labor which would be required in the work of construction.

Architect Notes.

A. W. Leh, South Bethlehem, Pa., has prepared plans for a Sunday school building for the Moravian congregation of Bethlehem. It will be of stone, well finished throughout, steam heat, electric wiring and fixtures, furniture, etc. Albert Rau can give additional information. Also plans by same architect for a preparatory school for Mr. H. A. Forcing of Bethlehem. It will cost $12,000 and will have steam heat, gas and electric fixtures, etc.

Architects Seymour Davis and Paul Davis, 3d, 907 Walnut street, have had their competitive plans accepted for two important buildings. One of these is for the new Manayunk National Bank, Manayunk, Philadelphia. The cost will be about $150,000. The other is for the Colonial Trust Company, at Reading, Pa. It will be 75 by 120 feet and located at Fifth and Penn streets and cost about $180,000. Estimates will be wanted about June 1.

Architect Henry D. Dagit, 485 Chestnut street, will start making revised plans in a few weeks for the new front and interior alterations to St. Malachy's Roman Catholic Church at Eleventh and Master streets, as the estimates recently submitted were higher than was expected. There is no truth in the report that Architect Dagit is working on plans for a new parochial residence to be erected at Twenty-third and Berks streets, as he positively denies it.

Architect Guy King, 431 Walnut street, wants bids at once for hotel at Briar Cliff Manor, Westchester county, N. Y. The structure will be of stone and frame, 60 by 275 feet four stories, and will contain 175 rooms and 65 bath rooms. Steam heat, electric lights and elevators, tile and mosaic work, leaded glass, kitchen outfit, fire-proof floors, mantels, grilles, marble and stone work. Everything will be needed to make a first-class modern hotel building.

Architect Arthur H. Brockie, 328 Chestnut street, has awarded Mr. Henry P. Wolf, of Bryn Mawr, Pa., the general contract for the erection of a coachman's house for George R. Packard, Esq., of Villanova, as previously reported. The building will be two stories high, brick and stone, with all the latest appointments, and will cost about $2,500. Work on same will commence at once. Mr. Brockie has also awarded Messrs. Machin & Brown, 147 N. Seventh street, the contract for the erection of Mr. Newbold's stable at Jenkintown, as noted in last week's issue of this paper. Guy Lowell, of Boston, made the plans.

Architect Carl P. Berger, 14 South Broad street, is engaged on plans for the alterations and additions to the old Wheeler mansion, 1217 Walnut street, for the Central Realty Company, of which Mr. J. A. Patterson, northeast corner Fifteenth and Chestnut, is the manager. Mr. Patterson's present ideas are to utilize the premises when completed for a first-class family hotel, the ground floor to be used as a fashionable restaurant, as previously reported, but architect's name omitted by request. Same architect has sent out plans for estimates for a sixth floor brick addition, 27 by 59 feet, to the store building of G. A. Schwarz, 1006 Chestnut street. Sub-bids for brick work, plastering, new stairs, slag roof, painting, etc., are wanted.

Architect Henry D. Dagit, 485 Chestnut street, has completed plans for a handsome church edifice to go up at Point Pleasant, N. J., for St. Peter's parish. Rev. Daniel Lutz is the rector. The structure will be one story high, built in Gothic style of architecture, having large tower, open timber roof trusses, steam heat, electric light, new church furniture and altars, etc. The following contractors are bidding on work: J. S. Rogers Company, Stanwick, N. J.; Alexander Bryne, Jersey City, N. J., and F. L. Hoover, Son, Philadelphia. Same architect is preparing plans for a school building to be erected at Twenty-third and Montgomery avenue, for the St. Elizabeth Roman Catholic Church. Estimates will be wanted during the latter part of May.

Architects Frank Miles Day & Bro., 925 Chestnut street, are engaged on plans embracing many changes and improvements to the Industrial Art School at Broad and Pine streets. The plans provide for the erection at once of a wing for a chemical laboratory. This will cost about $55,000. The general improvements contemplated provide for the rearrangement of the entire place, and when done will cost about $250,000. The laboratory will be of brick and stone; interior will be of hardwood; steam heating, etc., will be needed. Same architects have completed plans for a handsome colonial residence for Mr. H. B. Thompson, at Wilmington, Del. It will be of brick three stories and the drawings, which are strictly colonial, were recently exhibited at the architectural exhibition at Washington, D. C.

Architect P. P. Elkinton, 211 S. Sixth street, is engaged upon competitive plans for a new City Hall to be erected at Newark. N. J. Mr. Elkinton has completed plans for a theatre and armory hall to be erected at Burlington, N. J. Bids will be invited from May 6 until
